Ref: Lovebox Festivals. Oct 2017.

Lovebox came into Victoria Park in 2005 and stayed there until summer 2017 when the site was tendered out and another high profile promoter was awarded the concession.

During their time in Victoria Park Lovebox has invested into making it a great event, working closely with the Council to make it work for festival goers, local residents and parks users. Where issues have been raised they have addressed them and over the years have fine tuned their event management to achieve a much reduced impact from both noise and ASB. I would say that if a local authority is keen to develop commercial music events in their park then Lovebox would be a good organisation to work with as they listen, have a good experienced team and are professional in their delivery.
