

Dear Executive Board Member,

We don't often come together to write letters, but lately we've found ourselves wrestling with a difficult question: what is the future we want for the California Democratic Party?

To answer this, we must remember that this party is built on the conviction that Californians from every walk of life can come together behind a movement to drive the nation forward.

Our party dreams big and as a result, we are charting a course for the rest of the nation. For years, we've recognized Kevin de León as the leader of a movement here in California; a movement designed with our platform as a roadmap to remind us where we need to take the country, and why.

Throughout the years, we've seen Kevin de León champion issue after issue for California's hardworking families. He advanced a critical conversation on single-payer healthcare legislation in the face of establishment opposition. He raised our minimum wage to $15 per hour. When the rest of the nation dismissed our ideals as pipe dreams, Kevin put it all on the line to protect our immigrant communities and build a clean energy economy that works for everyone. And when we send him to Capitol Hill, Senator de León will not vote for any foreign wars. He knows that the battles back home are too pressing, and our taxpayer dollars too precious, to waste money and lives on warmongering.

We are all Democrats, but we are also all different. We are dreamers and pragmatists, liberals and progressives and all shades in between. To restore the strength of our party and our nation, we must unite behind those who have successfully transformed those values into reality.

We will be voting to endorse in the U.S. Senate race at the upcoming Executive Board meeting in Oakland this July, we ask you to join us in voting for Kevin de León.

When we take back Congress, we'll need to be ready to advance a clear, progressive vision on day one. Kevin will bring the California Democratic Party with him to Washington. D.C., and together we will drive the nation into a greener, golden future.
