This is a great resource that lists our crisis emergency services in NYC:

Crisis Respite Centers
Crisis Respite Center provide an alternative to hospitalization for people experiencing emotional crises. They are warm, safe and supportive home-like places to rest and recover when more support is needed than can be provided at home. The Crisis Respite Centers offer stays for up to one week and provide an open-door setting where people can continue their daily activities. Trained peers and non-peers work with individuals to help them successfully overcome emotional crises. The Crisis Respite Centers offer activities such as:

- 24-hour peer support
- self-advocacy education
- psycho-education
- self-help training
- social support groups
- recreational activities
- linkage to medical and psychiatric providers

Hospitals

Manhattan Psychiatric Center (NYU Langone)
Manhattan Psychiatric Center offers a range of comprehensive, evidence based inpatient and outpatient treatments for adults with mental illness. Families/Significant other(s) are involved as appropriate and with the permission of the consumer. MPC’s overall aim is to assess all patients with a multi-disciplinary approach, to develop personalized treatment plans with the aim of active rehabilitation and rapid return to or to optimal functioning in the community. MPC is also a major training facility for psychiatric residents, medical students, psychology interns and externs, social work externs and nursing students.

Within the inpatient service are several special services. All of these services require that the patient meet the general criteria for hospitalization at Manhattan Psychiatric Center (MPC). These services are:

Hispanic Ward:
For patients who speak only Spanish and/or whose cultural identity is primarily Hispanic. Services include treatment services provided in Spanish, culture specific events, and liaison with community based culturally appropriate resources.
Service for the Treatment and Abatement of Interpersonal Risk (STAIR) Unit:
For patients with a history of interpersonal violence, but are psychiatrically stable and able to participate in a cognitive/behavioral education program. This unit provides a very structured environment and an enriched cognitive approach so as to assist patients in anger management, reasoned thinking and adaptive behavior without risk to themselves or the broader community.

Bellevue Psychiatric Center

Adult Inpatient Services at NYC Health + Hospitals/Bellevue include:

- Eight inpatient units
- A 20-bed Medical Detoxification Unit for patients suffering from substance abuse
- Multidisciplinary care teams consisting of physicians, nurses, social workers, and activities therapists
- Individualized treatment plans that may include individual, group, and medication therapy. Whenever possible, family members or significant others are included in the treatment planning.

Beth Israel Psychiatry
Inpatient psychiatric treatment at Beth Israel focuses on the resolution of acute symptoms. Treatment consists of a wide range of somatic and psychosocial therapies, with a strong multidisciplinary approach. Each unit has two full-time board-certified attending psychiatrists, who coordinate all aspects of the patient care. Upon admission, each patient is assigned an attending psychiatrist, a psychiatric resident, a social worker who coordinates the discharge plan, and an occupational therapist or assistant who provides therapeutic activities seven days a week. Each unit also has a full-time Ph.D. psychologist, who coordinates psychotherapy groups and supervises psychological testing.

Other really great resources

Mobile Crisis Teams
Mobile crisis teams (MCTs) respond to mental health crises in the community within 48 hours of receiving a referral. Response time depends on the urgency of the call. Any concerned person can make a referral to the mobile crisis services by calling NYC Well at 1-888-NYC-WELL (1-888-692-9355). Teams are staffed by mental health professionals who can assess the person and their situation, provide crisis counseling and make referrals to community-based mental health and substance misuse services for ongoing care, and emergency services as needed.
Psychiatric Advance Directives
Also known as a mental health advance directive, a Psychiatric Advance Directive is a written document that describes how you want your mental health care to be given if in the future you are judged unable to tell your care provider those decisions for yourself.

The PAD can let others know about what treatments you want or don’t want from psychiatrists or other mental health professionals, and it can identify a person who will be able to make decisions on your behalf.

Any mentally competent person who lives with a mental illness should consider creating a PAD to outline their mental health treatment preferences in case they are not able to make their wishes known.
