STRENGTHENING COMMUNITIES

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION
OF GREATER GREENSBORO
We live in a special place. As a center for philanthropy, the Foundation partners with over 700 families, individuals and companies to make Greensboro and beyond even better. Fundholders can be actively involved in determining how grants are made and used, and have access to the expertise of our professional staff to assure their gifts have a significant impact on the causes and organizations they are passionate about, both during and after their lifetimes. Each year, fundholders support nearly 500 local, national and international organizations with around 2,500 grants. Approximately 2/3 of these grants support organizations serving the Greensboro area.

Mae Douglas became a fundholder in 2014. “I retired from my corporate career and moved back to Greensboro in 2012. Part of that transition was updating my estate plan. My advisor pointed out I was contributing a lot of money through table sponsorships and event tickets, but my giving would have a greater impact and provide more tax benefits if it was more focused. He suggested a donor advised fund. I’d never heard of one, but after doing some research I found the Community Foundation and set it up at the end of 2014. As I got to know the Foundation and its work, I agreed to serve as chair of the Expanding Community Giving initiative (ECG) that brings together philanthropists of color to strengthen their communities.”

Our mission is to strengthen communities. The Foundation works with a wide range of donors, makes grants to a variety of nonprofits and has strong relationships with corporate, community and elected leaders. Because of these relationships, it is uniquely positioned to objectively convene people around major community projects.

In addition to leading high-profile projects like the Steven Tanger Center for the Performing Arts and the Carolyn and Maurice LeBauer City Park, the Foundation also works on a wide range of less visible, but equally critical, initiatives. As a convener, the Foundation created Guilford Apprenticeship Partners (GAP) in 2015. It provides a pathway from high school to high paying technical jobs. Today, there are 26 member companies, with 80 pre-apprentices and 110 full apprenticeships. Quickly recognized as a leader in the field, in 2017 GAP won national honors for outstanding youth programming from the Center for Apprenticeship and Work-Based Learning.
We are better together. The Foundation brings together a diverse array of donors, civic leaders, nonprofits, and concerned individuals who share a passion to creatively solve challenges and address important issues in the community. The Foundation has created three permanent endowed funds.

Public Art Endowment (PAE) is one of the only privately funded endowments in the country focused on making quality public art available for all to enjoy. Guided by PAE trustees, the placement of public art engages all segments of the community. It opens up possibilities and perspectives for people to explore their own creativity in a way they may have never experienced or expected.

Women to Women Endowment builds on the historic role of women leading important initiatives in Greensboro. The Women to Women Endowment assures this legacy will live forever through high impact grant programs that transform the lives of women and their families.

Future Fund Endowment gives young leaders a platform to invest in their community. Their unique and important perspectives result in transformational projects, creating a Greensboro that is innovative, inclusive and attractive to all generations.

“My advisor pointed out I was contributing a lot of money through table sponsorships and event tickets, but my giving would have a greater impact and provide more tax benefits if it was more focused. He suggested a donor advised fund. I’d never heard of one, but after doing some research I found the Community Foundation and set it up at the end of 2014.”

Steven Tanger Center for the Performing Arts

Ground has been broken on the Steven Tanger Center for the Performing Arts, scheduled to open in 2020. The Foundation brought together the community to create a shared vision for the much-needed cultural asset. They also provided leadership in raising $42 million in private funds, approximately half the cost to build this state of the art facility that will feature a 3,000 seat theater.
