IN THE PAST YEARS, we’ve learned that the population of the United States and its workforce will become substantially more Hispanic. According to the U.S. Labor Bureau, one in every two workers that enter the workforce in 2025 will be Hispanic. That’s not far away from now. In fact, it’s already happening. Today, companies focus on the recruitment of the next generation of top Latinos by having to create unique hiring initiatives and strategies. This year, we monitored some of the best companies for Latinos to work based on opportunities such as financial stability, clear paths to career advancement and an inclusive environment.
We compiled a list of best companies for Latinos, using such criteria as employee diversity, programs to recruit, promote and retain Latinos, ERG programs and Latino representation in the boardroom and C-Suite level.

LEAD serves as a resource for employees, supporting members to achieve their full potential, driving awareness of Latino’s contributions, and supporting SCE’s business objectives. At the end of 2020, Latinos made up 34% of Edison’s workforce and 46% of SCE customers. LEAD has grown 69.55% since 2016. Given these numbers, we see that LEAD has a unique role to play in partnering with the company on internal and external strategic initiatives and in expanding its membership to include Latino employees from across the company.
