➤ GSG Assembly Meeting

  ■ Graduate school gained 2 new assistant deans for student life
  ■ Current policy proposal priority focuses on supporting graduate students with families
    ● Process:
      ◆ Brought in faculty and students and made a proposal with points:
      ◆ 1) Provide same level of stipend for DCE students
      ◆ 2) Expand SCAR to mirror faculty and staff
      ◆ 3) Secondary care-giver leave

Ex: development of "The Undergraduate Student Government" website, took place in June of 2016
4) Increase labor and delivery coverage (graduate students currently pay about $2,000 out of pocket, even with the Student Health Plan)
5) Need-based housing subsidization
Met back with deans who presented them with their own different set of proposals
- Looking for buy-in from undergraduate student reps (i.e. item 4)

- Graduate students want opportunity to purchase guest tickets for LP

> Timeline Calendar
- Available as a web application and as a mobile device application for both iOS and Android
- University calendar dates and deadlines now integrated into undergraduate calendars
- Timeline will pull any due dates from Blackboard
  - In order for this to work, professors have to use the Blackboard Assignments feature

- Metrics
  - Timeline team communicated with RCAs on September 7th
  - Offered $5 vouchers to Witherspoon Cafe for those who downloaded the app
  - From September 7th-17th, Timeline gained 593 downloads/users
    - 45% of the Class of 2021, assuming that all new users are just the class of 2021
  - Google Analytics showed 220 searches for Timeline
- Looking to continue improving the app every 2-3 weeks (new updates)

> Class Gov’t
- elections
  - advertising general elections and not just individual candidates
- class FB pages
  - next steps:
    - once 5 class officers are elected, they should become the new moderators and administrators of the page
      - in the past it’s been Senate members
      - all other student administrators should be removed orientation leaders could manage this initially

Dean Blount--Referendum report follow-up
- willing to present at a USG meeting
- not feasible for university to share data with students
- ICC leadership turnover: Matthew Lucas is not the president of Colonial and the ICC (and a member of the Academics Committee)

VP Calhoun
- speaking to the Trustees in November
- USG could propose to have an undergraduate student on the trustee board
  - there is no precedent for this
  - Pres. Eisgruber not in support of it
    - says trustees are not meant to be representative
    - should promote the general interest of the university
    - obligation to maintaining a standard
- Student representatives from the support centers
- Discussed tragedy at Charlottesville and how Princeton is preparing to protect its community

President Eisgruber
- His goals
  - lots of planning--finishing campus plan
  - focusing on entrepreneurship
  - increasing fundraising
    - American studies
    - new residential college
  - socioeconomic diversity
    - free speech
  - investing in excellence

Updates
- Confirming Parliamentarian
- 2021 elections update
- Honor Committee Outreach
  - Can each senate member reach out to 3 people they think would be good on the committee and bring a unique experience/perspective?

SGRC Group Approval

Project Leader: Emily Chen, Aaron Sobel
Project Team Members: Maria Rojas, Andrew Li, Daniel Qian
Date: 10.07.2017

SGRC would like to recognize the following groups as new student organizations.

American Foreign Policy
Point of Contact: Jason Wee <jwee@princeton.edu>
Description: This group was previously active in the 2015-16 school year and hopes to reactivate this year with new leadership. They plan to run two publications a year, with the goal of getting an issue out by January 2018. They are also exploring opportunities of holding a foreign policy conference in the future. In the past, they’ve received hundreds of submissions, and they hope that they will be able to continue providing students with experience in foreign policy scholarship.

Italian Society
Point of Contact: Gab Montefalcone <gm9@princeton.edu>
Description: The Italian Society hopes to provide students with an opportunity to learn more about Italian culture, with particular emphasis on music, cuisine and cinema. They plan to have a cooking event every two weeks where they will cook and eat traditional Italian food. They will also have music events where people will perform Italian songs as well as parties to celebrate Italian festivities and watch soccer.

The Playwright’s Guild
Point of Contact: Jonathan Alicea <jlalicea@princeton.edu>
Description: The Playwright’s Guild hopes to provide an outlet for those interested in the production of original non-musical two-act or three-act plays. They envision producing one play per semester with the hopes of eventually expanding to two or even three (depending on membership size) plays each semester in order to give students more opportunities to see their original work take form on stage. They have already produced and performed an original two-act comedy during Spring 2017 (March 17 and 18) in the Wilson Black Box called The New Yorker’s Guide to Making Money.

The Pool Club
Point of Contact: Jai M. Amin <jamin@princeton.edu>
Description: The Pool Club hopes to provide an opportunity for weekly casual play for pool enthusiasts. They would also like to run a tournament once a semester. Overall, they aim to introduce more people to the game and create a community for students interested in pool.
Princeton Law Review
Point of Contact: Ramzie A. Fathy <rafathy@princeton.edu>
Description: Since 2014, the Princeton Law Review has been active publishing online articles sporadically. However, because the Pre-Law Society’s activity has declined, and the society recommended that the Princeton Law Review separate as its own entity so it can better promote its work. In addition to regular submissions, they plan to have 6-10 active writers and 4 editors, with each writer required to write at least one long essay per semester. Ultimately, the Princeton Law Review would like to create a large forum to share logical legal thought that is open to all lines of thought. They also hope to see this publication become a paper journal in addition to its online base.

Princeton Melee
Point of Contact: Fiona Macintosh <fgm@princeton.edu>
Description: Princeton Melee would like to increase the overall skill level and general knowledge of Super Smash Bros. Melee on Princeton’s campus, helping new players get into the game and experienced players improve even further. They would also like to promote school spirit by representing Princeton at events where they compete against other students/schools. They plan to meet at least twice a week, once for a practice session and once for a free entry tournament open to all Princeton students. In addition, they would like to coordinate joint events with the preexisting Princeton eSports club and have their own larger tournament with prizes once a semester.
