DISPATCH—When a great business man was asked the secret of his success, he said, "I attribute my success to the fact that while others were thinking I decided, and while others were deciding I executed." Quick, firm decision and immediate execution of one's plans are fundamental to business success—to success in any line. "Dispatch," Josh Billing says, "has dun all the grate things that hev been did in this world." The great prizes are won by men of strong, decided character who know what they want and go straight for it without wavering, hesitation or dilly-dallying. Such men radiate a positive atmosphere that clears a passage for them wherever they go.

GENTLENESS—A swallow having built its nest upon the tent of Charles V, the great Emperor generously commanded that the tent should not be taken down when the camp was moved but should remain until the young birds were ready to fly. Was there such a gentleness in the heart of a soldier toward a poor bird which was not of his making, and shall the Lord deal hardly with His creatures when they venture to put their trust in Him? Be assured He hath a great love to those trembling souls that fly for shelter to His royal courts. He that buildeth his nest upon a Divine promise shall find it abide and remain until he shall fly away to the land where promises are lost in fulfilments.—Spurgeon.

SPIRIT AWAKE

Awake, thou Spirit, who didst fire
The Watchmen of the Church's youth
Who faced the foe's envenomed ire
Who witnessed day and night thy truth
Whose voices loud are ringing still
And bringing hosts to know thy will.
O haste to help, ere we are lost!
Send preachers forth, in spirit strong
Armed with thy Word, a dauntless host
Bold to attack the rule of wrong;
Let them the earth for Thee reclaim
Thy heritage, to know thy name.

—BOGATZKY

SUCCESS—I leave these words with you. It is only a young man's message to young men. The message is simple enough. There's nothing impossible about it to any young man, so long as he bears in mind the salient points: First—What success means; the successful doing, the doing well of whatever he does in whatever position he is. Second—The price of success; hard work, patience and a few sacrifices.

Then for his keys—In his religious life: A firm, unwavering belief in God and in prayer and a life consistent with that belief for himself and for others. In his social life: Moderation. In his marriage: Love. And in business: Thoroughness. Not thoroughness alone in large things or what is apparent to the eye; but thoroughness in all things; not slighting small things.—Edward Bok.

PETITIONS—We are linked as men with the animal creation. It is fair to take an illustration from that. You who have lived in the country will have noticed that the chirrup of a bird in a nest will bring the parent bird. You see in your houses that the mewling of a kitten will bring the cat. You observe in the field that the bleating of a lamb will be answered from a distant part of the field by the sheep. The whining of a baby in the crib will make the mother throw aside her work, and lift it up. The bird, the kitten, the lamb, the baby all cry, all pray to those who are above them, and their prayers receive a prompt and complete answer! More than that, I find myself in the society of other men. I find that I stand in need of them, and I ask, I pray to them for what I need. Every day of your lives when you go to the city you may see prayer answered. Strangers come from the country; they are not able to find their way. They ask policemen to direct them, and are always answered. You are ignorant of some subject that you wish to be acquainted with; you converse with a man who understands that subject, and he tells you so as to guide you in the matter. Your prayer is answered. And with all such facts of my life before me, made on such lines as that, when I need a thing I ask another for it with the expectation that he will grant it. Yet when I need our mighty Father to put forth His help for me, I am never to expect an answer! I am in trouble! no friend, no stranger can take me out of that trouble. Is there nowhere one to whom I can approach and tell it? I go wrong, alas! too often. I want to be put right. Is there no one to whom I can appeal for a wiser and more holy guidance than I can get in myself or from other men? Surely, surely, if He has made the animal creation on such lines, that they cry, and their prayer is efficacious, He will not have made us, who have so much higher a standing than animals—merely to tantalize us, to cry, and get no answer.—Beecher.

SELF—Every man yields up self or Christ to be crucified. Within every man's breast, the decision is made to sacrifice worldly place, ease and reputation for Christ; or Christ for worldly place, ease and reputation.—Pulsford.

PRUDENCE is that virtue by which we discern what is proper to be done under the circumstances of time and place.—Milton.

Prudence is the virtue of the senses. It is the science of appearances. "Put armor on thine ears and on thine eyes."—Emerson.

Prudence is the art of choosing; he is prudent who among many objects can distinguish that which deserves the preference.—L. M. Stretch.

Prudence is practical wisdom, and comes of the cultivated judgment. It has reference in all things to fitness, to propriety; judging wisely of the right thing to be done, and the right way of doing it. It calculates the means, order, time, and method of doing. Prudence learns from experience, quickened by knowledge.—Smiles.

Prudence is the footprint of wisdom.—B. A. Bronson Alcott.

EQUALITY—In our treatment of other people we must remember that they are men and women. We forget this. They are clerks, shopmen, "hands," mere machines for writing our letters, keeping our accounts, and disposing of our goods. They are cooks, housemaids, coachmen, gardeners. They are tradesmen, butchers, grocers, milliners. But they are all men and women, with troubles and joys, cares and hopes, a heart and will like our own. None of us can claim a higher title than the meanest of them. The question is not, therefore, How am I to treat my clerk, my carpenter? But, How ought I to treat my fellow-man—my equal in all that constitutes human nature? We shall never get right till we come to this.—R. W. Dale, D.D.

PURE—None but the pure in heart can see God. The proof of this lies in the fact that the vision of the soul rises from the affections. Tell the selfish of the beauty of unselfishness; you might as well tell the blind man of the glory of form and color, of shadow and splendor. Tell the impure man of purity; you might as well tell the deaf to listen to strains of music. Most profoundly is this true of spiritual life. The man whose heart is unholy sees not God.—E. L. Hull.

CHILD—He who helps a child helps humanity with an immediateness which no other help given to human creature in any other stage of human life can possibly give again.—Phillips Brooks.

TITLES—The English preacher, William Huntington, said that he could not get M.A. for want of learning, or D.D. for want of cash—14 pounds (sterling) being required—and so he took S.S.—Sinner Saved.

FORTITUDE—True fortitude I take to be the quiet possession of a man's self, and an undisturbed doing his duty, whatever evil besets or danger lies in his way.—Locke.

The fortitude of a Christian consists in patience, not in enterprises which the poets call heroic, and which are commonly the effects of interest, pride, and worldly honor.—Dryden.

Fortitude implies a firmness and strength of mind, that enables us to do and suffer as we ought. It rises upon an opposition, and, like a river, swells the higher for having its course stopped.—Jeremy Collier.

Fortitude is the marshal of thought, the armor of the will and the fort of reason.—Bacon.

BIBLE—Some one describes packing his valise for a journey. Just before closing it he observes a small corner not yet filled. He says, "Into this little corner I put a guide-book, a lamp, a mirror, a microscope, a telescope, a volume of choice poems, several well written biographies, a package of old letters, a book of songs, a sharp sword and a small library of more than sixty volumes; yet, strange enough to say, all these did not occupy a space of more than three inches long by two inches wide." "But how could you do it?" "Well, it was all in the packing, I put in my Bible."—Selected.

FOOLISH—There was a man in the town where I was born who used to steal his firewood. He would get up on cold nights and go and take it from his neighbor's wood-pile. A computation was made, and it was ascertained that he spent more time and worked harder to get his fuel than he would have had to if he had earned it in an honest way, and at ordinary wages. And this thief is a type of thousands of men who work a great deal harder to please the devil than they would have to please God.—Beecher.

PEACEABLE—As soon as any one discovers that the atmosphere about him is nearly always stormy, he should ask whether, without knowing it, he does not carry the elements of the storm with him. It is tolerably certain to my mind that whoever believes that most men are quarrelsome is not only not a peacemaker, he is not even peaceable.—R. W. Dale, D.D.

LOVE (God)—God has sent me into this world but to love Himself, and through His great mercy I have loved Him so much that I cannot love Him more after the manner of mortals; I want to go to Him that I may love Him after the manner of the blessed.—Armelle Nicholas.

CHRIST—Fifty-five generations have passed away, and there is no name which exercises such an influence in the world today as the name of Him who was lifted up on the cross. It is associated with the most advanced civilization; with the best and most enduring literature; with the noblest forms of art; with the broadest systems of education; with the purest and most extended institutions of philanthropy; with the most refined and healthful social progress; and, in fine, with every element of dignity, prosperity, and power among the nations of the earth.—Ebenezer P. Rogers.

A PREACHER'S PRAYER

Almighty God, Thou helper of those that proclaim Thy Word:

Help me be patient in committees; true in statistics; honest in details; exact in finances: Defend me from the sin of a roving mind; a lazy pen; a yawning mouth; and all thoughtless preparation. Keep me steadily at my desk; at my book; at my message; at my work in my parish. Give me according to my ability, thoughts to think; deeds to do; lives to lift; souls to save. Be Thou the Horn of my Salvation, and thus may I be willing to preach deliverance to the captive; joy to the joyless; hope to the hopeless, and salvation to the uttermost and undermost, in Jesus' name and for His glory.—Amen.

—Sunday at Home.

RESOLUTION—I will keep my lips sweet with the words of kindness; my heart pure with noble ideals; my hands clean with honorable deeds; I will keep my body sacred and my soul free; I will strive to be rich in love; strong in gentleness, untiring in patience, abundant in hope; I will serve God by helping some of His children; I will try always to be better than my word and more liberal than my promise; every day I will make the most of myself and the best of myself, and so be ready for the opportunities which God daily sends to those who are ready for them. I will—today.—Robert J. Burdette.

LOVE—The language of the sermon should always be kind. During the preparation let the soul be filled with love. Make no concealed or sharp thrusts, intended to wound feelings or resent some fancied insult. That may be the wisdom of the serpent; but not the harmlessness of the dove. I think it is Sir Francis de Sales who says: "I would give one hundred serpents for one dove."—Simpson.

MOVING (Day)—When you see a new gray hair on your head thank God, and when you see another wrinkle on your cheek thank God, and when you feel another physical infirmity thank God, and when another year has passed thank God. What does it all mean? Why, it means that moving-day is coming, and that you are going to quit cramped apartments and be mansioned forever.—Talmage.

DOUBT—You know that the devil which has followed you through life, which has blocked your progress, put out the lights in your path, tortured you and undermined your confidence in yourself, has been the devil of doubt. It has been the whispering fiend which told you that you could not do this and you could not do that, which stepped in and killed your initiative when you were about to begin to do that which your ambition had hoped to accomplish.—Beecher.

CONCENTRATION—Faraday, the great chemist, learned a great lesson in boyhood. As a lad, humbly earning his bread by selling papers, he has waiting outside the office of an Edinburg paper for the morning issue, and thrust his head and arms through the railings of the iron gate. He began to speculate on which side of the railings he was. "My head and hands are on one side," he said to himself, "and my heart and body are on the other." The gate was opened hastily before he could disengage himself, and the wrench he received taught him, as he said in after life, that all true work required head, heart and hands to be on the same side. Moral: To be great, you must concentrate.—Public Speakers Library.

GOSPEL—When skepticism has found a place on this planet ten miles square, where a decent man can live in comfort and security, a place where age is revered, infancy respected, womanhood honored, and human life held in due regard—when skeptics can find such a place ten miles square on this globe, where the gospel of Christ has not first gone and cleared the way, and laid foundations, and made decency and security possible, it will then be in order for the skeptical literati to move thither and ventilate their views.—James Russell Lowell.

JUSTIFICATION is the act of God as a Judge; adoption, His act as a Father. By the former, we are discharged from condemnation, and accepted as righteous; by the latter, we are made the children and heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ forever.—Guysel.

FAMILY—First in time and sacredness is the family. It is as old as Eden. It antedates the Church and the State, and is the foundation of both. Originally, and for a long period, the only form of government was patriarchal, or that of the family, and the only religion that of the home. The family is the germ out of which nations grow. The principles which are at the basis of family life become the basis of national life. For the nation, when it has reached its widest extent, is still a collection of families, and more than upon anything else, the character of a nation depends upon the character of the home. The Acts of the Apostles show "to how large an extent the Church was built up of converted households; how from time to time families, such as those of Lydia and the Philippian jailer, were added to the Church; and how, while a prominence, before unknown, was given to the individual, the aim still was to incorporate families as widely as possible;" so that just as the nation was a collection of families, the Church was made up of a collection of religious families.—Christian Advocate.

HONEST—Dr. Sargeant stated that at a slave market in one of the Southern States at which he was present, a smart, active colored boy was put up for sale. A kind master, who pitied his condition, wishing him not to have a cruel owner, went up to him, and said, "If I buy you, will you be honest?" The boy, with a look that baffled description, replied, "I will be honest whether you buy me or not." He had learned the meaning of Eph. 4:28 and Rom. 12:17.

RELIGION

A woman sat by a hearthside place
Reading a book with a pleasant face,
Till a child came up with a childish frown
And pushed the book, saying, "Put it down."
Then the mother, slapping his curly head,
Said "Troublesome child, go off to bed;
A great deal of God's book I must know
To train you up as a child should go."
And the child went off to bed to cry,
And denounce religion—by and by.
Another woman bent over a book
With a smile of joy and intent look.
Till a child came up and joggled her knee,
And said of the book, "Put it down; take me."
Then the mother sighed as she stroked his head,
Saying softly, "I never shall get it read,
But I'll try by loving to learn His will,
And His love into my child instill."
That child went to bed without a sigh,
And will love religion—by and by.
