FAYE TOOGOOD: DRAWING, MATERIAL, SCULPTURE, LANDSCAPE

With her 'Roly Poly' chair considered an iconic piece and included in the permanent collections of museums around the world, prolific producer Faye Toogood roams the design spectrum from interiors and installations to furniture and fashion with extraordinary panache. This monograph explores her wit, originality, artisanship and unique creative process that has made her work so desirable and brought international acclaim. Alistair O'Neill, Phaidon, $140

STYLE

Many believe that style is innate, but proof that it can be cultivated and nurtured is in this book. Author and stylist Natalie Walton assures the stylistically challenged that following a few simple premises can indeed deliver a home that is beautiful and authentic. She guides the reader on a path of discovering their visual vocabulary, along the way showcasing interior schemes that are the epitome of restraint and purity. Natalie Walton, Hardie Grant, $60

KERRY HILL ARCHITECTS

From a selection of luxurious Aman properties to spectacular apartments and cutting-edge commercial buildings, the body of work undertaken by Kerry Hill Architects (KHA) is broad and impressive. From its bases in Singapore and Fremantle in Perth, the award-winning practice developed a tropical modernist style which has been widely emulated. This second monograph follows the death of the firm's founder in 2018, and illustrates the unique approach taken by KHA with each project and the laudable sensitivity to needs and context.

COMING HOME TO NATURE

The irresistible appeal of a simpler life is explored by three designer, journalist and stylist friends who escape to rural France with their families to live in elegant tranquillity, a trend called 'countryfication'. Along with mesmerising pastoral images, the trio expound their stylish views on how to decorate and entertain, what to wear, grow and cook as their dream becomes a joyful day-to-day reality. Estelle Marandon, Gesa Hansen, Charlotte Huguet, Flammarion, $45

FRENCH CHATEAU STYLE

Gallic flair is in abundant supply on the pages of this sumptuous book with a fascinating glimpse into some of the historic private chateaux dotted across the country from Provence to the Loire Valley. Many have been opulently restored by chic tastemakers – whether antique dealers, artists or collectors – while a more minimal touch has been bestowed on others with each property accorded impressive respect. Catherine Scott, Prestel, $99

THE LIFE ECLECTIC

Quirky, personality-fuelled room sets are the purview of this engaging book. Whether built up over years of curating and collecting ephemera or assembled on a whim, the homes of such aesthetes as UK interior designer Martin Brudnizki and Australian artist Greg Irvine are extraordinary for their brio and individuality. Nothing cookie-cutter here, just pure unadulterated vision. Each person's eye is unique and whether they appeal or not they are all inspirational. Alexander Breeze, Hardie Grant, $60
