The Southeast Regional Conference of the Association for Asian Studies (SEC/AAS) is a non-political, non-profit scholarly organization dedicated to promoting the study of Asia in the southeastern region of the United States (AL, FL, GA, KY, MD, MS, NC, SC, TN, VA, WV, and Washington, DC). Since 1962, SEC/AAS has held an annual three-day conference featuring scholarly panels, teacher workshops, and book exhibits; sponsors prize competitions for undergraduate and graduate student papers; distributes awards for the best scholarly article and book prize for the year; and publishes the annual Southeast Review of Asian Studies (SERAS) to highlight the activity of Asianists in the Southeast.

Membership in SEC/AAS is open to all individuals and institutions interested in Asia. Regular members are entitled to participate in SEC/AAS activities and to receive a complimentary copy of SERAS each year. Dues are $20 for regular membership and $10 for student membership.
