When we started the Boundless Initiative two years ago, we set forth four major goals:

1. To fully fund our missions and ministry budget for 2018 and 2019;
2. To increase our support of missional engagement;
3. To retire long-standing debt on the Fellowship Center;
4. To address deferred maintenance and needed facilities improvements.

Through Boundless, we hoped to resource these goals by raising $6 million over two years: $4 million would support the budget (with 10 percent of that going to missions), around $250 thousand would go to debt retirement, and $1.75 million to meet facilities needs.

Over the course of two years, we have raised just under $4.8 million towards these goals. While this was not the target amount, we celebrate the tremendous work that this has allowed us to accomplish together. We are grateful for your generosity, which makes all that we do as a church possible. We funded our ongoing ministries, which impact a growing number of people within and beyond our walls. We invested significantly in missional work in our community. We retired the debt on our Fellowship Center, making us debt-free for the first time in decades. And, we continue to improve our facilities to support ministry.

The onus fell upon the Trustees to manage the resource gap by prioritizing essential facilities needs, with only $241,000 coming from Boundless for facilities improvement goals. We have made great progress through their tireless efforts. In addition, the generosity of our Endowment Ministry and private donors has allowed the Trustees to accomplish critical projects that could not be supported through Boundless. Grant funds from the United Methodist Church largely funded updates on our Glenwood campus to further our mission there. Finally, the Trustees made the decision to sell two church-owned houses—on Dogwood Drive and Veasley Street—as they felt the church was better served through investments in our core facilities than by managing rental properties. Proceeds from those sales will be partially used to finish critical facilities work, with the majority held in reserve for future maintenance. This is important as we seek to be good stewards of our facilities by ensuring that we have the resources to address emerging needs.

Overall, Boundless was a great step in the right direction for Christ Church. As one church on two campuses, we have made significant investments in our broader community, paved the way for continued growth and vibrancy in ministry, and put ourselves in a position to better care for the facilities that are foundational to all that we do. Thank you for your generosity. May we continue to become the church that God is calling us to be in 2020.

BECOMING BOUNDLESS

As a result of your generosity through the Boundless initiative, the past two years have seen many changes at Christ Church, from the addition of a second campus to numerous facilities improvements. Here, we celebrate a few of the more notable milestones made possible by your generosity. Thank you!

Retirement of $234,196 of debt on the Fellowship Center

At our Holden Road campus, the new Missions Café serves as a hub for hospitality as well as education about current and ongoing missional engagement opportunities at Christ Church, made possible by an intentional strategy and increased funding through Boundless.

New paint and lighting in children's areas create a welcoming and vibrant atmosphere for young families.

Upgrades to our Holden Road Sanctuary—including new carpet, a hearing loop, and HVAC upgrades—enhance our traditional worship and music ministries.

New flooring in our hallways, along with fresh paint and lighting, creates a refreshed space for our children, youth, and adults.

A vote to merge with Glenwood United Methodist Church, effective July 1, 2018, makes us one church on two campuses that love, grow, and serve together.

Fresh paint and improved technology in the Glenwood Fellowship Hall coincide with the launch of The Table, a free meal and worship service that has since grown to include more than 100 people a week.

Upgrades to our Fellowship Center—including new chairs, new carpet, a second screen, and the addition of a hearing loop—improve our contemporary worship experience for more than 300 people a week.

The replacement of the roof on the Gym and Education Building is one of many deferred maintenance projects completed through the Boundless initiative.

Additional renovations—including the creation of a children's assembly room (current rooms 101-103), the creation of dedicated check-in stations, and the remodeling of some classrooms—will further enhance our children's spaces.

A digital main entrance sign will allow us to more effectively communicate who we are and what we offer to the community around us.
