Dear KBAS Friends,

Don’t you love the quiet of winter? There is 2 inches of powdery snow, here at Tingley Lake Estates. Winter wonderland.

KBAS is now looking for 2 to 3 Screeners. These members will talk to current Board Members and Chairs to see if they want to continue their commitment. It will then be announced what Board and Chair openings that are available.

Due to family commitments, I will be stepping down at the appropriate time as Madame President. I hope to be accepted as Hospitality Chair, which I believe I have more time for. Thank you, for the fun times and more to come.

On Jan. 6, 2016 The Board voted to support The Conservation Director Bob Salinger of Portland’s response to the Malheur Siege.

The New York Times has a good article of you'd like to read it. Hopefully this will be over by the time this Grebe is printed.

OCF is creating a library of photos. If anyone in KBAS would like to contribute contact Valerie Rundquist. (503) 552-3510. www.oregoncf.org

Hope to see everyone at Winterwings! Sherry Pollock (541) 539-9001 Canadageese61@gmail.com

Winter Wings Festival Receives a 2016 Mindful Birding Award for Adopting Ethical Birding Guidelines

Klamath Basin Audubon Society is the recipient of a 2016 Mindful Birding Award from the Morrissey Foundation for its efforts to promote ethical birding guidelines and bird conservation through its Winter Wings Festival.

By strengthening participants’ connections to nature, and by providing guidance on ethical birding and nature conservation, the Winter Wings Festival is serving as a model for other birding festivals and helping attendees become even stronger messengers for and supporters of conservation for birds and people.

The project has three goals: (1) increase awareness among birders of ethical birding guidelines, (2) increase the conservation contributions from America’s 47 million birdwatchers, and (3) encourage a practice of mindfulness among birders.

Winter Wing Update

by Diana Samuels

Registration Update - Diana Samuels

As of 1/15/16, about 335 had registered which is more than last year at this time. We have just added a new Crater Lake Snowshoe trip to the itinerary so check that out for Friday, Feb. 12th. Eight field trips have openings and you can still sign up for most workshops, mini-sessions, banquets and keynotes. We are premiering the Lost Bird Film that drew so much attention on PBS to those who register for this free mini-session on Friday, Feb. 12th. Don't delay though. Go to www.WinterWingsFestival.org.

Volunteers Needed - Anne Wenner

We still need volunteers for a variety of tasks. If you have already signed up as a volunteer for this year we thank you and you need read no further. However, if you haven’t yet volunteered, now is the time! We have a variety of fun and interesting volunteer opportunities, both before and during the festival. It is a good chance to meet new people and be involved with the birding community. And to thank you for volunteering, all volunteers are invited to attend the Friday evening keynote presentation by James Currie, “When Eagles Roar”, for free.

The volunteer opportunities are all listed online in our registration system (http://www.winterwingsfest.org/), and you can volunteer by registering for whatever you are interested in. If you don’t want to go online, or if you want more details about a particular task, feel free to phone or email one of the Volunteer Coordinators listed below and we will be happy to work with you. We urge you to volunteer now for a rewarding and interesting experience.

Local Audubon Bird Enthusiasts Set County Species Year Record

Congratulations to Dave Hewitt for setting a new Klamath County year record. Dave saw 259 species in 2015! The previous record was 250 species set in 2014 by Kevin Spencer.

Highlights of Dave’s record-breaking year:

A Williamson’s Sapsucker, Barred Owl, and a White-throated Sparrow seen on Jan. 1 started the year off right. Pine Grosbeaks, pretty rare in the county, were seen along Clover Creek Road in February. Most shorebirds showed up this year even though water was at a premium. Semipalmed Sandpiper and Red-necked Phalarope were probably among the latest shorebirds seen in August at Willow Valley Reservoir east of Langell Valley, and Pectoral Sandpiper was seen north of Stateline Road in October. It was a good year for gulls: Mew, Glaucous, Glaucous-winged, and Thayer’s showed up along with the usual ones.

Owls were also well represented: in addition to the Barred seen on Jan 1, other unusual and difficult to find owls included Spotted and Long-eared. A special highlight of the year was being out with his children and watching together as a Great-gray Owl was hunting. Woodpeckers unusual or hard to find included Red-naped Sapsucker and American Three-toed Woodpecker. October brought Surf Scoters and Pacific Loon at Crescent Lake in north Klamath County. Sooty Grouse aren’t uncommon in the county, finding them is another thing sometimes—one finally dropped off a hillside and walked across Nannie Creek Road to join the list. Late November produced Northern Shrike and Lapland Longspurs in the Straits Drain area. In December a Common Redpoll showed up at a private residence in Chiloquin—one of only two seen/reported.

And probably the best birds, if only because of their rarity, were two warblers. Dave found a Hooded Warbler in Moore Park in May for a probable first county record. And then in late November Dave first spotted what turned out to be a Blackburnian Warbler at Wood River Wetland in the riparian area. It took twenty minutes of “warbler neck” (the bird was very high and very active in the tops of the trees) before enough field marks were observed to nail the identity of this beauty. The warbler stuck around for over an hour and two other birders got to see it. The Blackburnian Warbler is a first Klamath County record.

Bird Bingo at the Favell Museum - Anne Wenner

Calling all young birders! Come to the Favell Museum on Saturday February 13 between 10 am and 5 pm for a fun bingo challenge. Fill out your bingo card by identifying local birds chowing down at the museum’s new bird feeders, swimming in or flying down the Link River or hanging out in trees just outside the building. You and your family also get free admission to the museum where the hunt continues with birds hidden in paintings, sculptures or otherwise displayed throughout. Find a winning bingo combination of these birds and get a special prize.

We need props for folks to use while taking their photo at our new social media Photo Frame. If you can loan us a funny bird hat, oversized glasses, animal puppet, etc. please contact Diana Samuels

Winter Wings Festival is Presidents’ Day Weekend, February 11-14, 2016.
Field Trips
by Mary Ellen Sargent

February 20, 2016
Post Winter Wings trip
Join Rick Hardy for a post-WWF trip to find many of the outstanding species reported during WWF. More details to follow. Meet at the USFWS parking lot at 1936 California Ave. at 8 AM.

Saturday, March 26
Photography Trip
Join Jack Noller for a 1/2 day of visiting at the Lower Klamath NWR, finding interesting birds in the field to photograph, including eagles! If you have anything from a point-and-shoot to a tricked out rig, this trip is for you! And if you just want to see birds, come along! Meet at the Autotour route kiosk (Stateline Road) at 8 AM. Dress for the weather!

Mid March/Early April, 2016
Shorebird Jamboree
Join photographer Jack Noller for a 1/2 day of visiting his favorite birdy picture areas. If you have anything from a point and shoot to a tricked out photographic rig, this trip is for you! And if you just want to see birds, come along! More details later!

April/May, 2016
Skillet Handle
Join Darrel Samuels for a trip to the Skillet Handle. Trip will follow the lake looking the returning grebes and other waterfowl, plus nesting specialties of Running Y. More details to follow.

Late April, 2016
Shorebird Jamboree
Join Kevin Spencer as he leads us on a trip around the Basin to catch the migrating shorebird action. More details to follow.

Early May, 2016
Eagle Ridge
Join Molly Russell for a trip to Eagle Ridge to find migrants, including warblers and shorebirds and early nesters. More details to follow.

June, 2016
Redband Ranch at Crystal Springs
Redband Ranch at Crystal Creek. Come join our hosts, Anne & Karl Wenner at their ranch off Westside Road. This was a very popular trip in 2014, so we’re bringing it back! Carpooling meeting place will be at the Lodge at Running Y. We’ll be doing easy walking, looking for nesting mountain and waterbird species. There will also be an opportunity to paddle around Crystal Creek to look for birds and giant redband trout. More details to follow.

Late July, 2016
Canoe/Kayak Trip on Williamson
Join Heather Hendrixson of The Nature Conservancy on a canoe/kayak trip on the Williamson River at the delta and around the near shores of Agency Lake, especially Goose Bay. Lots of nesters (think: baby grebes on parent’s backs) will be around.

While the Malheur petition seems to have resolved itself. However, just in case, here’s a link to an online petition urging President Obama to end the occupation at the Malheur refuge and to arrest Ammon Bundy:

Malheur National Wildlife Refuge is a National Wildlife Refuge located roughly 30 miles south of the city of Burns in Oregon’s Harney Basin.

The March 10th meeting will feature a program on Patagonian birds by Brandon Breen. Patagonia is a region within Chile and Argentina that occupies the southernmost portion of South America and is one of the most scenic landscapes on earth. In his presentation Brandon will share photos and experiences from a hiking and bird watching trip in February of 2015. His talk will include glaciers, parakeets, turquoise waters, condors, buzzard-eagles, and even the secretive Chucao Tapaculo, a bird whose voice, according to Chilean poet Pablo Neruda, “contains all the world’s loneliness.”

Brandon is a writer and conservation biologist living in Ashland. He has worked on numerous avian research projects throughout the U.S. and abroad, focusing on such species as the California and Andean condors, the Turkey Vulture, and the Gray-crowned Rosy-finch. He completed his BA at Bates College and his MS at the University of Minnesota.

Brandon is currently working on the Mindful Birding Project which aims to increase awareness of ethical birding guidelines as well as the conservation impacts of America’s birdwatchers.

Olympic Birdfest
April 15-17, 2016

This festival will be preceded by our San Juan Islands Cruise on April 12-14, 2016; and followed by a two-day excursion to the Neah Bay area of coastal Washington on April 17-19, 2016.

Wings Across the Sky
June 3-5, 2016

Montana Audubon’s Wings Across the Big Sky Festival, co-hosted by Five Valleys Audubon Society, will be held June 3-5, 2016 in Missoula. Festival headquarters will be located at the Holiday Inn Downtown at the Park.

Over 20 field trips to a variety of habitats, including wetlands, uplands, mountain forests, sagebrush shrub-steppe, and large rivers. Expected Species: Lewis Woodpecker, Black Tern, Long-billed Curlew, Clay-colored Sparrow, Brewer’s Sparrow, Rock Wren, Canyon Wren, Bobolink, Gray Flycatcher, Sagebrush Sparrow, Sage Thrasher, Burrowing Owl, Ferruginous Hawk, and Williamson’s Sapsucker. Post-festival day long field trips for serious birders is also available.

For non-birding enthusiasts we again are offering our popular Friday night bat walk with local biologists plus other walks for wildflowers and butterflies. Then there is a large art show and history tours plus shopping and more shopping...remember Montana does NOT have any sales tax. In appreciation of that, we are providing a fantastic optic and camera sale opportunity. Our Saturday morning markets for local produce and crafts draws hundreds of tourists.

Saturday night keynote Speaker--Dr. Erick Greene, Division of Biological Sciences, University of Montana, an engaging speaker who studies threat communication shared between bird species as well as other genera, and contaminant levels in our local Osprey population.

Registration starts in March at http://mtaudubon.org/birding/mt-bird-festival/
