BUILDING POWER FOR THE REST OF US

OCTOBER 24-25 • HYATT REGENCY WASHINGTON ON CAPITOL HILL

400 New Jersey Avenue N.W. Washington, DC 20001
TO OUR PROGRESSIVE COMMUNITY:

Thank you for joining us for our Progressive Strategy Summit 2019 - Building Power for the Rest of Us!

We are coming together because we believe that even in the midst of a constitutional crisis, there is nothing more powerful than people power. We know that real change won’t come to Washington unless and until we listen to people fighting in Shakopee, Minnesota for Amazon to accommodate workers observing Ramadan, in Kansas City, Missouri for fair, safe and affordable housing, and in Orlando, Florida for living wages.

That’s why this Summit includes grassroots activists from all across our great nation, national advocates and strategists, and representatives from the over 100 member-strong Congressional Progressive Caucus. It’s unique to have a caucus co-chaired by a union member, Congressman Mark Pocan, and a grassroots organizer, Congresswoman Pramila Jayapal. We’ll hear from people fighting for change on the front lines and people fighting for change in the halls of Congress.

We’ll kick off with a town hall cosponsored by She the People and the Progressive Caucus Action Fund in which women of color grassroots leaders will come together with women of color leaders in Congress to discuss the work ahead to achieve racial, gender, economic, health, LGBTQ and climate justice. We’ll give awards to outstanding progressive grassroots champions and lawmakers. And we’ll keep rolling from there into important discussions about saving our democracy, building a powerful labor movement, listening to black voters, what it takes to win, and so much more.

Amidst staggering levels of corruption in Washington, we have a bold, thriving, ascendant progressive movement that puts people over profits. Since coming on board in January, I’ve been inspired by so many amazing organizers, activists, thinkers, and lawmakers. I believe this movement is what will save our nation and our planet.

Our progressive movement is built person by person, relationship by relationship, friendship by friendship. While you’re here, I hope you take the time to meet someone new. And, if you don’t know them yet, please introduce yourself to our fantastic team! We’re eager to get to know you! Thank you for being here, and thank you for your support. We look forward to hearing your ideas and plans to build power for the rest of us!

In solidarity,

Liz Watson

COMMUNITY RESPONSIBILITIES

CREATING A RESPECTFUL AND INCLUSIVE SUMMIT EXPERIENCE

We want to provide a respectful and inclusive environment for summit participants. We ask all participants to behave and act respectfully toward each other, and we welcome all participants regardless of sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, nationality, ethnicity, religion, age, physical limitation, mental disability, language, family status, immigration status, or economic status.

We will not accept:
• Personal attacks or put-downs;
• Hostility, threats, violence or harassment; or
• Racist, sexist, xenophobic, homophobic, transphobic, ableist, ageist, or otherwise discriminatory language or behavior.

We do not tolerate harassment of Summit participants in any form. Sexual language and imagery is not appropriate for any summit venue, including talks, workshops, parties, Twitter and other online media. Participants violating these rules may be sanctioned or expelled without a refund at the sole discretion of the Summit organizers.

Wear Your Badge at All Times
Wearing your badge at all times helps us maintain security and safety for all participants. You will be asked to leave if you do not have your badge. If you lose your badge, please visit the registration table to obtain a temporary replacement badge.

Reporting and Complaint Procedure
If you need to report an incident, inappropriate behavior or harassment, please find a staff member as soon as you safely can. You can reach our onsite security team by texting/calling (845) 625-3725.

Notice of Filming and Photography
When you enter the Progressive Strategy Summit, you enter an area where photography and audio and video recording may occur. This is a reminder that when you registered for our summit, you signed a Photo and Video Release Form. That release is included here:

I hereby grant the CPC Center, PCAF and affiliated partners and media permission to use my likeness in a photograph, video or other digital media ("photo") in any and all of its publication, including web-based publications and video, without payment or other consideration.

2:30-4:00 PM

Work Session Breakouts

Health Care and Reproductive Justice: From Defending Access to Guaranteeing Care
Room: Congressional B

Progressives have successfully shifted the debate around health care over the last decade. More Americans see health care as a basic right, support a woman's right to choose, and oppose Big Pharma profits at the expense of patients. The challenge now is to translate general support for our values into legislative victories on Medicare for All, reproductive rights, and prescription drug affordability. In this session, we will work across campaigns to strategize on how we come together effectively and cohesively as a progressive movement to guarantee quality, comprehensive health care for every American.

Moderator: Jennifer Epps-Addison, Center for Popular Democracy

Featuring: Rep. Pramila Jayapal, CPC Co-Chair; Gretchen Borchelt, National Women's Law Center; Kristy Fogle, MMS, PA-C, Maryland Progressive Healthcare Coalition; Ysie Garcia, Planned Parenthood Federation of America; Heather Irons, Planned Parenthood Federation of America; Jen Kimmich, Business for Medicare for All; Destiny Lopez, All Above All; Sameena Mustafa, Jane Addams Senior Caucus; Sara Outterson, Center for Reproductive Rights; Jessi Leigh Swenson, National Partnership for Women & Families; Amirah Sequeira, National Nurses United; Shaunna Thomas, UltraViolet; Sanjeev Sriram, MD, MPH, Social Security Works; Robert Weissman, Public Citizen; Jennifer Wells, West Virginia Healthy Kids and Families Coalition*
From the Shop Floor to the House Floor: Bringing Lessons from the Picket Lines into Policy Debates

A hallmark of the progressive movement is a belief that the experiences and needs of working people should animate our policy and politics. This session will bring together organizers, policy makers, labor leaders, advocates, and activists to discuss our shared goals of rebalancing our economy to achieve racial, gender, and economic justice. Bank workers from Santander and Wells Fargo, women working at Walmart, warehouse workers at Amazon, federal contract workers, and striking UAW workers will describe their campaign goals. Special guest members of Congress and national policy leaders will have the opportunity to describe the change they’re fighting for in Washington and recent progress building worker power through legislative campaigns. Some of the questions that may be addressed include: How do we achieve better alignment between policy in Washington and people organizing on the front lines? What are the gaps in existing legislation that need to be filled to support working people in a rapidly changing economy? What are the steps we need to take to rein in corporate power, beyond traditional labor legislation? How does the legislation currently on offer build worker power and achieve racial, economic and gender justice?

Moderator: Dorian Warren, Community Change

Featuring: Rep. Donald Norcross; Rep. Mark Pocan, CPC Co-Chair; Rep. Mark Takano; Randy Bryce; Emily Chatterjee, Leadership Conference on Civil & Human Rights; Jaya Chatterjee, Service Employees International Union; Judy Conti, National Employment Law Project; Andrea Dehlendorf, United for Respect; Vasudha Desikan United for Respect; Jasmine Dixon, United for Respect; Richard Eidlin, American Sustainable Business Council; Joseph Geevarghese, Our Revolution; Terrysa Guerra, United for Respect; Desiree Hoffman, United Automobile Workers; Shane Larson, Communications Workers of America; David Madland, Center for American Progress; Emily Martin, National Women’s Law Center; Michelle McGrain, National Partnership from Women & Families; Guled Mohamad, United for Respect; Josh Nassar, United Automobile Workers; Jackie Parncutt, United Auto Workers, General Motors worker; Dania Rajendra, United for Respect; Larriese Reeves, Santander Bank worker; Alex Ross, Wells Fargo worker; Bill Samuel, American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations; Heidi Shierholz, Economic Policy Institute

Build Better: Climate Justice, Equity and Infrastructure

This work session explores community-led infrastructure policy to address the climate crisis, invest in communities on the front lines of environmental racism, and build family-sustaining union jobs for the next generation.

Moderator: Jessica Eckdish, BlueGreen Alliance

Featuring: Rep. Deb Haaland; Rep. Mike Levin; Sen. Gustavo Petro, Senate of the Republic of Colombia; Celeste Arredondo-Peterson, Texas Organizing Project; Jon Barton, Service Employees International Union; Ben Beachy, Sierra Club Ben Beachy, Sierra Club; Jane Fonda, Actress & Activist; Judith LeBlanc, Native Organizers Alliance; Mary Metzmeier, Communities United for Action (CUFA); Collette Pichon Battle, Gulf Coast Center for Law & Policy; Liz Schuster, Food and Water Watch; Ann Shikany, Natural Resources Defense Council; Jeff Soth, International Union of Operating Engineers; Kerene Taylor, WE ACT for Environmental Justice; Elder Donell Raglin, Communities United for Action; Anthony Rogers-Wright, Climate Justice Alliance; Evan Weber, Sunrise Movement

Leading with our Values: Progressive Foreign Policy

As the U.S. approaches two decades in Afghanistan, nuclear weapons treaties expire, and we face global challenges from the refugee crisis to climate change, progressives need a clear vision for foreign policy. In this session, we will discuss the principles of a progressive foreign policy and then translate those principles into specific legislative fights on defense spending, war powers, and use of diplomacy.

Moderator: Katrina vanden Heuvel, The Nation

Featuring: Rep. Ro Khanna; Rep. Ilhan Omar; Rep. Nydia Velázquez; Andrew Albertson, Foreign Policy for America; Bashar Aziz, Palestine National Council; Toby Chow, People’s Action; William Hartung, Center for International Policy; Lindsay Koshgarian, Institute for Policy Studies; Stephen Miles, Win Without War; Fida Nara, Mahapach-Taghrir; Trita Parsi, Quincy Institute; Yael Patir, J Street; Jeffrey Sachs, Columbia University; Yifat Susskind, MADRE; Cecili Thompson Williams, Beyond the Bomb; Mark Weisbrot, Center for Economic and Policy Research; James Zogby, Arab American Institute, Our Revolution

Rebalancing Our Democracy  Room: Concord

Repressive voting laws. Redistricting. Dark money. Democracy is under attack. Join us as we discuss efforts to ensure that everyone’s voice is heard and we place the people’s interests ahead of special interests.

Moderator: Deirdre Schifeling, Democracy for All 2021

Featuring: Rep. Sheila Jackson Lee; Rep. Jamie Raskin; Ashley Allison, Leadership Conference on Civil & Human Rights; Lisa Cylar Barrett, NAACP Legal Defense Fund; Lisa Gilbert, Public Citizen; Meagan Hatcher-Mays, Indivisible; Bret Healy, Four Directions; Daniel Schuman, Demand Progress; Bo Shuff, DC Vote; Anisha Singh, Planned Parenthood Federation of America; Laura Williamson, Demos

Who We Are: Countering White Nationalism, Xenophobia and the Trump Administration’s Attacks on Immigrant Communities  Room: Columbia Foyer

History will judge us by how we respond to family separation, the Muslim Ban, mass raids on immigrant communities, the criminalization of asylum-seekers and refugees, and a staggering rise in hate crimes. The progressive movement must respond to these crises with an unequivocal and unwavering demand for an end to these human rights abuses, while simultaneously putting forward a vision for a compassionate, just immigration policy. Together, we will take a deep dive on messaging that works on immigration in the midst of a 2020 campaign where Trump and his extremist supporters are trying to weaponize the issue. Then, we will explore a pro-active agenda on immigration and ending white nationalist violence.

Moderator: Avideh Moussavian, National Immigration Law Center

Featuring: Rep. Yvette Clarke; Rep. Jimmy Gomez; Sanaa Abrar, United We Dream; Heidi Altman, National Immigrant Justice Center; Mehrdad Azemun, People's Action; Amy Fischer, Detention Watch Network; Jennifer Johnson, Southern Border Communities Coalition; Rabbi Jason Kimelman-Block, Bend the Arc Jewish Action; Jess Morales Rocketto, Families Belong Together; Carmen Orozco-Acosta, Community Change; Mireya Reith, Arkansas United; Adrian Reyna, United We Dream; Scott Simpson, Muslim Advocates; Mary Small, Indivisible

Tell Your Story, Change the World: Communications Workshop  Room: Bunker Hill

Sometimes facts, statistics, and logic just aren't enough to change minds. We win when we can convey complex ideas, simply, and from the heart. Join us for an interactive training and workshop on story-telling, changing the narrative and improving your communications skills. Bring your toughest communications challenges!

Trainers: Reggie Hubbard, MoveOn; Roger Wolfson, Writers Action Group

Democratic Attorneys General Protecting the Progressive Agenda During the Trump Era

With Congress stuck in partisan gridlock and a President who clearly hasn’t read the Constitution, Democratic Attorneys General are on the front lines effectively protecting the progressive agenda. Together, Democratic AGs are leading the resistance on issues ranging from criminal justice reform to immigration to labor rights. Holding bad actors accountable is the name of the game—and Democratic AGs are WINNING in court. This previously under-the-radar office is front and center—and there are critical races ahead in 2019 and 2020. Take it right from the source! This panel brings together leaders and partners from the most diverse coalition of Democratic AGs in history to talk about how they are working together like never before to protect progress and defend our most vulnerable communities.

Speakers: Minnesota Attorney General Keith Ellison; Delaware Attorney General Kathy Jennings; Maryland Attorney General Brian Frosh

Afua Atta-Mensah, Community Voices Heard

Afua Atta-Mensah is the Executive Director of Community Voices Heard (CVH). CVH is a member-led, multi-racial organization principally comprised of women of color and low-income families across New York State. CVH tackles tough issues and builds power to secure racial, social and economic justice for all New Yorkers. Founded in 1994 by welfare recipients in New York City working to fight unjust welfare policies, we have since expanded our organization to include working on multiple issues throughout New York State. Our core organizing issues include fighting for a just social safety net, good jobs and access to them, truly affordable housing, sustainable and resilient communities, and a participatory democracy.

Dr. Mustafa Santiago Ali, National Wildlife Federation

A renowned thought leader, international speaker, policy maker, community liaison, trainer, and facilitator, Dr. Mustafa Santiago Ali serves as the Vice President of Environmental Justice, Climate, and Community Revitalization for the National Wildlife Federation. He is also the founder of Revitalization Strategies, a business focused on moving our most vulnerable communities from “surviving to thriving.” Before joining the National Wildlife Federation, Mustafa was the senior vice president for the Hip Hop Caucus, a national non-profit and non-partisan organization that connects the hip-hop community to the civic process. Prior to the Hip Hop Caucus, Mustafa worked for 24 years at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Aimee Allison, She The People

Aimee Allison is the founder and president of She The People, the national network elevating the political voice and power of women of color. By bringing together the nation’s top women of color candidates, strategists, and movement leaders, Ms. Allison is one of the primary architects for the electoral successes in 2018 that made it the “year of women of color in politics.”

Sarah Anderson, Institute for Policy Studies

Sarah Anderson directs the Global Economy Project at the Institute for Policy Studies and is a co-editor of the IPS web site Inequality.org. Sarah’s research covers a wide range of international and domestic economic issues, including inequality, Wall Street reform, CEO pay, taxes, labor, and international trade and investment. Sarah is a well-known expert on executive compensation, as the lead author of more than 20 annual “Executive Excess” reports that have received extensive media coverage.

Mehrdad Azemun, People’s Action

Mehrdad Azemun has nearly 20 years of experience running electoral and legislative campaigns with grassroots leaders at the local, state, and national level. His roots are in the immigrants rights movement and community organizing. He is Senior Strategist for People’s Action, an economic and racial justice organization working in 30 states, and is helping lead their Deep Canvass on immigration. He has run the grassroots organizing operations for 2 different national immigration reform campaigns. Mehrdad is an immigrant from Iran.

Dr. Rachel Bitecofer, Wason Center for Public Policy at Christopher Newport University

Rachel Bitecofer is an election forecaster and analyst whose work is featured in media outlets such as MSNBC, The New York Times, the Washington Post, USA Today, Politico, The Hill, and Salon. She is the assistant director of the Wason Center for Public Policy at Christopher Newport University, where she teaches classes on political behavior, campaigns, elections, and political analysis. Her forecasting model, known as the Negative Partisanship Model, accurately predicted Democrats’ 40 seat gain in the House months before Election Day and Lawrence O’Donnell introduced his Last Word audience to her 2020 forecast by saying it “changed the way he thought about the presidential election.”

Robert Borosage, CPC Center Board Chair

Robert Borosage is the founder and co-director of the Campaign for America’s Future and president of its sister Institute for America’s Future. A contributing editor to the Nation Magazine, his articles have appeared in the Washington Post, New York Times, American Prospect, Los Angeles Times and elsewhere. He has formerly served as the founder and director of the Center for National Security Studies, the director of the Institute of Policy Studies and the Campaign for NewPriorities. He now serves as chair of the Congressional Progressive Caucus Center. He is a graduate of Yale Law School.

Nicole Brener-Schmitz, NBS Strategies

Nicole Brener-Schmitz began her political career as a part of EMILY’s List Campaign Corp, sent out to run a state senate race in Oregon. Following that she worked on the Hill for her hometown Congressman, Brian Baird. In 2008, Nicole began at International Brotherhood of Teamsters Union as an Election Project Coordinator, eventually becoming the Political Director. There, she developed and executed the political goals of the union, fighting for American working families to have equal pay, fair trade, pension protections, safe workplaces, and collective bargaining. Most recently she was the National Political Director of NARAL. Currently Nicole has her own consultancy, NBS Strategies. Over her career as a consultant, she worked for several organizations, including the Democratic Legislative Campaign Committee, EMILY’s List, End Citizens United, Communication Workers of America, Sierra Club, and Citizens Trade Campaign. Nicole is a 2006 graduate of Whitman College.
LaTosha Brown is an award winning southern organizer, political strategist, thought leader and jazz singer. She is co-founder of the Black Voters Matter Fund and the BVM Capacity Building Institute. She is a current Resident Fellow of Harvard’s Institute of Politics and board member of the Congressional Progressive Caucus Center. She has over 25 years of organizing experience around social justice, political empowerment and expanding democracy.

Emily Chatterjee is senior counsel at The Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights and The Leadership Conference Education Fund. She leads the economic security team at The Leadership Conference and also serves as an expert on legislative strategy on a wide range of policy issues, including democracy reform. Ms. Chatterjee previously worked at the National Asian Pacific American Bar Association (NAPABA), the American Constitution Society for Law and Policy (ACS), and as an associate at the law firm Heller Ehrman LLP, where she was a member of the Antitrust & Trade Regulation and Complex Commercial Litigation Groups. Ms. Chatterjee is a graduate of the University of Chicago Law School and Brown University.

Frank Clemente founded and has been the executive director of Americans for Tax Fairness since 2012. Previously, he was campaign manager for the Strengthen Social Security Campaign; managed a health care campaign for the Communications Workers of America in support of the Affordable Care Act; was issue campaigns director at the Change to Win Labor Federation; was director of Public Citizen’s Congress Watch; served as senior policy advisor to the U.S. House Committee on Government Operations; and was issues director for Jesse Jackson’s 1988 presidential campaign.

Sakira Cook is director of the justice reform program of The Leadership Conference on Civil and Human Rights and The Leadership Conference Education Fund. At The Leadership Conference and The Education Fund, Cook leads the development of the justice reform programs policy agenda and coordinates the programs communications, organizing, and policy advocacy strategies for a broad coalition of civil and human rights groups. Cook is also engaged in human rights advocacy at the United Nations and with the federal government, including promoting the U.S. ratification of important human rights treaties, monitoring domestic implementation of U.S. human rights commitments under the Universal Periodic Review, Convention on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination and International Covenant on Civil Political Rights, and advancing the established goals and outcomes of the International Decade for People of African Descent.

Lisa Donner is the Executive Director of Americans for Financial Reform (AFR) and the AFR Education Fund, coalitions including more than 200 national, state, and local groups working together to change a financial system that undermines economic and racial justice, rather than contributing to it. Earlier, Lisa was the Executive Director of the Half in Ten campaign; the co-director of the Center for Working Families, where she developed and promoted policy on fair taxes, work and family, and green jobs; and a community and labor organizer and strategist, including many years of work fighting predatory lending.

Indivar Dutta-Gupta is Co-Executive Director at the Georgetown Center on Poverty & Inequality where he leads work to develop and advance ideas for reducing domestic poverty and economic inequality, with particular attention to gender and racial equity. Indivar also serves on the boards of directors for the National Academy of Social Insurance and Indivisible Civics (501c3). He has previously worked at the Center for American Progress, U.S. House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee, and the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities.

Jessica Eckdish is the Legislative Director with the BlueGreen Alliance, where she directs BGA’s legislative, policy, and partnerships efforts in Washington, D.C. Her portfolio includes climate, energy, and infrastructure issues. Jessica joined the BlueGreen Alliance from the Sierra Club, where, as Washington Representative, she managed the Club’s legislative and administrative advocacy to secure and defend strong public health protections. She holds a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and International Relations from UC Santa Barbara and a Master of Arts in Global Environmental Policy from the School of International Service at American University.

| Minnesota Attorney General Keith Ellison |
| Keith Ellison was sworn in as Minnesota's 30th attorney general on January 7, 2019. As the People's Lawyer, Attorney General Ellison's job is to help Minnesotans afford their lives and live with dignity, safety, and respect. From 2007 to 2019, Keith Ellison represented Minnesota's 5th Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives, where he championed consumer, worker, environmental, and civil- and human-rights protections for Minnesotans. He served for 12 years on the House Financial Services Committee, where he helped oversee the financial services industry, the housing industry, and Wall Street, among others. While in Congress, he founded the Congressional Antitrust Caucus and the Congressional Consumer Justice Caucus. He also served as co-chair of the Congressional Progressive Caucus, which he helped build to more than 100 members. Before being elected to Congress, Attorney General Ellison served four years in the Minnesota House of Representatives. Prior to entering elective office, he spent 16 years as an attorney specializing in civil-rights and defense law, including five years as executive director of the Legal Rights Center. |
| Jennifer Epps-Addison, Center for Popular Democracy |
| Jennifer Epps-Addison serves as the President and Co-Executive Director of the Center for Popular Democracy and CPD Action's network of 49 partner organizations in 33 states. As President, Jennifer leads CPD's racial justice campaigns, and works closely with its network of local affiliates. Jennifer boasts over 15 years of community organizing experience, advancing systems-change campaigns for economic and racial justice. Prior to joining CPD, Epps-Addison was the Chief Program Officer for the Liberty Hill Foundation, a social justice foundation in Los Angeles that funds grassroots community organizing campaigns for social change. |
| Rahna Epting, MoveOn |
| Rahna Epting is the Executive Director of MoveOn, the member-led grassroots progressive organization working to make this country a place where everyone can thrive. Rahna leads both MoveOn Civic Action, which works to advance progressive policies and social change, and MoveOn Political Action, which works to elect candidates who are committed to standing up for an inclusive, progressive agenda. Rahna has led issue and electoral campaigning at MoveOn in the Chief of Program and Election Program Managing Director roles. Previously, she served as Chief of Staff at Every Voice, where she managed state and national campaigns to make democracy work for everyone. |
| President Lily Eskelsen Garcia, National Education Association |
| Lily Eskelsen Garcia is president of the National Education Association, the nation's largest labor union. Lily began her career in education as a school lunch lady and now leads a professional association of three million educators. She is the first Latina to lead the NEA and one of the country's most influential Hispanic educators. Prior to assuming the top post, Lily served two terms as NEA Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer. Her new role is an extension of her teaching days in Utah. She was named Utah Teacher of the Year in 1989 after nine years in the classroom. She also worked with homeless children and gifted children; as a mentor for student teachers; and as a peer assistance team leader at Orchard Elementary School in the suburbs of Salt Lake City. |
| Jane Fonda, Actress & Activist |
| Jane Fonda is an actress and activist who has starred in the acclaimed films Klute and Coming Home, winning Oscars for both. Off screen, she was a civil rights and anti-war activist. She founded The GA Campaign for Adolescent Power & Potential in 1995. Fonda has long been known for activism and advocacy on environmental issues, human rights, and the empowerment of women and girls. In 2004, she helped found the Women's Media Center with Gloria Steinem and Robin Morgan and is on the board. She also sits on the board of Homeboy Industries, a non-profit dedicated to supporting people who were previously gang-involved or incarcerated, as well as the board of V-Day: Until The Violence Stops, a global effort to stop violence against women. |
| Kristin Ford, NARAL Pro-Choice America |
| Kristin Ford is National Communications Director at NARAL Pro-Choice America. She is a seasoned political strategist and communications and digital advocacy professional who previously served as Senior Advisor to Public Private Strategies and founded Full Scale Strategies, a consulting firm offering savvy messaging, political analysis, organizational development, and project management services to progressive organizations and candidates. Kristin previously served as Vice President for Communications at The Impact Project, National Communications Director at the Alliance for Safety and Justice, and Deputy Communications Director and Speechwriter for then-Attorney General Kamala Harris. She holds a B.A. from the University of Pennsylvania and lives in Arlington, Virginia with her family. |
| Maryland Attorney General Brian Frosh |
| Brian Frosh was elected as Maryland's 46th Attorney General in November 2014, and has been committed to serving as the “people’s lawyer” ever since, applying the law to improve lives and bring fairness, equality, and justice to all Marylanders. As Attorney General, Frosh has been able to use his position to proactively help consumers and deny special interests and big corporations the opportunity to prey on working people. He has stood up for young people and seniors, taking initiative to protect both vulnerable populations from fraud and abuse. Frosh has been a leader in getting assault weapons and other dangerous firearms taken out of circulation. He is also focused on expanding educational and economic opportunities and supporting effective rehabilitation and prisoner reentry programs. |
| Fernando Garcia, Border Network for Human Rights |
| Fernando Garcia is the Founding Director of the Border Network for Human Rights (BNHR). Garcia was born in Mexico City and studied archeology and journalism at the Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico (UNAM). His early life, education, and migration would serve as the foundations for BNHR. BNHR has its beginnings in 1998, when the Border Rights Coalition (the predecessor of BNHR) in El Paso and the Law Enforcement Monitoring Project were formed. Since then, BNHR has spent the last 21 years fighting for human rights in the border region through its unique community approach. Garcia has successfully directed border campaigns focusing on human rights, including border enforcement accountability, which has resulted, and can be seen reflected in, HR 2203. |
Alicia Garza, Black Futures Lab
Alicia Garza founded the Black Futures Lab to make Black communities powerful in politics. In 2018, the Black Futures Lab conducted the largest survey of Black communities in over 150 years. Alicia believes that Black communities deserve what all communities deserve -- to be powerful in every aspect of their lives. An innovator, strategist, organizer, and cheeseburger enthusiast, she is the co-creator of BlackLivesMatter and the Black Lives Matter Global Network, an international organizing project to end state violence and oppression against Black people. The Black Lives Matter Global Network now has 40 chapters in 4 countries. Alicia serves as the Strategy & Partnerships Director for the National Domestic Workers Alliance, the nation’s premier voice for millions of domestic workers in the United States. She is also the co-founder of Supermajority, a new home for women’s activism. She shares her thoughts on the women transforming power in Marie Claire magazine every month. Her forthcoming book, tentatively titled #BlackLivesMatter: How to Turn a Hashtag Into a Movement will be published in 2020, and she warns you - hashtags don’t start movements. People do.

Fatima Goss Graves, National Women's Law Center
Ms. Goss Graves has served in numerous roles at the National Women’s Law Center for more than a decade and has a distinguished track record working across a broad set of issues central to women’s lives - including income security, health and reproductive rights, education access, and workplace justice. Ms. Goss Graves is currently overseeing the Center’s administration of the Time’s Up Legal Defense Fund, which connects those who experience sexual misconduct in the workplace or in trying to advance their careers with legal and public relations assistance. Prior to becoming CEO and President, she served as the Center’s Senior Vice President for Program, where she led the organization’s broad program agenda. Prior to that, as the Center’s Vice President for Education and Employment, she led the Center’s anti-discrimination initiatives.

Adam Green, Progressive Change Institute
Adam Green, Co-Founder of the Progressive Change Campaign Committee (PCCC) and the Progressive Change Institute (c3). Previously, he worked as Director of Strategic Campaigns and Civic Communications Director for MoveOn.org, served as the Democratic National Committee’s press secretary in Oregon for the 2004 presidential campaign, communications director for the New Jersey Democratic Party in 2003, and press secretary for the top winning Democratic U.S. Senate race of 2002. He has a law degree from the University of Virginia and is a frequent contributor on both MSNBC and CNN.

Steven Greenhouse, Author & Journalist
Steven Greenhouse was a reporter for The New York Times for 31 years and spent his last 19 years there as its labor and workplace reporter before retiring from there in late 2014. Before covering labor, he served as a Times economics reporter in Chicago, Paris, and Washington, D.C. His new book, Beaten Down, Worked Up: The Past, Present, and Future of American Labor, was published in August and examines the rise of unions and how they helped build a fairer, more democratic America, while also exploring strategies - like the #RedForEd teacher strikes and the Fight for $15 -- that show how to re-empower America’s workers and strengthen the nation’s unions.

Katrina vanden Heuvel, The Nation

Reggie Hubbard, MoveOn
Reggie Hubbard is a recovering political activist who discovered yoga at the suggestion of a great friend for stress reduction and to try something new. His teaching and personal practices have given him tremendous equanimity and clarity, an essential ingredient to his success at MoveOn working as head of the DC operation with a focus on Capitol Hill during the height of the resistance to the Trump Administration. His classes will leave you feeling lighter and more grounded with an enduring sense of calm. His classes are available to students of all levels, the only requirement is to have an open, curious mind and a sense of humor.

Delaware Attorney General Kathy Jennings
Attorney General Kathy Jennings serves as Delaware’s 46th Attorney General. Previously, Kathy served as Chief Administrative Officer of New Castle County. During that time Kathy concurrently served as the County’s Public Safety Director, overseeing the New Castle County Police Department, Paramedics and 911 Communications. As State Prosecutor, Kathy successfully sought legislation to end mandatory life sentences for people convicted of drug crimes and to restore driving privileges for people with drug convictions to enable them to work. Kathy worked with others to form the Crime Strategies Unit, whose focus is to engage with communities hardest hit by violent crime to solve problems and restore trust. Kathy also formulated Delaware’s model policy for police worn body cameras and to provide Narcan to police agencies statewide. As Delaware’s Attorney General, Kathy Jennings is focused on making the justice system fair and equal for everyone and combating the opioid epidemic.

Celinda Lake, Lake Research Partners
Celinda Lake is the President of Lake Research Partners, and one of the Democratic Party’s leading political strategists, serving as tactician and senior advisor to the national party committees, dozens of Democratic incumbents, and challengers at all levels of the electoral process. Celinda and her firm have worked for a number of institutions including the DNC, the Democratic Governor’s Association, Next Generation, AFL-CIO, SEIU, AFSCME, NEA, AFT, IAFF, Sierra Club, EcoAmerica, Planned Parenthood, Human Rights Campaign, EMILY’s List, the Kaiser Family Foundation and The RWJ Foundation. Celinda is one of the nation’s foremost experts on electing women candidates and on framing issues to women voters.
Valarie Long is an International Executive Vice President of the Service Employees International Union. She leads the Property Services Division which represents more than 386,000 janitors, security officers, airport workers, food service, light manufacturing, laundry and maintenance workers throughout North America. Long brings more than 30 years of organizing and leadership development experience to her role. From organizing her own worksite to being one of the pioneers in the model of organizing citywide master agreements to win better wages, benefits, working conditions and full-time hours for a largely Latino, immigrant and subcontracted workforce as part of the Justice for Janitors campaign, she understands the importance of working people standing together to win.

Thea Lee, Economic Policy Institute

As President of EPI, Thea Lee is expanding EPI’s reach through engagement with the states and with progressive organizers. Before EPI, Thea was at AFL-CIO, where she built a long track record of conducting rigorous economic research, overseeing an ambitious policy agenda, and helping steer a large organization through change. Lee has spent her career advocating on behalf of working families in national policy debates on issues such as wage inequality, workers’ rights, and fair trade. Lee has been a voice for workers in testimony before congressional committees and in television appearances—including on PBS News Hour, Good Morning America, NPR’s All Things Considered and Marketplace, Fox Business, and the PBS documentary Commanding Heights. She has also served on the State Department Advisory Committee on International Economic Policy, the Export-Import Bank Advisory Committee, and the Board of Directors of the National Bureau of Economic Research, among others.

Ezra Levin, Indivisible

Ezra Levin is a co-founder and co-Executive Director of the Indivisible Project. Previously, Ezra worked as a poverty policy wonk and advocate, most recently as the Associate Director of Federal Policy at Prosperity Now. He was Deputy Policy Director for Congressman Lloyd Doggett and an AmeriCorps VISTA in the Homeless Services Division of the San Jose Housing Department. He holds a bachelor’s degree from Carleton College and a master’s in public affairs from the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University.

Valarie Long, Service Employees International Union

Valarie Long is an International Executive Vice President of the Service Employees International Union. She leads the Property Services Division which represents more than 386,000 janitors, security officers, airport workers, food service, light manufacturing, laundry and maintenance workers throughout North America. Teria Moore-Berry, United for Respect

Teria Moore-Berry, United for Respect Leader and former Toys “R” Us employee from Ypsilanti, MI, lost her job in 2018 when the company was driven to bankruptcy by Wall Street private equity firms. Working in retail hasn’t been easy for Teria: she’s experienced earning less than coworkers, forced to work through illness and pain because lack of healthcare, and was without a driver’s license for a long time because she couldn’t afford the fees or take time from work for the driver’s test. Teria is now fighting alongside other retail working families to hold Wall Street accountable and fight for an economy that works for everyone.

Maria Moreno, Restaurant Opportunities Centers United

Maria Moreno is a San Francisco Bay Area transplant, previously undocumented immigrant and activist. She was born in Venezuela, raised in Miami, and has lived all over the US. She has been working in the restaurant industry for nine years and as an advocate in the labor movement for three.

Avideh Moussavian, National Immigration Law Center

Avideh Moussavian’s advocacy at NILC focuses on reducing the vulnerability of low-income immigrants to deportation on account of their race, class, or gender. She has previously worked an immigration reform advocacy and state and local enforcement issues at the New York Immigration Coalition and directly represented immigrant victims of gender-based violence at Sanctuary for Families in New York City, including those in detention. She has served on the board of Families for Freedom, an anti-deportation community organizing network in New York City, and as a visiting professional with the Office of Public Counsel for Defense at the International Criminal Court. She holds a juris doctor from Boston University School of Law and a bachelor of arts from Columbia University.
Tiffany Muller, End Citizens United
Tiffany Muller has helped grow End Citizens United (ECU) from a start-up into a nationwide organization with more than 4 million members and 500,000 grassroots donors. The group has elevated the issue of reform as a national priority and spearheaded the movement among candidates to forgo corporate PAC money. Last cycle, under Tiffany’s leadership, ECU helped elect 58 new Democrats to the House of Representatives and paved the way for the introduction and House passage of the For the People Act - the most comprehensive anti-corruption and reform legislation in a generation.

Kate Hess Pace, Hoosier Action
Kate Hess Pace is the Founding Director of Hoosier Action. Hoosier Action envisions an Indiana where everyday Hoosiers have the power to shape and connect our communities around the issues and values that matter to us.
