Another key element of our Prosperity Plan will be the facilitated effort to conduct a Regional Dialogue and Develop Projects of Regional Economic Significance. 3. Are the proposed counties to be served in accordance with the regional prosperity map? If not, why not? How do you intend to begin to work in the region outlined in the aforementioned map going forward?

YES – We have already begun the process of serving the entire region. The West Michigan Prosperity Alliance already involves representatives from not only the targeted areas, but also is geographically balanced. We have been communicating with over 150 leaders from throughout the region and will include this regional group in our collective efforts to develop our Projects of Regional Significance. This is already a regional based initiative.
1. LEAD APPLICANT ORGANIZATIONAL BACKGROUND:

   Include organizational mission statement and purpose, organizational qualifications, history of accomplishments, governance, area and population served, and role of volunteers. (As this is collaboration, describe the lead agency and its relation to others involved.)

The Grand Valley Metropolitan Council (GVMC) is a regional organization dedicated to promoting cooperation and coordination among local governments in the West Michigan area. Created in 1990, its membership now includes 35 local governments, representing nearly 650,000 people in Kent, Ottawa, Barry, Allegan, Ionia, and Montcalm Counties. Its mission is to advance the current and future well-being of our metropolitan area by bringing together public and private sectors to cooperatively advocate, plan for, and coordinate the provisions of services and investments which have environmental, economic and social impact.

GVMC member communities successfully collaborate in the Transportation Metropolitan Planning Organization with operating expenses of $1,861,002; REGIS (Regional Geographic Information System) serving 19 governmental units with an operations budget of $920,323; and LGROW (Lower Grand River Organization of Watersheds) with a budget of $203,500. Additionally, GVMC is known regionally for its collaborative legislative work as well as facilitating coordination and cooperation between local governmental units.

GVMC is governed by a 46 member Board of Directors. Board members are appointed by GVMC member communities and include elected & appointed officials, private citizens, and representatives from higher education. Additionally, At-Large members represent private industry, the healthcare industry, and the Grand Rapids Area Chamber of Commerce.

2. IDENTIFICATION OF REGIONAL ASSETS:

   Identify the defining assets of your region (geography, economy, education, talent, transportation, etc.) and explain why your organization, with your co-applicants, is uniquely qualified to bring all of the appropriate partners together to leverage the region’s assets to create, strengthen and support regional economic prosperity.

The 13 County Area served by the West Michigan Prosperity Alliance has a population of 1,518,039 (2010 U.S. Census) that is disbursed across urban and rural counties that range in size from Kent County with a population of 602,622 to Lake County with a population of 11,539.
The area covers a total of 8,163 square miles, which is about the same size as the State of New Jersey. The area is located in the west-central lower peninsula and stretches along 120 miles of Lake Michigan’s shoreline and extends east 75 miles to the heart of Michigan’s lower peninsula.

Manufacturing remains a key part of the area’s economy, with manufacturing centered in Kent, Ottawa, and Muskegon counties. Automobile parts, furniture, food processing, and pharmaceuticals are some of the manufacturing sectors that provide jobs to thousands of the area’s residents and that ship to areas around the globe. Healthcare is also a large part of the area’s economy with a large healthcare area centered in Grand Rapids that includes several hospitals, a medical school, and major research facilities. Regional healthcare facilities are also located across the 13 county area.

Agriculture is key to the area’s economy and identity with several counties ranking high in the amount of agricultural products produced. Products include fruits, especially apples and blueberries, grown with the benefit of Lake Michigan’s moderating influence on the climate. Vegetables, such as asparagus and potatoes, are also major crops as are field crops of corn and soy beans. Other major agricultural products include dairy, eggs, turkeys, and other livestock-related products. The area’s water resources play an important role in the ability to grow such a wide variety of food, and provides for the ability to process the food as well.

Tourism is another important piece of the area’s economy, with a wide range of attractions such as Lake Michigan, thousands of inland lakes, rivers, and streams, State and local parks as well as National Forests and State Game areas, museums, zoos, convention centers, shopping opportunities, restaurants, breweries, vibrant communities, and countless other attractions that attract visitors from far and wide.

The area has a wide range of education opportunities that include public school districts and a range of private and charter schools. Michigan’s Intermediate School Districts also provide many opportunities for the area’s residents. Higher education includes many Michigan Universities including Grand Valley State University and Ferris State University – as well as many others with a presence in the area such as Michigan State University and Western Michigan University. There are also four community colleges and many private colleges that serve a range of higher education needs.

The area has a great transportation network that links the area to the rest of North America and the world. Some of the key interstates include I-96, I-196, US-31, and US-131. There are also many active rail lines that serve the area’s industry and passenger needs and there is an international airport (Gerald R. Ford International Airport) as well as many regional airports such as Muskegon County Airport and West Michigan Regional Airport. Lake Michigan, and the many ports in the area, provides another transportation resource that is not available to many other areas.

The partners identified in this grant application are uniquely qualified to promote these assets since they have worked for decades promoting and strengthening these assets. The two Regional Planning Commissions have worked with communities to improve infrastructure and promote sound planning, the Metropolitan Planning Organizations have coordinated transportation... improvements, the Work Force agencies have matched the talented workforce with the area’s employers, the economic development agencies have encouraged job growth, and the variety of education facilities have readied the area’s population for productive and meaningful lives.

3. NEEDS STATEMENT:

Explain the need for a collaborative economic strategy in your region. Identify the needs you will address. Acknowledge similar existing projects or agencies, if any, and explain how your proposal differs, and what effort will be made to work cooperatively.

The West Michigan Region has a long history of cooperation and collaboration. Currently, several hundred formal and countless informal intergovernmental agreements exist in the region. Local government intergovernmental cooperation is prevalent in the area and many public-private partnerships also exist. GVMC, WMSRDC, West Michigan Regional Planning Commission, MACC and The Right Place are all public/private partnerships that have real and significant impact on the citizens we serve.

The Regional Prosperity Initiative (RPI) brings even a larger group together by coordinating and promoting collaboration and cooperation among planning, transportation, workforce, higher education, adult education and economic development. Yes, at times representatives of these sectors communicate and participate in collaboration, but usually on a project basis or to serve the needs of a targeted economic opportunity.

The RPI will create the architecture and infrastructure for these groups to meet, collaborate, communicate, share resources and best also best practices. In the future, close communication and collaboration will no longer be unique, but it will become routine and expected on a 13 county regional basis. We already have over 100 agencies, companies and non-profit groups that have asked to participate. This consortium will transfer information, enhance collaboration and act regionally toward the economic priorities if the entire region.

The Regional Prosperity Initiative will also bring a large group of leaders (potentially over 200) from many sectors together for a series of facilitated focus groups and regional discussions to develop and prioritize our projects of regional economic significance. Together, these leaders will development, prioritize and then promote as a region a series of projects and goals that we agree will have the greatest regional economic impact. Projects like a deep water port in Muskegon, rural broadband access, regional infrastructure enhancements are already being discussed. The development of consensus on a regional basis of these significant economic initiatives will allow us to focus our resources, time and efforts on these regional goals.

By thinking globally, planning regionally and acting locally we will create a brighter future for the West Michigan Prosperity Alliance and the 1.5 million residents we serve.

This broad regional collaboration spanning economic development, workforce development, education and transportation comes at a time when income inequalities across the region are growing between rural communities and West Michigan's population centers, and urban neighborhoods and the suburbs. West Michigan's regional prosperity initiative offers an promising strategy to bridge these gaps to ensure everyone in the region has the talent employers needs, the transportation supports the needs of business and residents and the prospers economically in a globally competitive economy.

4. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

Please address anything else about your organization or project you think is relevant to the proposal.

There is a history of regional collaboration among the public, private and non-profit sectors in Area 4. One example of such collaboration is the West Michigan Strategic Alliance (WMSA). This private and public sector initiative brought together from an eight county area some of the same groups as the Regional Prosperity Initiative. Collaboratively the area identified priority areas (“essential activity areas”) and pursued ways to have them function better at a regional scale. The lessons learned and accomplishments achieved under the WMSA effort serve as a foundation for the work proposed in this application. However, we view the opportunity presented by the RPI and the prosperity plan proposed in this grant application as taking regional collaboration to even higher levels. This higher level of cooperation and collaboration among the sectors (fostered by the work activities of this application) will have a significant impact on the development of a regional mindset and unified vision around a plan that will advance the prosperity of the region.
