Jon Borschow
Founder, Chairman & CEO

Jon is the Founder, Chairman and CEO of Foundation for Puerto Rico. He is a successful entrepreneur, committed philanthropist and visionary who founded the organization with a vision to unleash Puerto Rico’s full potential as an active participant in the world’s economy.

Before he founded Foundation for Puerto Rico, Jon built a successful business, leveraging on innovation to serve its customer’s needs, while implementing new technological tools. Jon used his MIT education to incorporate information technology into the company’s operational processes, which became the company’s most important competitive advantage and allowed it to expand into pharmaceutical distribution and healthcare logistics. In 2008, the company was acquired by Cardinal Health and today is the leading healthcare distribution company in Puerto Rico.

Jon is the Chairman of the Puerto Rico’s Destination Management Organization, created in 2017 by a multi-sector effort led by the Foundation for Puerto Rico, to design and develop strategies for the promotion of Puerto Rico.
