Lent 2013 - A Season of Listening

In the Christian tradition, the season of Lent is a time of reflection and preparation. Spanning the 40 days (excluding Sundays) from Ash Wednesday through Holy Week, Lent is a season for being attentive to the Holy Spirit as we get ready to celebrate Jesus' resurrection on Easter Sunday and, even more, to LIVE in the world as Easter people: people who carry within us the power of resurrection hope and bear that into a world that is always burdened by despair.

This year during Lent, CPC leaders will help our congregation engage in "A Season of Listening." The purpose is to build relationships among members and friends of our congregation, to discover what people care deeply about, and to help us clarify our vision for ministry as we move into the future. The process will be first to train a group of volunteers in the practice of deep and thoughtful listening, then to invite CPC members and friends to be part of a series of one-on-one meetings and/or house meetings facilitated by these volunteers.

When the process is complete, we hope to have a better idea of where we are headed as a congregation and how God is calling us to live out our faith in ways that really make a difference to the wider community.

On Sunday February 24 there will be a lunch following worship to introduce our Season of Listening and give everyone an experience of what those conversations will be like.

February 10 Is Jazz Sunday!

It's that time of year again! Sunday February 10 will be Jazz Sunday at Claremont Presbyterian Church. We will once again welcome CPC member and Jazz Band leader extraordinaire Chet Jaeger and his Night Blooming Jazzmen. The band will lead our worship music, including a special jazz arrangement for our choir's anthem. Join us for a great way to bring in MardiGras/Shrove Tuesday as we prepare for the beginning of Lent on Ash Wednesday, February 13.

Sunday Morning at Nine

Sunday Morning at Nine Adult Education classes begin at 9:00 a.m.

The series “Stories of Faith and Justice” which began in January will continue through February 17. It is a weekly conversation with a member of the Claremont community about their experience of practicing their Christian faith in the pursuit of justice. Speakers include Butch Henderson, Joe Hough, John Maquire, Chris Hartmire and Jane Dempsey Douglass.

Souper Bowl of Caring - February 3

On the day when football's last two teams square off for ultimate victory, CPC will join with churches and community groups all over the country to defeat hunger. By bringing with you to church that Sunday extra dollar bills to drop into the large soup kettles that CPC youth will be managing, you can be part of that Super cause. All of the money collected at CPC's Souper Bowl of Caring goes directly to the Beta Center food pantry in Pomona to provide food for hungry people. Game on.

Godly Play

On February 3, our lesson in Godly Play will be “The Good Shepherd and World Communion.” On February 10, we prepare the children to enter the season of Lent with our lesson, “The Mystery of Easter.” When Lent begins we move into our Lenten series that follows different events in the life and work of Jesus that led to the cross. This series is called, “The Faces of Easter.” Our lessons on February 17 and 24 will come from our Lenten series. Children age 4 - grade 2 are invited to join us at 9:00 a.m. Children grade 3 - grade 5 are invited to come to Godly Play following the “Time with the Children” in worship and remain in class until 11:15. If you have any questions or would like more information about becoming involved in Godly Play, please contact Krista at krista@claremontpres.org.

Camping Sunday Is February 17

Worship on Sunday, February 17 will lift up camping as a valuable part of our Christian life, both as youth and adults. We will testify to the life-changing encounters had at camp – with God, with brothers and sisters, and with ourselves. Worshipers on the 17th will have a chance to commit to Family Camp in May, as well as summer camps for children and youth.

Hazardous and Electronic Waste Disposal

The County of Los Angeles is holding a collection day for electronic and household hazardous waste. Saturday, February 2 from 9:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m. you may take your waste to the Claremont Corporate Yard, 1616 Monte Vista Avenue in Claremont.

Examples of things you may take are paint, household batteries, car batteries, computer monitors and cell phones. Bring your items in a sturdy box, preferably in their original labeled containers. Be prepared to leave the containers and boxes. The event is open to all residents of Los Angeles County.

Confirmation Update

All fall, a team of youth and adults have been meeting in probing one-on-one sessions to delve into the gospel of Mark and discover God at work in their lives. These confirmation students and their mentors are investing in faith, both their own and that of the whole church, and their work is to all of our benefit. Thank you Clayton Becker and Kent Warner, Nancy Jung and Jeanine Robertson, Sophie Piestick and Meredith Clayton, Jacen Doebler and Stuart Lillich.

The next step in the confirmation begins in March, when youth undertake weekly catechism class. Here they will grapple with the pillars of Christian faith, asking questions of them and discovering their wisdom. Please pray for Nancy, Sophie, Clayton, and Jacen as they continue their confirmation work.

People In the Church: Damon, Sally & Dillon Lopez

If you ask Damon and Sally Lopez, they'll tell you it was God's hand guiding them. And after you hear their story you would be hard pressed to disagree. Why else would a family commute all the way from Ontario to worship at Claremont Presbyterian Church?

On a Sunday in 1997 Damon and Sally set out to find a church where they would like to be married and raise their family, which included Daric, Damon's son (who now lives in North Carolina with his wife and child). They had a list of possible churches that included CPC, but they decided first to try a church in Ontario. Arriving at the church door a few minutes before 9, they found a note that said the church was closed for remodeling but the congregation was worshipping at a location in north Ontario. Jotting down the address, they headed uphill and soon entered another church, only to discover they had somehow wandered into a somewhat different service. Oops! So much for plan A and plan B, now what? It was about 9:30 and there was still time to zip over to Claremont. Plan C, or if you are fond of puns, Plan CPC.

They remember very vividly that Sandy Tice was preaching and, most remarkable, Mel and Vera Smith were talking about God in their lives as they celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. The church itself was wonderful, but beyond that the message they perceived was "God wants you to marry in Claremont Presbyterian Church." They agreed.

Their wedding in 1998, with Sandy Tice officiating, was a bright spot, in some ways a new and purposeful life for both Damon and Sally. Damon grew up in San Dimas, kicked around at different jobs, tried a stint in the military, but by the time he was 30 there was no real direction in his life. Then cancer struck. By the time he was diagnosed the cancer had already metastasized. Surgeons worked very hard to excise the cancer and, almost miraculously, they were successful.

Three years later, in 1993, Damon met Sally at a party. Although he had previously struggled to decide what to do with his life, Damon immediately told friends, "I'm going to marry Sally."

Much later, telling this story, he said, "She saved me."

Sally responded, "God saved him for me."

Sally too grew up in San Dimas. Her roots were Presbyterian, back to her grandparents in the Azusa church. As a child she "was always at church, always leaned on God." Today she affirms, "The Lord is our center. We are there for Him 24-7."

But there were trials too, testing their faith. One year after they married, their first child, a girl, died soon after birth. CPC, earlier scene of a gorgeous wedding, now became the scene of a memorial service led by Sandy Tice, who held up their faith to the congregation as she marveled, "They never asked 'why?'"

There followed a miscarriage. Finally there arrived "our miracle guy," Dillon, whose difficulties forced the doctors to confine Sally to bed after her fourth month of pregnancy. In all of these trials, Damon and Sally told me "our faith carried us through" and "our faith is what gets us through." Sally also saw a blessing, that the trials had deepened her faith and her compassion "so God can use me to be there for other people."

Dillon, now 11, has been in the church since he was born. He credits two good friends, Ben and Noah Hatter, for making him feel welcome since the first day. Like his parents, he finds CPC a wonderful place to nurture his growing faith. Mention of Family Camp brings a flood of memories of wonderful times – the tire swing, baseball, kites, hiking, the creek – "so much fun!" He recalls especially the time Thomas Randles encouraged them to look for geodesic rocks near the creek.

This year Dillon asked if he might continue attending a Christian school. "Public school is ok," he explained, "but there I can't talk about God and I can't carry my Bible." Dillon reads the Bible every day. Despite the financial burden, Damon and Sally decided to support his request.

How does God communicate? "God puts things in my path that I see as signs," Sally explains. "He speaks to me through people." She would probably also acknowledge that God uses her to speak to other people. Last July she and Dillon were driving to visit the Hatters when right in front of them they saw a car hit two elderly pedestrians. "I saw them fly through the air," Dillon recalled. Sally immediately stopped her car, pulled out her phone and dialed 911 as she rushed to the side of the two motionless people. Afraid to move them, "I began praying." The man opened his eyes. He looked over at his motionless wife and cried, "Oh, no no no!"

The paramedics arrived. Meanwhile Sally tried to comfort the man, who seemed to have no major injuries, and asked if he had relatives that she could call on her phone. "We have no one," the man murmured. Soon an ambulance took the couple to a hospital.

After the ambulance left, Sally decided she needed to find the man and sit with him while he learned the fate of his wife. After several calls, she located the hospital, Arrowhead Regional, and there she found the man. His wife had broken several ribs and other bones, but the doctors predicted a good recovery for her. Dumbfounded to see Sally again, realizing the effort she must have made to find him and be with him at such a difficult time, he wondered aloud, "Who would do this for me?"

"I told him about God and me," Sally said. "I don't know if they were religious or not. I totally believe it was God's will" to be put there to help those people.

The night of the accident, Sally received a call from the CPC Nominating Committee asking if she would once again serve as a Deacon. That too seemed to her a special sign from God. First she prayed for guidance.

Then she accepted.

What impressed me most about the Lopez family was their steadfast faith. It reminded me of a passage I had read recently: "Though I walk in the midst of trouble, you preserve me..The Lord will fulfill his purpose for me; your steadfast love, O Lord, endures forever." Ps.138:8-9

Beautiful Chancel Flowers

With the new year beginning, it is time to think about how the Chancel might help us celebrate the blessings and teachings of Jesus Christ. Consider selecting a Sunday to donate flowers which will honor, celebrate and/or remember a loved one. Sherwood Florist does an outstanding job creating beautiful Chancel arrangements specific to the CPC donor's request for colors and flowers.

Stop by the Narthex Bulletin Board for an available date on the Flower poster. Complete a Flower Donation Sheet and drop it in the collection plate or by the office. If you have any questions contact the church office at (909) 624-9693. Kim Brinegar will confirm the availability of your selected date and work with you to create a special floral arrangement that will enhance the beauty and glory of each Sunday's worship service.
