PrEP Access & Use for Youth Experiencing Homelessness

REALYST Survey Results
In 2016 & 2017 REALYST members surveyed youth (n=1427) experiencing homelessness in 7 cities on a variety of topics, including sexual activity and PrEP knowledge, and access.

Few young people knew about PrEP, though MANY were willing to take PrEP if prescribed!

Learn more about the gap between youth who are eligible to take PrEP and the amount actually taking the medication here.

REALYST is a national collaborative of academic and community partners that uses research to inform innovative policies, programs and services aimed at ending homelessness and housing instability among young people. We believe that understanding youth homelessness helps communities create effective solutions for preventing it. Learn more at REALYST.org