Growing Youth
growing high school students’ social and emotional health—along with a bunch of veggies
The School Garden Ecosystem
Green Club: The Center of the Ecosystem
Beyond Thursday Afternoons: Diversifying the Ecosystem
In Their own Words…

“I come to Green Club because I love to grow different types of plants. I like seeing them grow and I like taking care of them”—Kyah Miller, 9th Grade

“We turn the veggies and fruits into very special meals; we all work together on different parts of the ingredient and then put the ingredients together so it’s able to turn out into a whole food fresh meal.” —Anthony Tolliver, 10th Grade

“The students play a larger role in the gardening process than the instructors. Although the instructors have taught the students everything that they know, they allow the students to do everything by themselves.”—Daishai Kyle, 12th Grade

“As a family, not just a school we come together on Thursday afternoons for about two hours resulting in a perfect dish…” —Blessing Inyang, 11th Grade