“The 2023 Season will be thrilling, thoughtful, adventurous, and surprising. We are so honored and excited to be joined by such talented theater-makers in bringing these smart and funny plays to life, including another Dorset World Premiere production.”

-Interim Executive Producing Director Will Rucker

Now in its 46th year, Dorset Theatre Festival produces a professional Main Stage season at the historic Dorset Playhouse in Dorset, VT, highlighting both new plays and classic works. Enlightening, entertaining, and inspiring audiences since 1977, the Festival’s annual celebration of great plays runs June through September and features top theatre-makers from around the country.

Increasingly known for high-quality world and regional premiere productions, in 2017 the Boston Globe dubbed the Festival, “Just north of the Berkshires, a new destination for playwrights.” In addition to Main Stage productions of new plays, the Festival’s new play development programs showcase works-in-progress and provide the Southern Vermont region an opportunity to play a key role in the evolution of new plays in consideration for future productions at the Festival and beyond.
"This is high quality theatre, just what we have come to expect from this fine company."

- BERKSHIRE ON STAGE
The season will open with Misery, William Goldman’s edge-of-your-seat adaptation of Stephen King’s terrifying novel that inspired the 1990 Oscar-winning film starring Kathy Bates and James Caan.

After being rescued from a wintry car crash, acclaimed romance novelist Paul Sheldon finds himself incapacitated in the secluded home of Annie Wilkes, his “Number One Fan.” Events take a nightmarish turn, and the injured Paul realizes the unhinged Annie has no intention of letting him leave. This spine-tingling stage adaptation traps audiences in the room with Paul, who must outsmart Annie if he wants to escape the tense game of cat-and-mouse that captivates until the very end.

Jackson Gay returns to Dorset to direct after helming the Festival’s 2022 season opener, Wait Until Dark, and the acclaimed 2019 production of Slow Food that reunited actors Dan Butler and Peri Gilpin, both alums of the hit TV comedy, Frasier.

“Misery is an old-fashioned thriller, where terror and humor intertwine to keep you on the edge of your seat, or hiding under it.”

-Jackson Gay, the director of Misery

The season will continue with the World Premiere of Still by Lia Romeo, directed by four-time Festival director, Adrienne Campbell-Holt.

Campbell-Holt’s previous Dorset World Premiere, Downstairs by Theresa Rebeck starring Tim and Tyne Daly, went on to an Off-Broadway production at the Cherry Lane Theatre in NYC produced by Primary Stages in 2017.

Thirty years ago, Helen and Mark broke up, but they never completely forgot about each other. When they meet for dinner to catch up, the flame is rekindled... but Mark is running for Congress, and Helen has a secret that could derail his bid. Lost love is revisited and an avocado goes flying in Lia Romeo’s whirwind world premiere comedy about getting older, political divisions, and roads not taken. A story for anyone who’s ever wondered: “what if?”

“I am so happy to be returning to Dorset Theatre Festival, after spending so many wonderful summers there. I have no doubt audiences will be as moved by Lia’s play as I was, and I can’t wait to collaborate with the incredible actors who will bring the play to life.”

- Adrienne Campbell-Holt, the director of Still
Next on the 2023 Main Stage will be Ms. Holmes and Ms. Watson - Apt. 2B, a new play written by one of America’s hottest playwrights, Kate Hamill.

Fast-paced and wildly entertaining, Ms. Holmes and Ms. Watson - Apt. 2B is a brilliantly theatrical take on the famous sleuth and sidekick that re-examines Sir Arthur Conan Doyle’s classic adventure stories through a bold new female lens. In this highly theatrical, small-cast escapade, oddball female roommates Sherlock Holmes & Dr. Joan Watson join forces to emerge from the pandemic fog as a deeply codependent, quasi-dysfunctional, Odd Couple adventure duo - careening from caper to caper in a rollicking murder mystery that packs in non-stop laughs and hijinks galore!

The season will conclude with Larissa FastHorse’s hilarious The Thanksgiving Play, directed by Raz Golden. Slated for an upcoming limited engagement on Broadway, the play is one of the country’s most-produced comedies.

An undeterred elementary school teacher desperately attempts to devise a pageant about the first Thanksgiving - one that challenges stereotypes, meets all the requirements of a Native American Heritage Month grant, and pacifies the parents. Wanting to avoid any un-PC missteps, three “woke” white thespians quickly find themselves sabotaged by myth, confounded by history, and drawn into a hysterical roast of the politics of entertainment and well-meaning political correctness alike.

Raz Golden returns to direct after his acclaimed World Premiere production of Queen of the Night by Travis Tate during Dorset’s 2021 outdoor season at the Southern Vermont Arts Center.

"As an artist obsessed with how Americans tell the stories of our past, The Thanksgiving Play has been a dream of mine to work on. The play dissects the foundational American myth of the ‘First Thanksgiving’ and reconstructs it in both familiar and jarring ways. Not to mention, it’s very, very funny,“

- Raz Golden, director of The Thanksgiving Play.

- NIPPERTOWN
As we head into 2023 we still feel the pandemic’s effects. Since 2019 ticket sales have been down industry-wide while total expenses are up, and continue to rise. Like many businesses, we are facing housing shortages and increases in the cost of living. Deliveries and lumber have been more expensive and shortages affected physical production. Theater unions require strict safety protocols and rules have great consequences for our budget and capacity. Our reality that a single case of Covid among our union artists could threaten an entire production and a quarter of the annual projected earned income continues to be a great risk.

Over $240,000 in increased housing, staffing, production, and Covid expenses

Below are just some examples of essential investments required for the Festival to maintain its 46-year history of producing professional theatre in Southern Vermont.
