The pueo is a short-eared owl that is endemic to Hawai‘i; this means that it lives only in Hawai‘i and nowhere else in the world! Pueo live in forests and grasslands throughout the Hawaiian Islands where it hunts for small birds, insects, and rodents. Unlike many other owls, the pueo is diurnal, which means it is up and active during the day.

Assembly Directions
1. Color and cut box out along solid outer lines, resulting in one single piece.
2. Fold tab along dotted lines. Fold on center dotted line to the left of the pueo. Glue or tape the folded tab to the other side, forming a tube.
3. Slowly push in the box ends into the tube, propping it open. The tab with the cut out half circle is folded down first, allowing it to be opened easily.
