White was the cashier. Each share was valued at $100. All mortgages to the Ruckersville Banking Co. were endorsed to John H. Park, comptroller, and Chas. D. Hammond and Benj. A. White, commissioners . . . Elbert county grand jury of the 1841 March Term in their presentments deplored "The ruinous and disastrous failure of the cotton crop – the unparalleled pecuniary embarrassment of our people and particularly the unfair advantage other banks in the State were taking, but emphasized their willingness to recommend 'the notes of the bank of Ruckersville – in full confidence that the bank is and will always be able to fulfill all her engagements.'" Thomas Wanslow owned 16 shares, secured by 500 acres on the Savannah River. Selected Payments for Jemima Wansley

The annual returns as recorded in the bound volumes Annual Returns for Elbert County, Georgia are typically a summary of credits and debits for the estate during the previous year. The packets of probate records include receipts for individual accounts providing information about occupations and businesses, frequently not evident in the annual returns. Frequently the charges were written on small scraps of paper as were the receipts acknowledged by the executor. Several accounts concern Jemima Wansley's last illness including Dr. J. H. M. Barrett who attended her, Francis D. Hinton for "waiting on Jemima Wanslow from sometime in October to the twenty first of December 1858 $25⁰⁰" and her daughter Elizabeth A. Patterson for "waiting on Jemima Wansley Nine Months while sick $40.00." Ezekial Bailey charged the estate for "Making one fine coffin 18.00" for Jemima Means Wansley. The heirs of the estate also acknowledged receiving their distributive share. The records for Thomas Wansley, Sr. and Jemima Means Wansley include about 180 pages of documents. The following represents a limited sampling of the extensive information available in the probate packets. These estate records are available through FamilySearch.org.
