She lived through pandemic, isolated in her anchorite cell, kept company by a cat. Though she lived in the 14th century, Julian is a woman who knows the "well and woe" of our own days. It was in the midst of her own suffering that God gifted her with a series of revelations. Though hidden for hundreds of years, her theology helps us to see a God who assures us all will be well, and in the end, meets us in nothing but love.
