Journal of Transatlantic Studies: Palgrave Macmillan

Articles should be submitted to the editor:
Editor: Professor Alan P. Dobson
Swansea University
Contact email: a.p.dobson@swansea.ac.uk

On publication authors will receive: a PDF version of their article and also freely shareable links that they can access. Authors also have the option to purchase offprints (print copy of the journal) when their article is published.

Guidelines for authors

Submissions must be in English (British version) and in two versions: one anonymised and one with full author details, including contact email, and a brief one-paragraph biography.

Manuscripts must have a short abstract of no more than 300 words at the beginning and a list of key words.

Use footnotes not end notes.

In addition, it must:

- Be double-spaced throughout (including notes and references, but excluding tables that would otherwise span across more than one page)
- Use 12-point Times New Roman font for the main body of the text and 10-point for the footnotes
- Have page numbers at the bottom of each page
- Have a 2.5 cm or 1 inch margin all around
- Be formatted for A4 or US letter size paper
- Normally be between 6,000 - 8,000 words, with a maximum length of 10,000 words (including text, footnotes and references). Please include the word count of your article in your submission. If you wish to submit a manuscript that exceeds this limit please contact the editor beforehand.

Footnotes and Bibliographical Reference List

Use footnotes for citing all primary and secondary sources.
Use the Bibliographical Reference List (which should come at the end of the text) for listing in alphabetical order of author last name all published sources.

Books

Bibliography Reference entries (in alphabetical order)

For many more examples, covering virtually every type of book, see The Chicago Manual of Style.

Chapter or other part of an edited book

In a note, cite specific pages. In the bibliography, include the page range for the chapter or part.

Journal article

In a note, cite specific page numbers. In the bibliography, include the page range for the whole article. For articles consulted online, include a URL or the name of the database. Many journal articles list a DOI (Digital Object Identifier). A DOI forms a permanent URL that begins https://doi.org/. This URL is preferable to the URL that appears in your browser’s address bar.

Bibliography Reference entries (in alphabetical order)

Journal articles often list many authors, especially in the sciences. If there are four or more authors, list up to ten in the bibliography; in a note, list only the first, followed by et al. (“and others”). For more than ten authors (not shown here), list the first seven in the bibliography, followed by et al.

Footnotes

Shortened footnotes

8. Bay et al., ‘Predicting Responses,’ 466.

Bibliography Reference entry

For more examples, see The Chicago Manual of Style.

News or magazine article

Articles from newspapers or news sites, magazines, blogs, and the like are cited similarly. Page numbers, if any, can be cited in a note but are omitted from a bibliography entry. If you consulted the article online, include a URL or the name of the database. When a newspaper title does not contain the name of the city it is published in please insert city name in parentheses, e.g. The Times (London)

Shortened footnotes

6. Manjoo, ‘Snap.’
7. Pegoraro, ‘Apple’s iPhone.’

Archival Citations

Citations of archival sources should name the archive and its location, followed by the appropriate convention for locating document cited. They should be cited in the footnotes BUT NOT in the Bibliography Reference List.
