Faculty

Julie Park, PhD
Director, Associate Professor, Sociology
Janelle Wong, PhD
Professor, American Studies
Terry Park, PhD
Lecturer
Jia Li Liu, PhD
Calvin J. Li Postdoctoral Fellow
Gem Daus, MA
Adjunct Lecturer
Phil Tajitsu Nash, Esq
Adjunct Lecturer
Andy Yeh, MA
Instructor

Affiliated Faculty

Sharada Balachandran Orhue, PhD
Associate Professor, English
Feinian Chen, PhD
Professor, Sociology
Patrick Chung, PhD
Assistant Professor, History
Perla Guerrero, PhD
Associate Professor, American Studies
Derek Ishiwata, PhD
Associate Professor, Psychology
Jason Kuo, PhD
Professor, Art History

Seung-Kyung Kim, PhD
Professor Emerita, Women’s Studies
Sunmin Lee, PhD
Professor, Epidemiology and Biostatistics
Rossina Zamora Liu, PhD
Assistant Clinical Professor, Education
William Ming Liu, PhD
Professor and Chair, Counseling, Higher Education, and Special Education
Willow Lung-Amam, PhD
Associate Professor, Urban Studies and Planning Program
Timothy Ng, PhD
Professor Emeritus, Plant Science & Landscape Architecture
Jan Padios, PhD
Associate Professor, American Studies
Julie J. Park, PhD
Associate Professor, Education
Joann Prosser, PhD
Director of Assessment and Research, Residential Life
Sangeeta Ray, PhD
Professor, English and Comparative Literature
Richard Q. Shin, PhD
Associate Professor, Counseling, Higher Education, and Special Education
Jon Sumida, PhD
Professor Emeritus, History
Ashwini Tambe, PhD
Associate Professor, Women’s Studies
Cixin Wang, PhD
Assistant Professor, School Psychology
Edie L. Wong, PhD
Professor, English
Colleen Woods, PhD
Assistant Professor, History

Staff

Anne Bautista
Program Coordinator
Jessica Lee
Business and Planning Coordinator

Undergraduate Assistants

Sara Cha
Graphic Designer
Manpreet Dyal
Office Assistant
Saumya Dobriyal
Office Assistant
Esther Kim
Graphic Designer
Victoria Mathews
Office Assistant
Jessica Tsai
Web/IT Assistant

Table of Contents

3  Director’s Note
4  About
5  By the Numbers
6  Courses & Enrollment
7  Scholarships & Recipients
8  Program Highlights

Director’s Note

In 2018-19, Asian American Studies (AASS) focused on “Making Connections” across the campus and in our communities. With a record number of AASS minors, we are growing in our reach and delving deeper into the histories, experiences, and positionings of Asian and Pacific Islander Americans. I focus on a few highlights here. Gem Daus, a long-time AASS lecturer, offered a new Native Hawaiian Pacific Islander Studies course. A panel of seven AASS minors engaged with over 100 local high school students and their parents on the college experience and their evolving relationship with parents. We celebrated the 50th anniversary of ethnic studies by having Juanta Tamayo Lott, author of Golden Children Legacy of Ethnic Studies, SF State: A Memoir, as our end-of-year banquet keynote speaker.

The Asian American Studies Program at the University of Maryland was first established in 2000 and is gearing up to celebrate its 20th anniversary. With what started as one course on the Asian American Experience, AASS now offers a 15-credit minor, several scholarship programs, and the Calvin J. Li Postdoctoral Fellowship with 3 core faculty, several lecturers, and 22 affiliate faculty. Our faculty are excellent researchers, teachers, and mentors dedicated to our students and the advancement of Asian American Studies. Our students learn the social, political, cultural, psychological, and historical approaches to understanding our diverse and rapidly growing community. They then apply and deepen what they learned in the classroom to community discussions on politics, policy, activism, culture, and the arts (detailed later in this report). We continually strive to learn from our community as well as to be a resource through the sharing of faculty research, talks and workshops, and other opportunities for meaningful dialogue.

A special thank you to the AASS staff and undergraduate assistants. The amazing AASS staff are dedicated, tireless, and fearless. They are the cornerstone of our program as they work behind the scene to ensure every aspect of the program runs smoothly. Their commitment to our students, faculty, and community is integral to the success of our program. As a team, we build on our strengths to have a greater impact for our University of Maryland community and the Asian American community more broadly.

Julie Park, PhD
Director, Asian American Studies Program
Associate Professor, Department of Sociology
The Asian American Studies Program (AAST) at the University of Maryland provides students with the opportunity to critically study the experiences of Asian Americans. Through an interdisciplinary academic curriculum and student-centered programming, students examine the histories, communities, and cultures of people of Asian origin in the United States. The curriculum and programs reflect historically marginalized perspectives and underscore the University’s commitment to supporting the intellectual development of a diverse student population.

Created in 2000, AAST is the result of student engagement and activism. In 1995, UMD undergraduate students initiated a movement to create the Asian American Studies Program. Over the next three years, with the support of key staff, faculty, and community stakeholders, students continued an active campaign for a new program through teach-ins, high school visits, media outreach, protests, sit-ins, and informational sessions at Stamp. In 1998, Provost Daniel Fallon endorsed a proposal to create an Asian American Studies Program and a steering committee to develop a curriculum and identify professors. In 2000, the University Senate approved the proposal and the AAST program was launched.

AAST offers a 15-credit minor program for students who wish to develop a specialization in Asian American Studies alongside their degree pursuits. It also offers robust academic and student-centered programming that highlights key themes in Asian American Studies, including literature and the arts, demographic change, race and politics, and leadership development.
COURSES & ENROLLMENT

In FY19, AAST had a record number of 61 minors in the program, 31 of which enrolled this year. AAST offered 29 interdisciplinary courses with over 500 enrolled students. New courses include Native Hawaiian Pacific Islander Studies and Techno-Orientalism, which expanded the diverse groups included in the Asian American and Pacific Islander pan-ethnic community and the ways in which Asian Americans are perceived in changing global politics.

AAST collaborated with other academic departments on campus to offer courses such as Visual Cultures of Islam; Politics of Transnational Adoption; Intersectional Analysis of Class, Race, Gender and Nationality; New World: Arrows Literature of Asian American Migration and Diaspora; and Cultural Imagination in the US-China Relations since 1785.

FALL 2018

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course</th>
<th>Seats Issued</th>
<th>Seats Offered</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AAST200/AMST298C (Section 01)</td>
<td>34</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST200/AMST298C (Section 02)</td>
<td>23</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST233/ENGL233</td>
<td>24</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>*AAST298B/HST217E</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST378 (Section 01)</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST378 (Section 02)</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST388 (Section 01)</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST388 (Section 02)</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST389D/AMST328J</td>
<td>22</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST398E/AMST328V/IMMR319G</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST498J/AMST498Q/PSYC489Z</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST498X</td>
<td>16</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TOTAL</td>
<td>160</td>
<td>233</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SPRING 2019

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course</th>
<th>Seats Issued</th>
<th>Seats Offered</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AAST200/AMST298C</td>
<td>37</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST201</td>
<td>58</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST233</td>
<td>29</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST378</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST388 (Section 01)</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST388 (Section 02)</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>*AAST398C/WMST379C</td>
<td>17</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST398E</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>*AAST398/J/ENGL349J</td>
<td>23</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST398M</td>
<td>28</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>*AAST398/HST428F</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST433/AMST439J</td>
<td>32</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST498F</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST498M/AMST481N</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AAST498Q</td>
<td>17</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TOTAL</td>
<td>310</td>
<td>377</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SUMMER 2018

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course</th>
<th>Seats Issued</th>
<th>Seats Offered</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AAST200/AMST298C</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

WINTER 2019

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course</th>
<th>Seats Issued</th>
<th>Seats Offered</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AAST398J/AMST328W</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FY 2019 TOTAL ENROLLMENT: 76%

* Cross-listed course; AAST is not primary.

 Note that in terms of seats filled, when courses for which AAST was not the primary are excluded, seat filled ratios are 72% for Fall 2018, 89% for Spring 2019, and 82% for FY2019 total.

SCHOLARSHIPS & RECIPIENTS

MAJOR GENERAL ANTONIO TAGUBA

PROFILES IN COURAGE AND LEADERSHIP SCHOLARSHIP

The Taguba Scholarship recognizes undergraduates who demonstrate scholarship and outstanding leadership. Students are either Asian American Studies students or enrolled in the Army, Navy or Air Force ROTC program at the University of Maryland, and are considering a career in federal public service, either civilian or military.

- Andrew Deng ‘20 (left)
  - Biology Major, Asian American Studies and Statistics Double Minor

- Joshua Lee ‘19 (right)
  - Criminology and Criminal Justice, Asian American Studies Minor

TIMOTHY J NG SCHOLARSHIP IN ASIAN AMERICAN STUDIES

The Timothy J Ng Scholarship encourages undergraduates who demonstrate strength in academics and leadership, especially where such achievement leads to improvement in the lives of Asian Americans.

- Ali Bhatti ‘20 (left)
  - French and Information Science Double Major, Statistics Minor

- Melanie McFarland ‘19 (right)
  - Public Health Science Major

LINH-THONG HUU NGUYEN MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This memorial scholarship was established in 2008 by Linh-Thong Huu “T one” Nguyen’s brother and fellow Terp Tuan Nguyen to support undergraduates who are enrolled in the Asian American Studies minor and demonstrate consistent academic achievement in their studies.

- Patrick Peralta ‘21
  - Government and Politics Major, Asian American Studies and Philosophy Double Minor
Dr. Janelle Wong’s Book Talk
Sep 27 | As immigration from Asia and Latin America reshapes the demographic composition of the U.S., some analysts have anticipated the decline of conservative white evangelicals’ influence in politics. Yet, the political clout of white evangelicals persisted at a time of increased racial and ethnic diversity. Professor Janelle Wong discusses her new book, Immigrants, Evangelicals, and Politics in an Era of Demographic Change, examining a new generation of Asian American and Latino evangelicals and offering an account of why demographic change has not contributed to a political realignment. Brought to you by the Asian American Studies Program, Center for American Politics and Citizenship, Center for Global Migration Studies, and Department of American Studies.

Crazy Rich Asians—Panel Discussion
Oct 31 | As the first Hollywood studio film in twenty-five years to feature an all-Asian cast since The Joy Luck Club, Jon M. Chiu’s Crazy Rich Asians exceeded expectations, broke box office records, and quickly greenlit both a sequel and several film and TV projects involving Asian Americans. An all-Asian American panel comprised of UMD faculty, student, and staff address some of the many questions on the film’s representation and invite the audience to add their voice to the conversation. Co-sponsored by the Asian American Studies Program and the Asian American Student Union.

Asian Americans and Affirmative Action
Nov 28 | Dr. Julie J. Park, Associate Professor of Education, and Dr. Janelle Wong, Professor of American Studies and Asian American Studies, break down the debate on affirmative action and discuss common myths of this critical topic. Co-sponsored by the Asian-American Studies Program and the Department of Counseling Higher Education & Special Education.

2nd Chandni Kumar Annual Lecture on Asian Americans and Activism
Feb 7 | Sookyung Oh, DC Area Director for the National Korean American Service & Education Consortium (NAKASEC) and invited speaker for the 2nd Chandni Kumar Annual Lecture on Asian Americans and Activism, highlights the joys of centering AAPI community, creativity, organizing, and resistance to build a larger multi-racial and ethnic movement towards liberation for all. This year, Danielle Ocampo, a senior Psychology major and Asian American Studies minor was presented the Impact Award to recognize her work in furthering social justice issues on campus.

The Chandni Kumar Annual Lecture is a speaker series brought to you by the generous gift of Chandni Kumar ’96 and her family for the purpose of empowering students in activism and engagement related to the Asian American community.
PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

PROGRAM EVENTS

Dear Eva Huang—Staged Reading
Apr 17 | AAST minor, Amanda Tang, under the guidance of Dr. Terry Park, performs a staged reading of her work-in-progress musical Dear Eva Huang, inspired by the recent Broadway hit, Dear Evan Hansen. This work brings to light the issues around Asian American mental health. Brought to you by the Asian American Studies Program and the Office of Multicultural Involvement & Community Advocacy.

Out of State—Film Screening and Discussion
Feb 26 | The Asian American Studies Program and the Office of Multicultural Involvement and Community Advocacy host a screening and discussion of Out of State, a film about two men who discovered their indigenous Hawaiian traditions in prison and now seek a fresh start as they complete their terms and return to Hawaii. The screening is followed by a discussion and talk by Darlene Kehualani Butts, President of Ke Ali‘i Maka‘ainana Hawaiian Civic Club of WDC.

Never Give Up! Minoru Yasui and the Fight for Justice—Film Screening
Apr 8 | Based on the life of Minoru Yasui, civil rights activist and the first Japanese American attorney in Oregon during the era of World War II, the film portrays his fight against the unjust treatment of over 120,000 persons of Japanese ancestry by the U.S. and his continued defense of human and civil rights post-war. Holly Yasui, co-director and youngest daughter of Min and True Yasui, leads a post-screening discussion. Co-sponsored by the Asian American Studies Program and the Office of Multicultural Involvement and Community Advocacy.

AAST End of Year Banquet
May 9 | The Asian American Studies Program celebrates the milestones and accomplishments of the 2018-2019 academic year, showcasing student research and recognizing students who have completed the AAST minor, as well as the 2019-2020 AAST scholarship recipients. Keynote speaker, Janita Tamayo Lott, a retired senior federal demographer/statistician and author of the recent book Golden Children: Legacy of Ethnic Studies, SF State. A Memoir, addresses the guests in a compelling speech about her book and her contributions to the field of ethnic studies.

A Panel on Asian American Students Discussing the College Experience
Apr 6 | Seven AAST minors from UMD share their experience with over 100 attendees consisting of high schoolers and their parents on being an Asian American college student. They address questions about ethnic identity, changing relationships with their parents, lessons learned, as well as reflections on their joys and challenges of their educational career. Co-sponsored by the Asian American Studies Program, Calvin J. Li Foundation, Chinese American Parent Association of Montgomery County, and Chinese Culture and Community Service Center.

In addition to these events, AAST co-sponsored a number of events across the campus including the 12th Annual DC Queer Studies Symposium, “Reflections on Disidentifications at 20”; the 3rd Annual Dream Gala hosted by Political Latinxs United for Movement and Action in Society (PLUMAS); and “Uplifting Narratives of Undocumented Asian American Pacific Islanders,” an art exhibit and workshop hosted by the Undocumented Student Program, NAKASEC, MICA, and AAST, during UMD Immigrant Resilience Week.
In FY19, four new affiliate faculty joined AAST. Our affiliate faculty come from various disciplines across the university and teach or conduct research related to the field of Asian American Studies. In addition, the 2019-2019 Calvin J. Li Postdoctoral Fellow was welcomed to the Program.

Dr. Patrick Chung
Assistant Professor, History
Patrick Chung, assistant professor in the Department of History, specializes in U.S. military history. His research interests also include the histories of the U.S. in the World, global capitalism, East Asia, and Asian America. He offers courses on global and U.S. military history.

Dr. Rossina Liu
Assistant Clinical Professor, Education
Rossina Zamora Liu, assistant clinical professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, Policy and Leadership, is a UMD alumna. She is a publicly engaged, interdisciplinary researcher, writer, and humanist, whose work centers on elevating our communities of color and of underserved families.

Dr. William Liu
Professor and Chair, Counseling, Higher Education, and Special Education
William Ming Liu, professor and chair of the Department of Counseling, Higher Education, and Special Education, is identified as one of the most frequent producers of research in the Psychology of Men and Masculinity and most cited in multicultural competency research. His research interests are in social class and classism, men and masculinity, and White supremacy and privilege.

Dr. Richard Shin
Associate Professor, School Counseling
Richard Shin is an associate professor in the Department of Counseling, Higher Education, and Special Education and is the director of the School Counseling Masters Program. His research interests include the identification of academic resiliency factors among youth of color living in underresourced neighborhoods, including the need to disrupt dominant deficit-oriented societal narratives about this devalued and marginalized population.

Dr. Jia Li Liu
2018-2019 Calvin J. Li Postdoctoral Fellow
Dr. Jia Li Liu is the 2018-19 Calvin J. Li Postdoctoral Fellow in the Asian American Studies Program. She received her PhD in Human Development and Family Studies from the University of Connecticut. Her research interests include cross-cultural parenting, the effects of child temperament on development, and the creation of culture-sensitive parent education programs for immigrant families. As a 2016 Fulbright scholar, Dr. Liu completed fieldwork in Hong Kong for her dissertation on Chinese maternal ethnotheories and socialization of children’s shyness.

Dr. Janelle Wong
Assistant Clinical Professor, Education
Janelle Wong, assistant clinical professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, Policy and Leadership, is a UMD alumna. She is a publicly engaged, interdisciplinary researcher, writer, and humanist, whose work centers on elevating our communities of color and of underserved families.

Many thanks to our donors and program supporters!

AAST would like to thank its generous donors for their commitment to Asian American Studies and its students. The Program received $113,195 in external donations in the past year. The Program also thanks the donors for the Calvin J. Li Fellowship in Asian American Studies, the Linh-Thong Huu Nguyen Endowed Scholarship, the Guerzon TablangJimenez Family TerpStart Endowed Scholarship in Asian American Studies, and the Chandini Kumar Annual Lecture on Asian Americans and Activism.

In development activities, AAST received $113,195 in external donations and gifts.

Dr. Terry K. Park
Dr. Terry K. Park published an article titled, “The de/militarized frontier: the Korean demilitarised zone, the American DMZ border guard, and US liberal empire” in the peer-reviewed online journal Critical Military Studies. He was also quoted as an expert in the New York Times article, “Nunchuck Bans Have Fallen in New York and Arizona. Will Others Follow?”.

Dr. Janelle Wong

Dr. Cixin Wang
Dr. Cixin Wang published an article titled, “Influence of Perceived Cultural Barriers on Mental Health Help-seeking by Asian American Students,” which examines barriers preventing children and parents from seeking mental health services at school.

Dr. Rossina Liu
Rossina Zamora Liu, assistant clinical professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, Policy and Leadership, is a UMD alumna. She is a publicly engaged, interdisciplinary researcher, writer, and humanist, whose work centers on elevating our communities of color and of underserved families.

Dr. Patrick Chung
Patrick Chung, assistant professor in the Department of History, specializes in U.S. military history. His research interests also include the histories of the U.S. in the World, global capitalism, East Asia, and Asian America. He offers courses on global and U.S. military history.

Dr. Richard Shin
Richard Shin is an associate professor in the Department of Counseling, Higher Education, and Special Education and is the director of the School Counseling Masters Program. His research interests include the identification of academic resiliency factors among youth of color living in underresourced neighborhoods, including the need to disrupt dominant deficit-oriented societal narratives about this devalued and marginalized population.

Dr. Jia Li Liu
Dr. Jia Li Liu is the 2018-19 Calvin J. Li Postdoctoral Fellow in the Asian American Studies Program. She received her PhD in Human Development and Family Studies from the University of Connecticut. Her research interests include cross-cultural parenting, the effects of child temperament on development, and the creation of culture-sensitive parent education programs for immigrant families. As a 2016 Fulbright scholar, Dr. Liu completed fieldwork in Hong Kong for her dissertation on Chinese maternal ethnotheories and socialization of children’s shyness.

Dr. Janelle Wong
Janelle Wong, assistant clinical professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, Policy and Leadership, is a UMD alumna. She is a publicly engaged, interdisciplinary researcher, writer, and humanist, whose work centers on elevating our communities of color and of underserved families.

Dr. Cixin Wang
Cixin Wang published an article titled, “Influence of Perceived Cultural Barriers on Mental Health Help-seeking by Asian American Students,” which examines barriers preventing children and parents from seeking mental health services at school.

Dr. Rossina Liu
Rossina Zamora Liu, assistant clinical professor in the Department of Teaching and Learning, Policy and Leadership, is a UMD alumna. She is a publicly engaged, interdisciplinary researcher, writer, and humanist, whose work centers on elevating our communities of color and of underserved families.

Dr. Patrick Chung
Patrick Chung, assistant professor in the Department of History, specializes in U.S. military history. His research interests also include the histories of the U.S. in the World, global capitalism, East Asia, and Asian America. He offers courses on global and U.S. military history.

Dr. Richard Shin
Richard Shin is an associate professor in the Department of Counseling, Higher Education, and Special Education and is the director of the School Counseling Masters Program. His research interests include the identification of academic resiliency factors among youth of color living in underresourced neighborhoods, including the need to disrupt dominant deficit-oriented societal narratives about this devalued and marginalized population.

Dr. Jia Li Liu
Dr. Jia Li Liu is the 2018-19 Calvin J. Li Postdoctoral Fellow in the Asian American Studies Program. She received her PhD in Human Development and Family Studies from the University of Connecticut. Her research interests include cross-cultural parenting, the effects of child temperament on development, and the creation of culture-sensitive parent education programs for immigrant families. As a 2016 Fulbright scholar, Dr. Liu completed fieldwork in Hong Kong for her dissertation on Chinese maternal ethnotheories and socialization of children’s shyness.

Many thanks to our donors and program supporters!

AAST would like to thank its generous donors for their commitment to Asian American Studies and its students. The Program received $113,195 in external donations in the past year. The Program also thanks the donors for the Calvin J. Li Fellowship in Asian American Studies, the Linh-Thong Huu Nguyen Endowed Scholarship, the Guerzon TablangJimenez Family TerpStart Endowed Scholarship in Asian American Studies, and the Chandini Kumar Annual Lecture on Asian Americans and Activism.

In development activities, AAST received $113,195 in external donations and gifts.

Dr. Terry K. Park published an article titled, “The de/militarized frontier: the Korean demilitarised zone, the American DMZ border guard, and US liberal empire” in the peer-reviewed online journal Critical Military Studies. He was also quoted as an expert in the New York Times article, “Nunchuck Bans Have Fallen in New York and Arizona. Will Others Follow?”.

Dr. Cixin Wang published an article titled, “Influence of Perceived Cultural Barriers on Mental Health Help-seeking by Asian American Students,” which examines barriers preventing children and parents from seeking mental health services at school.
5 REASONS TO MINOR WITH AAST

1. Show potential employers and grad schools you know how to navigate diversity
2. Learn about Asian Americans, and also globalization and migration
3. Enhance your savvy around race, identity, and culture
4. Get to know professors who understand Asian American issues
5. Make connections and join a meaningful community of students, faculty, and staff

SUPPORT AAST

Enhance student learning experiences through AAST programming, make a donation at http://ter.ps/give2aast

BE IN THE KNOW

Email aast@umd.edu to join our email list