SLAVE HISTORY NEAR LRUCC

Little River United Church of Christ (LRUCC) was founded in 1955 by a group of Congregational members interested in establishing a church in Northern Virginia where all races could worship together. With that background, it is interesting that the present church property sits on land once owned by one of the largest slave holding families in Fairfax County prior to and at the time of the Civil War.

William Gooding owned land north and south of Little River Turnpike, and operated a famous tavern just west of LRUCC. He owned a number of slaves, some of whom are believed to be buried at the North end of the Gooding cemetery on the west side of our entrance road.

Census records show that Mr. Gooding owned 29 slaves ranging from 60 years to less than one year old in 1850. In 1860, a year before his death, he owned 24 slaves, ranging from 72 years to one year old. His son, Peter Gooding, who ran the Tavern with his father, owned 21 slaves in 1850 ranging in age from 44 years to one year. Another son, William H. Gooding, owned 22 slaves in 1850 and 1860.

Many times it is not possible to know the names of individual slaves. The 1850 and 1860 slave censuses do not list names. However, the Will of William Gooding signed on February 19, 1857, and Codicils signed December 3, 1857, and October 20, 1859, list by names the specific slaves he left to each of his children. Slaves were the legal property of their owners and, therefore, could be passed on through a will. For instance, his son Peter was to receive: “Mark, Mary and her child Jacob, Laura her daughter, Lucy her daughter, Linah, her daughter, and Leah, Ben’s wife, together with the future increase of the females of them.” Daughter Nancy Worster was to receive: “negroes Harrich, Kitty, Charles, Armistead, and Julia”, in addition to confirming “negro girl Milly” previously given to her. Son William H Gooding was given: “negroes John, Herbert, Rachel and child Emily and George, together with the future increase of the females of them”. Additional slaves were given to his daughters Maria Howard and Jane E. Coyle. The slaves given to William H. Gooding are likely to be interned north of the family cemetery.

A letter written in 1958 states that Mable Lowry, believed to the greatgranddaughter of William H. Gooding, “knows of some colored graves north of the present fence” and “she located in 1952 was marked ‘RR’ (for Rachel Rancel) a lady’s nurse she had been very closely associated with as a child. She went to her burial and ‘nearly cried my eyes out’. There was John, Rachel’s husband, Ella, her daughter, Mark Baker, Rachel’s father, and a man named Steven that she definitely knows were buried there.” These are the slaves believed to be buried at the North end of the Gooding cemetery on the west side of our entrance road.

Excerpts from letters written in 1958
(likely by daughter-in-law of Mabel H. Lowry)

The following is the lineal descent of Mrs. Mabel H. Lowry from William Gooding, died 1861, and Jane Davis Gooding, died 1857, who are buried in the private cemetery next to the VePRSCO station on Rte. 236 between Annendale and Fairview.

Mabel H. Lowry, daughter of Philip Howard and Catherine Graham Howard.

Philip Howard was the son of Samuel Howard and Mary Gooding Howard.

Marie Gooding was the daughter of William Gooding and Jane Davis Gooding.

Mrs. Lowry says she knows of some colored graves north of the present fence. One stone she and my son Michael located in 1952 was marked "R R" (for Rachel Ranell) a lady's name, she had been very closely associated with as a child. She went to her burial and "nearly cried my eyes out." There was John, Rachel's husband, Ella, her daughter, Mark Baker, Rachel's father, and a man named Steven that she definitely knows were buried there. She has not located Rachel's stone in the last few years.

When I first visited there in 1952 the portion that was undisturbed ran from 236 to the branch and further west then the present fence line. I would assume the Simmons family considered this portion they were not cultivating as the cemetery property. When the Simmons family bought the property some time between 1900 and 1905 from Mr. J. H. Crennell, there were fences around several lots; namely: an iron fence around Wm. H. Gooding's, a brick around Peter Gooding's, a white washed fence around the Seaton's, a fence around the Simmons and a white washed fence around the Howards.
