About

In 2018, I began my public service for the people of Alaska when Governor Dunleavy came into office. For over three years I served the Governor as his personal assistant. Now I support the administration working on the Policy Team and also lead the newly established Office of Energy Innovation.

Prior to serving in the Dunleavy administration, I spent over a decade in the construction industry and currently hold a State of New Mexico MM98 Mechanical Contractor License and a State of New Mexico GF09 Utility Contractor License.
