WHAT: Denim Day in LA & USA, www.denimdayinfo.org, the annual sexual violence prevention and education campaign, will take place on Wednesday, April 23, 2014. On Wednesday, people are encouraged to wear jeans to support survivors of sexual assault and raise awareness around sexual violence issues. Organized annually by the LA-based nonprofit organization Peace Over Violence, Denim Day recalls an Italian court case that sparked international outrage when judges did not convict a rapist because the victim wore jeans. The judges ruled that because the victim was wearing tight jeans, she must have helped her attacker remove them, thus implying consent.

Now in its 15th year, Denim Day is held each April during Sexual Assault Awareness Month. Millions of supporters around the country and globally are expected to participate this year.

Global lifestyle brand GUESS?, Inc. and the GUESS Foundation have signed on as the official fashion sponsor of Denim Day 2014 with a strong commitment to raising awareness around sexual violence including a $100,000 donation and promotion of Denim Day through the company’s first chain-wide in-store, digital and online philanthropic marketing campaign spanning across its GUESS, G by GUESS and GUESS Factory brands.
