In August 1619, 20-odd stolen an enslaved Africans were taken to Point Comfort in the English colony of Virginia; this site is now part of the National Park Service Registry as Fort Monroe National Monument. Considering the notion of Black presence in America before this time, and the mass of organizations commemorating 400 years of Black History in America to include the 400 years of African-American History Commission Act, how would you address/what advice would you give to millennials serving in this present-age about Black History in America? Present a seven –ten minutes’ oration in response to the questions that will demonstrate knowledge, research, and oral delivery.
