

TABOR GROUP LANDSCAPE

“Outdoor design that starts with the client”

In the Twin Cities, the season for landscaping is short.

That’s why Jeff Gaffney, lead landscape designer for Tabor Group Landscape, places such a high value on communication with clients.

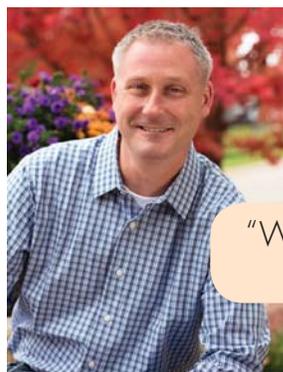

“We’re very upfront in our communications,” he said. “We strive to eliminate any surprises for our customers, especially in inclement weather. We pride ourselves in making our customers happy and that they enjoy the process.”

That commitment to finding solutions for customers is just one of the ways Tabor Group exceeds expectations.

Over the past 13 years, the business has built a name for itself based on a reputation for having unparalleled communication with clients, outstanding talent for design, and singular attention to detail like plant color, texture and seasonal interest.

“We take even the smallest nuances into account,” Gaffney said.

In short, the Tabor Group difference stems from its values: “There are a lot of landscapers out there,” Gaffney said. “What sets us apart is our sincerity, our trust, our integrity, our backing of our installs, and our backing of our products. We make sure everything is handled professionally and with honesty.”

Providing a full scope of landscape design work that encompasses everything on the exterior of the home – from decks, driveways and patios to pergolas, outdoor kitchens and waterfalls – Tabor Group works collaboratively with clients on every stage of a project.

Beginning with a phone conversation and onsite visit,

“We pride ourselves in making our customers happy.”

Gaffney and his team answer customers’ questions and listen to their dreams and desires for their outdoor space. After the design and plan are presented and agreed upon, customers receive timely updates on how the project is progressing.

Catering to the client is important to Tabor Group because a project begins and ends with the client, Gaffney said.

“There is nothing more fulfilling to me than being with clients and knowing we listened and provided a design that is beyond what they expected or imagined,” he said. “Where their expressions or feelings were poured out onto paper. And then having that paper, that vision translated into real life, into something that will be enjoyed.”
