WEEKDAY SERVICES - Καθημερινές Λειτουργίες:

Presanctified Liturgy - Wed., April 17, from 6:00 - 7:30PM.
followed by a Family Potluck Dinner.

Paraklesis to the Panagia Gorgoipikoos - Thurs., 4/18 at 6.
It will be the last one before Easter. Will resume on 5/16.

Akathyst Hymn to the Theotokos - Friday, April 19, at 7PM.
The women disciples of the Lord heard from the angel, the joyful news of the Resurrection and the repeal of the sentence imposed upon our forefathers. With pride they said to the Apostles, "Death is vanquished, Christ our God is risen bestowing upon the world His great mercy."

With the rivers of your tears, you have made the barren desert fertile. Through sighs of sorrow from deep within you, your labors have borne fruit a hundred-fold. By your miracles you have become a light, shining upon the world. O John, our Holy Father, pray to Christ our God, to save our souls.

To you, Theotokos, invincible Defender, having been delivered from peril, I, your city, dedicate the victory festival as a thank offering. In your irresistible might, keep me safe from all trials, that I may call out to you: "Hail, unwedded bride!"

We welcome to this celebration of the Divine Liturgy those Christians who are from other Christian Denominations and who are not fully united with us. Sadly, it is a consequence of the divisions in Christianity that we cannot extend to you an invitation to receive Holy Communion. Orthodox Christians believe that the Eucharist is the work or action of the celebrating Community signifying a oneness of faith, life, and worship of the believing Community. Reception of Holy Communion by Christians not fully united with us would imply a oneness which does not yet exist, and for which we must pray. However, all present are welcome to partake of the Antidoro (blessed bread) which is distributed at the end of the Liturgy.
Epistle Reading

O Lord, how manifold are your works. You have made all things in wisdom.
Verse: Bless the Lord, O my soul.

The reading is from St. Paul's Letter to the Hebrews 6:13-20.

BRETHREN, when God made a promise to Abraham, since he had no one greater by whom to swear, he swore to himself, saying, "Surely I will bless you and multiply you." And thus Abraham, having patiently endured, obtained the promise. Men indeed swear by a greater than themselves, and in all their disputes an oath is final for confirmation. So when God desired to show more convincingly to the heirs of the promise the unchangeable character of his purpose, he interposed with an oath, so that through two unchangeable things, in which it is impossible that God should prove false, we who have fled for refuge might have strong encouragement to seize the hope set before us. We have this as a sure and steadfast anchor of the soul, a hope that enters into the inner shrine behind the curtain, where Jesus has gone as a forerunner on our behalf, having become a high priest for ever after the order of Melchizedek.

τὸ ἀνάγνωσμα Πρὸς Ἑβραίους 6:13-20.

The Reading is from Mark 9:17-31

At that time, a man came to Jesus kneeling and saying: "Teacher, I brought my son to you, for he has a dumb spirit; and wherever it seizes him it dashes him down; and he foams and grinds his teeth and becomes rigid; and I asked your disciples to cast it out, and they were not able." And he answered them, "O faithless generation, how long am I to be with you? How long am I to bear with you? Bring him to me." And they brought the boy to him; and when the spirit saw him, immediately it convulsed the boy, and he fell on the ground and rolled about, foaming at the mouth. And Jesus asked his father, "How long has he had this?" And he said, "From childhood. And it has often cast him into the fire and into the water, to destroy him; but if you can do anything, have pity on us and help us." And Jesus said to him, "If you can! All things are possible to him who believes." Immediately the father of the child cried out and said, "I believe; help my unbelief!" And when Jesus saw that a crowd came running together, he rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it, "You dumb and deaf spirit, I command you, come out of him, and never enter him again." And after crying out and convulsing him terribly, it came out, and the boy was like a corpse; so that most of them said, "He is dead." But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose. And when he had entered the house, his disciples asked him privately, "Why could we not cast it out?" And he said to them, "This kind cannot be driven out by anything but prayer and fasting." They went on from there and passed through Galilee. And he would not have any one know it; for he was teaching his disciples, saying to them, "The Son of man will be delivered into the hands of men, and they will kill him; and when he is killed, after three days he will rise."
Saints and Feasts

April 14
Sunday of St. John Climacus

The memory of this Saint is celebrated on March 30, where his biography may be found. He is celebrated today because his book, The Ladder of Divine Ascent, is a sure guide to the ascetic life, written by a great man of prayer experienced in all forms of the monastic polity; it teaches the seeker after salvation how to lay a sound foundation for his struggles, how to detect and war against each of the passions, how to avoid the snares laid by the demons, and how to rise from the rudimental virtues to the heights of Godlike love and humility. It is held in such high esteem that it is universally read in its entirety in monasteries during the Great Fast.

Sermon

THE ASCETIC LIFE

For today's secularized man, the projection of a Holy ascetic is a problem. How can the ascetical figure of St. John, the author of the Ladder, speak, who with tears, fasting, and spiritual ascesis acquired and preserved the Grace of God? In Orthodox teaching, the ascetical life is none other than the surpassing of individualism, the effort in Grace for us to apply the commandments of God, to live the life of Jesus of Christ.

The Orthodox Ascetical Ethos

The objection of today's people that an ascetic cannot speak to man is not right, for two main reasons: First, because in the Orthodox Patristic teaching, there is no difference between the monastic and the worldly way of life, nor between unmarried and married people, but between people who have the Holy Spirit and people who don't have it. Secondly, because the way of life, as described by Holy Scripture and as the saints experience it, is ascetical. The orders "strive to enter through the narrow gate", "the Kingdom of God is taken by force and the forceful seize it", "deaden your members upon the earth", have absolute and universal force, while they refer to all of us, regardless of our place of residence and our way of life. Because, just as the salvation that Christ completed is offered to all the baptized "in the name of the life-giving and thearchic Trinity", so also the path of salvation is common to all of us.

An End Or A Means?
Because perfection is not a human work and cannot be developed and acquired only by the efforts of man’s natural capabilities, but it is a gift of the Holy Spirit, therefore ascesis in and of itself, is never an end, but only a means to obtain God's gift.

Ascesis in Orthodoxy is not a sterile duty, a faithful observance of a rigid formality, a regular propriety, a hypocritical pious appearance. Ascesis is love. Ascesis is humility. Ascesis means obedience to the Church.

It is a fact that the people of our time are unable to understand the meaning of ascesis in our lives. Even in the monastic life, phenomena are observed which reveal the basic deviation of the latest spiritual decline: the departure from the ascetical ethos.

That is why the Church very wisely over time also projects the contests of Her Saints and appoints ways of ascesis that train people's wills and convert them from the worst to the better and they strengthen us in preserving our self-awareness.

Observance of Christ's commandments is the seal and fulfillment of our effort. Without our whole-hearted response to the will of God and the fulfillment of His gospel commandments, it is impossible to cleanse ourselves from the defilement of sin and to achieve our sanctification in Christ. Some people, while not keeping the commandments, think that they believe correctly. Some again, who keep them, await the Kingdom of God as a salary that God owes them. Both are outside the truth. It is not any salaried work. "The kingdom of God is not a reward for works, but the grace of the Master prepared for faithful servants" (St. Mark the Hermits). Therefore according to the wise saying of St. Gregory Palamas, "let us guard in ourselves the Grace of God undiminished, wholly tending ourselves together in obedience, and by works, offering ourselves to God, fulfilling the holy commandments also by works, because He also gave himself for us."

Those of us who honor the Saints and Ascetics of our Church must also honor their way of life. Let us pray for this and let us strive for this.
We Welcome all who worship with us today.
