Resolution Regarding Sexual Harassment Case

U-Councilor Pooja Patel presented a resolution regarding the sexual harassment case involving Professor Sergio Verdu. The resolution specifically calls for the University to elevate its disciplinary actions against Verdu. Recently, a graduate student came forward with allegations of sexual harassment against her thesis advisor, Professor Verdu. He was found responsible for violating the University's policy on Sex Discrimination and Sexual Misconduct. The University mandated that Professor Verdu undergo an 8-hour training. While the full extent of Professor Verdu’s punishments have not been released by the University, it is known what punishments haven’t been implemented. For example, he hasn’t been terminated and his office hasn’t been relocated.

CPUC Update

U-Councilor Marcus presented an update from the CPUC. During the CPUC meeting, the following questions were discussed:
• Q1: Given that those are the lowest paid are the least likely to live within a walking distance of the University, is there a plan in place that the new parking plan for the 2019-2020 transportation plan that will take into account the needs of the commuting staff to campus on a daily basis/the requirement for staff to pay for parking?
• Q2: From Diego – In the past Princeton hosted students from crisis zones like Hurricane Katrina another Universities are taking in students from PR. Is the U considering taking students in from PR?

Some other matters discussed during the meeting include the Campus Iconography Committee, which looks for opportunities for the U to be more diverse, inclusive, and welcoming environment for all University members, the Committee on Naming, and the Princeton Histories Fund.

Puerto Rico Resolution

U-Councilor Negron-Reichard drafted a resolution pertaining to the situation in Puerto Rico in the aftermath of Hurricane Maria. More specifically, the resolution consists of policies that the Senate encourages the University to adopt as well as a call for the University to engage in direct relief efforts for Puerto Rico and the US Virgin Islands.

The resolution calls for the University to enact the following policies:
1. The Undergraduate Financial Aid Office adopts a proactive approach in reaching out to undergraduates who have been adversely affected by natural disasters.
2. The Office of Financial Aid streamlines the application for emergency tuition assistance.
3. The Vice President of Campus Life directs the relevant staff to routinely update their student information directory in order to reduce the Office’s response time in a crisis scenario.
4. The residential college’s respective Directors of Student Life (DSLs) include in their initial disaster outreach a comprehensive list of resources that are available to a student whose home has been significantly affected; if the student is to offer a response to the initial contact, the DSL will then reply in a quick and timely manner.
5. The Undergraduate Admission Office continues to improve its flexible approach with regard to delaying application deadlines and waiving application fees for applicants from adversely affected regions.
6. The University supports students who may not be able to return home by continuing to offer housing and providing subsidized meals during winter or summer recesses.
