Montana workers filed 10 representation cases with the National Labor Relations Board in FY22, an increase of 67% compared to the previous fiscal year.
Montana workers filed 79 unfair labor practice charges against employers, an increase of 23% compared to the previous fiscal year.
Among all states and territories, Montana workers ranked 30th in representation cases and 30th in unfair labor practice charges at the NLRB.

Unfair labor practices (ULP) include, but are not limited to, firing employees for organizing a union, retaliating against workers for supporting a union, or refusing to bargain with an established union.

Representation cases are petitions for the NLRB to conduct an election in which employees vote on whether to unionize and bargain collectively with their employer. Employees, employers, and unions may file these petitions.
