Wood’s Engagement with Building Responsibly

A group of leading engineering and construction companies working together to raise the bar in promoting the rights and welfare of workers across the industry.

February 2017
Building Responsibly launched with six founding companies and the support from Humanity United.

June 2018
Launch of the 10 Worker Welfare Principles.
Embedding the Principles

Our Code of Conduct
Setting the expectation of our employee business and personal conduct

Supply Chain Code of Business Conduct
Setting the expectation of our supply chain partners

Engaging our Leadership
Promoting the principles across our business, driving operational and functional recognition and support for the principles
Wood is currently collaborating with BRs steering committee members to create and publish a set of simple, two-page guidance notes to compliment each principle. First drafts will go out for consultation in June and all ten will be published in August, ahead of the BRs members day in September 2019.

Creating and sharing Wood’s Simple self-assessment tool with BR members and supporters, once aligned to the published guidance notes, this tool will be refreshed and shared as part of the BR toolkit in support of the 10 worker welfare principles.

Once these two elements are in place and we have an aligned self-assessment tool, this will be used by Wood to assess our key projects against the principles on a risk based approach. The tool will also be widely publicised and made available to our global business to complete self-assessment assurance exercises.
