At PrideInn Paradise Beach Resort
MESSAGE FROM IFPSM PRESIDENT

This year’s IFPSM World Summit comes to Africa for the first time. We thank our hosts Kenya Institute of Supplies Management for hosting this year’s edition.

Under the theme “Sustainable Procurement and Supply Chain Practices for the 21st Century”, the keynote speakers will offer many opportunities for you all to consider new thinking and initiatives to support your own and your organisation’s development by learning from colleagues across the world.

IFPSM has partnered with KISM to deliver a unique experience for all delegates and we have structured the event so that you may all enjoy discovering Kenya. In partnership with our fantastic hosts, we have also designed a superb social programme which of course is absolutely vital for you to network with your colleagues from within our global profession and share your expertise and knowledge.

This event will allow you to make new friends, while enjoying their company, both professionally and sociably. The programme and coordination of the World Summit would not have been possible without the dedication of a superb project team and the full support and leadership of KISM, our hosts. My personal thanks go to the leadership of KISM and their dedicated team, who together with the Board and Secretariat of IFPSM, will ensure that you enjoy a great conference and exhibition. The IFPSM vision is to “Provide international leadership and facilitate the development of the procurement and supply management profession wherever it is practiced through our network of members organisations”.

A key component of the IFPSM vision and our strategy to achieve this objective is the IFPSM World Summit that is now an annual event, where many hundreds of individuals meet to learn and share from each other in a true fellowship of nations and individuals. My vision for IFPSM and indeed the whole profession is for us together, to maximise our individual organisations and indeed our national potential to the benefit of all. I am very confident that IFPSM will continue to grow and become even more influential within our global profession and also develop new products and services that add value to our community.
MESSAGE FROM KISM CHAIRMAN

ENG. CHRIS OANDA
CHAIRMAN
KENYA INSTITUTE OF SUPPLIES MANAGEMENT,
IFPSM REGIONAL VICE PRESIDENT

KISM is honoured that the IFPSM Board endorsed our bid to host this Summit for many reasons, but two of these reasons stand out prominently. The first is that the IFPSM recognized our potential to host a uniquely memorable event. The second is that it placed Kenya at the centre of global conversations on sustainable procurement by being the first African nation to host the IFPSM World Summit.

Since this endorsement KISM, with support from the IFPSM, has worked diligently to create a unique event in Mombasa, which has for centuries been viewed as the gateway to Africa. It is therefore befitting that Mombasa, the home of the 400-year-old Fort Jesus, should be the venue where thematic discussions on “Sustainable Procurement and Supply Chain Practices for the 21st Century” take place.

This Summit has been enthusiastically owned and embraced by our Kenyan supply chain and procurement practitioners who have turned up in large numbers being the chief hosts to our International and Regional delegates from more than 20 countries. The hosting of this event confirms that KISM has come of age at the global arena.

On the commercial front, Kenya is uniquely positioned as a gateway to east, central and southern African countries - bringing together a market of close to 500 million people. For all our delegates and guests, being in Mombasa presents an opportunity for you to learn and share best practices in a way that will ensure that our professional practice in the region remains at the forefront of driving revolutionary innovations in sustainable procurement.

The World Summit programme provides you with the opportunity to reflect and network as you elevate your level of awareness of developments in the profession. The summit theme will be unravelled by exceptional speakers and discussants assembled from all over the world and includes acclaimed Kenyan professionals who are stellar leaders in their fields of expertise. As a bonus to those who want to get something more out of this visit, we have prepared an adjunct programme that allows you to experience some of Kenya’s finest tourist attractions—from the pristine beaches a short walk from here, to picturesque landscapes at the foot of Mt Kilimanjaro where lions, elephants, wildebeests, leopards and other flora and fauna freely co-exist in the wild.

Karibu Kenya!!
MESSAGE FROM IFPSM CEO

MARKKU HENTTINEN

CEO
IFPSM - INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF PURCHASING AND SUPPLIES MANAGEMENT

I have had the privilege of serving you as the new CEO of IFPSM since January 2019. The last 12 months have been fascinating and hectic, especially with the transfer of the IFPSM head office from UK to Helsinki, Finland. Project Officer Ms Marjo Ojakoski and the rest of the IFPSM team have worked tirelessly to streamline operations and support the IFPSM global community.

In September 2018, the Finnish Association of Purchasing and Logistics LOGY hosted, with great success, the IFPSM World Summit 2018 in Helsinki. Now it’s time to move to the African continent where the Kenya Institute of Supplies Management (KISM) has generously offered to organize and host the IFPSM World Summit 2019 in Mombasa, Kenya.

The IFPSM World Summit has evolved to become a unique meeting place for Procurement and Supply Chain professionals from around the globe with the help of the association’s officers and volunteers. This year’s World Summit will provide another opportunity to discuss a wide array of topics that promote efficiencies. Among the topics to be presented is “Best Practices to Attract Young Professionals into Practice and Association Activity”. I would strongly recommend that all IFPSM member associations encourage their members – even their younger members – to participate in the World Summit 2019.

After the council meeting and workshops on Day One, a superb world class conference program will run for the next two days with insights provided by globally renowned speakers on new trends and developments. For Procurement and Supply Chain professionals the IFPSM World Summit 2019 will also be a unique opportunity to grow their personal networks.
