Beers with an asterisk (*) are served on Lukr side pull faucet. Side pull faucets allow for an extra level of control over the foam : beer ratio. By default, we serve these beers at 0.5L (16.9 fl oz), with a generous head (in Czech, "Hladinka," meaning "level" or "equal"). The glassware they are served in has an etch on the outside to indicate this volume measurement. The Lukr faucet also releases some carbonation, providing for a fluffier, lighter-drinking draught. Cheers!

Kief Richards - Collaboration with Crooked Pecker Brewing Co
This 8% Double New England IPA was brewed at Crooked Pecker, as a way for both of our breweries to try out a new hop product: Motueka SubZero Hop Kief from Freestyle Hops in Moutere, New Zealand. Freestyle uses a special process, similar to those used to fractionate and extract compounds from marijuana, in producing this concentrated hop aroma and flavor juice. We worked with Crooked Pecker to try it out, and we love the result. Huge bright pine, white grapefruit, and that distinct Kiwi spiciness to bring light to the darkest days of winter.

Our latest classic European lager, filtered through the lens of experience and preference for a version that pushes the balancing hop character higher. Incredibly crisp, drinkable, easygoing "beer flavored beer" that we love to hang our hat on. Served on side pull for extra authenticity.
