

Bodegas Biurko Gorri

D.O.C Rioja

ORGANIC

The bodega belongs to the Llorens family who also own 45 hectares of vineyards in the villages of Labraza, Viana and Bargota.

These vineyards contain a high percentage of old vines native to the area and cultivated following organic methods.

The cellar is located in a small village called Bargota, about 18 kms from Logroño lying in a rolling landscape at over 600 meters above sea level on the slopes of Mount Yoar. It is one of the last villages belonging to the Sierra de Cantabria in the north of Rioja.

Our cellar produces ORGANIC wines from grapes of Tempranillo, Garnacha and Graciano as red varieties and Viura and Sauvignon Blanc as white grapes.

We are the only wine cellar that has been chosen by the European Union on the investigation to eliminate the SO2 in wine, together with the University of Bonn (DE), the Wageningen University (NL), and coordinated by the TTZ Bremenhaven (DE), to preserve the sensory quality and shelf life of the SO2 free products.

We respect the land's natural characteristics using exclusively organic and natural fertilizers getting a balanced soil, this way we get strong strains able to resist diseases by themselves.

In the picture below, our Graciano grapes, a rare indigenous type of grape used in our wines.
