In 2023, with new hires, Agami is working on effective solutions with the right mix of technology and human interactions. From our PPI updates on this issue, you will witness the excitement of all the recent activities.

Agami, as an organization is strengthening its internal framework while encouraging both employees and volunteers to communicate more often, share monthly updates with Agami leaders, and initiate conversations to align goals between Agami and its constituents. Agami started developing website items, improving its presence on social media. This is progress.

Several taskforce teams have been introduced to the organization for overview, compliance and advice on focused topics. This, Agami believes, will effectively distribute work and mitigate some risks related to delays in process. This is progress.

In a nutshell, Agami has been carefully working towards solutions that mean progress in education, and in turn, would mean “absolute progress” to Agami.

The quarterly Agami News could not be published in the last 12 months for various reasons. Moving forward, we plan to publish this quarterly publication on a regular basis. Your co-operation and feedback will be appreciated.

School Program - Higher Pass Rates in Agami-Supported Schools

An overview from Agami-supported schools unveils that the success rates in secondary school certificate (SSC) examinations held in 2022 have significantly increased. The success rate of SSC in 2022 is 85.76%. The number of highest-grade achievers (A) increased by 37 candidates compared to the previous year.

72 candidates secured an ‘A’ grade this year (2022), whereas 5 students from Chatpara Idea Academy and 1 student from Aalok Shikkhaloy secured a GPA-5.00 of (A+).

Six Agami-supported schools in 2021, who were also Agami patrons in 2022, have produced a successful outcome. A total of 139 examinees out of 158 succeeded in the last examination. Amongst all the participating schools, Aalok Shikkhaloy, Chatpara Ideal Academy, and Shohag Swapnadhara Pathshala earned the leading positions in considering the overall pass rate.

Schools are committed and highly optimistic to uphold this year’s progress and will perform better in future examinations.
