WHAT DOES IT TAKE TO BUILD
SOMETHING BEAUTIFUL?

In 2023, generous donors showed the world how to build bridges of hope through their resilient, sacrificial giving. We are excited to share some of the results of these collaborative efforts. And we hope you'll be encouraged to see how global giving is transforming lives in cultures and countries everywhere.

Join us as we unfold the tapestry of our far-reaching collective impact ... from poverty alleviation and education to disaster relief, social justice, faith-based charity, and so much more.

Together, we have built something beautiful.

Every stat has a story.

It may look like just a number.

But what we see in this cumulative grant statistic are the beautiful stories of the souls who found solace, empowerment, and opportunity through the transformative power of giving.

Building a worldwide generosity movement

As an affiliated group of like-minded foundations in 10 countries, the TrustBridge Global Network Members collaborated to help almost half a million donors grant in their local communities and in almost every country in the world.

CROSS-BORDER GRANTING: WHAT WE WERE MADE FOR.

By making international giving radically easier, faster, and less expensive, we helped donors whose generosity knows no borders deploy SFr 76,768,709 in cross-border grants to every corner of the world they felt called to.

As one of the key metrics for our core mission, this grant total is a reflection of our relentless passion to help you create a world where charities everywhere have all they need to accomplish their mission.

WELCOME TO

GivingSpace.com

In 2023, GivingSpace.com was launched as a revolutionary new online hub to connect donors and charities around the world. Now in just one click, you can easily browse NGOs by region, country, cause, and category--and find specific projects to fund. GivingSpace.com is just one more way we are breaking down your barriers to giving across the world.

Mobilizing an international force for good.

In 2023, the grim specter of war in Ukraine and Israel ushered in a profound state of human suffering and unimaginable hardship.

Yet, undaunted by despair, individual donors and private foundations in every region of the world rose to the challenge to give quickly and generously.

And TrustBridge was there to help mobilize these resources from across the globe to support the charities and NGOs providing essential resources, aid, and care on the frontlines.

Through organizations like Israel Firstfruits Center for Economic Development, Triumphant Mercy Lebanon, Box of Hope - Humanitarian Aid for Ukraine, Jerusalem Evangelical Outreach, and many more, those caught in the crossfire of these devastating international conflicts felt the compassion of an international army of generosity on their side.

In the crucible of war, giving through TrustBridge was a potent catalyst for hope, offering a pathway towards rebuilding fractured lives and communities.

BEAUTY IN EVERY BANDAGE

As a missionary kid growing up in a remote village in Nigeria, Don Campion developed a lively sense of adventure from a young age. From hunting with villagers for days out in the bush, to driving a motorcycle across the Sahara Desert all the way to England, Don never dreamed his biggest adventure would happen as an adult—the quest to revitalize the once-thriving mission hospital his parents had worked so hard to establish.

Built in 1952 by his parents, Dr. George and Esther Campion, physician missionaries from Canada, Egbe Hospital had become a vital outpost for medical treatment serving Nigerians from all over the country. But by 2008, the facility had fallen into disrepair and was on the brink of closure. That's the heartbreaking reality that Don and his wife, Sueanne, discovered when they visited Egbe for the first time since Don had left Nigeria as a young adult.

Soon after that visit, a vision to breathe new life into Egbe began to form. And over the next 15 years, the Campions mobilized their resources and connections as owners of Banyan Air Service in Fort Lauderdale, FL to help lead the rebuilding of Egbe Hospital and College of Nursing. And TrustBridge Global has been an integral part of that effort.

“With TrustBridge’s low grant fee and efficient international banking processes, we’ve seen a 30% gain on every gift,” Don says. “We’re so delighted because that means more money to the people who need it most.”

Today, Egbe Medical Mission is a 50-acre medical complex and nursing school serving over 21,000 patients a year within a 100-mile radius of small villages and towns who come for life-saving surgeries and compassionate faith-based medical care.

“We’re so delighted because that means more money to the people who need it most.”
