

Law reform at Judy Courtin Legal

Legal

Here at Judy Courtin Legal we pride ourselves on not only in representing our clients, but also in actively advocating for changes in the law.

This occurs when we see a need for processes to be changed so that we can support a survivor's journey in a holistic manner.

Fighting for change requires passion and fearlessness, and we are strongly committed to this part of our role.

Our client's experiences inspire and motivate us, and we work closely with them to understand their experience and craft a strategy for law reform.

Law reform at JCL includes the following:

- being involved in strategic litigation, such as running test cases to clarify points of law or challenging the way laws are applied and interpreted;
- law and policy reform, which have included submissions to government bodies, courts and other institutions;
- engaging with the media to shine a light on matters that are important to survivors; and
- collaborating with other organisations on advocacy campaigns and law reform initiatives.

Please review to our Media section here for examples on how we are working to support survivors.

Please contact us if you wish to discuss any aspect of law reform in the area of institutional abuse.
