We work with men, women and children as they create their own unique path to a more fulfilling, healthy and independent life. Striving to never turn anyone away, we enlist the generosity of a caring community through donations and volunteerism.
A farewell from our executive director

Dear Friends,

I have had the distinct honor of being the Executive Director of Lifting Up Westchester (LUW) for the past eleven years. In that time we have worked together to see this agency grow and steadily increase the scope and impact of the services we provide to some of Westchester County’s most vulnerable individuals. Now, after 40 years in this field I have decided that it is time to retire.

The LUW Board is very excited that Anahaita Kotval, who has been the Chief Operating Officer and General Counsel at Inspirica in Stamford since 2011 has been chosen to lead this organization into the future.

Lifting Up Westchester is coming to this time of transition with both programmatic capacity and fiscal strength. Our senior staff and Board of Directors are well positioned to build upon a strong foundation and move forward with new executive leadership to meet the opportunities and challenges that face the agency in the decades ahead.

Here are a few reminders of what the LUW team has accomplished over the past eleven years. Many of these accomplishments are the result of our strong partnerships with our donors, volunteers, sister provider agencies, county contract agencies, vendors and other supporters of our mission.

- LUW’s annual budget has grown by 81% from $6.2 million in 2005 to over $12 million in 2016.
- LUW became a property owner for the first time with the purchase and renovation of our Administrative Office building and later with the purchase and renovation of our Open Arms Men’s Shelter.
- We successfully rebranded the agency and our new name, new logo and new tag line are helping to increase awareness of our work throughout the county.
- LUW has firmly established itself as a leader in the homeless and housing services arena in Westchester and is changing the way shelter services are provided in the county.
- Our Supportive Housing program now serves over 283 individuals and LUW has become the major Housing for People With Aids (HOPWA) provider in Westchester County.
- Our home care division, Neighbors Home Care Services, has embraced the shift to Medicaid Managed Care, continues to thrive and grow, and is ready to manage the continuing changes health care reform has in store.
- Our Brighter Futures Youth Services programs have grown by 50% and we now work with 240 at-risk students, motivating them to stay in school and see college as part of their future.

We have positioned LUW to be ready to adjust to a rapidly changing non-profit and health care environment. Non-profit agencies are being increasingly challenged to collaborate and partner with each other to maximize resources, improve client outcomes and minimize redundancy. The Board and senior staff are well equipped to look for, and take advantage of these kinds of strategic opportunities so that we can continue to strengthen and grow our services in the future.

I feel very proud about the things we have accomplished together and confident in the state of the organization and the solid foundation upon which the new Executive Director can build.

Thank you for your support of Lifting Up Westchester and the individuals we are so proud to serve. With your help Lifting Up Westchester will remain a place, Where Hope Takes Flight, One Person at a Time!

Paul Anderson-Winchell
Executive Director
Through our housing and meal programs we reach out to men and women struggling with homelessness, hunger, substance abuse, HIV/AIDS, mental illness and/or domestic violence.

Guests at our shelters and soup kitchen receive more than the basic necessities of a meal and a bed. They also receive support and encouragement to engage in substance abuse and mental health recovery programs or employment services that can help them find their path to greater self-sufficiency. For many, that path includes receiving help with moving into an apartment of their own, budgeting, rental subsidies and ongoing case management support.

In 2016, more than 250 previously homeless men and women were placed into permanent housing. Another 280 individuals received assistance to ensure that their housing remained stabilized.

Lifting Up Westchester has been providing homeless services for over 40 years and is the county’s most experienced shelter provider. Our Open Arms Men’s Shelter and Samaritan House

Women’s Shelter currently house 25% of Westchester’s single homeless adult shelter residents.

LUW continues to be the only agency in White Plains to provide outreach services to the chronically homeless, bringing them off the streets into the safety of our shelters where they can receive an emergency bed, meals, clean clothing and counseling. In 2016 we provided assistance to more than 1,300 homeless individuals including 860 chronically homeless men and women.
Highlight & Accomplishments

Our Supportive Housing Program became the major Housing for People Living With AIDS (HOPWA) provider in Westchester County.

2,000 of our hungry neighbors received free nutritious meals at Grace's Kitchen. For some it was the only meal they had that day. Many were assisted in obtaining food stamps to reduce their dependence on the soup kitchen. No one was turned away.

As a result of our strong partnership with the White Plains Police Department, homeless individuals found sleeping in parking garages and other inappropriate locations were brought to Open Arms for assistance instead of being incarcerated as they would have been in most other cities.

More than 250 formerly homeless individuals are now in homes of their own as a result of services provided by our supportive housing, shelter and homeless outreach programs. Another 17 individuals have been reconnected with their families.
A college degree is one of the most important factors affecting upward income mobility and long-term success for homeless and low-income children. Unfortunately, only 34% of students from disadvantaged backgrounds enroll in college. Of those, only 11% graduate.

Lifting Up Westchester’s youth programs are working to change those statistics. Caring adults at our Brighter Futures Summer Camp and After-School Mentoring Program motivate at-risk students to stay in school, improve their grades, graduate from high school, and see college as part of their future. Our hope is that Brighter Futures participants will be the first in their families to go to college and the last to live in poverty.

At our Brighter Futures Summer Camp, children ages 5-13 participate in reading and STEM activities in addition to a wide range of recreational activities such as swimming, arts and crafts, sports and music. Special activities including a field day, carnival day and talent show round out the 4-week program.

During the school year, campers and counselors are encouraged to participate in the Brighter Futures After-School Mentoring Program. Young children participate in the KidzLit reading program while older students receive subject tutoring and homework help, and engage in a variety of college prep activities. Scholarships are available to help with college tuition and books.
The 33 homeless children ages 5-9 who participated in our KidzLit Program are now better prepared for long term academic success. Research shows that 89% of children living in poverty graduate from high school if they are proficient in reading by 3rd Grade.

Individualized study programs developed by our SAT Math tutor with the aid of the internet-based Khan Academy Math Review Program enabled SAT participants to use their prep time more efficiently to improve their test scores.

For the second consecutive year, 100% of our Brighter Futures high school seniors graduated on time. 41 of the 46 graduates are now at college; the remaining 5 have enrolled in vocational schools. All are on their way to lives without poverty.

At-risk youth were exposed to STEM topics and STEM careers with the help of funding from ConEdison. A new STEM program was initiated at our Brighter Futures Mentoring Program to provide science tutoring, guest speakers, field trips etc. At our camp, educators from the Westchester Children’s Museum conducted weekly STEM activities linked to popular children’s books.

92 homeless and low-income children received scholarships to attend four fun-filled weeks at our Brighter Futures Summer Camp. While there, many benefited from individualized programs designed to help them overcome behavioral and social problems.
Neighbors Home Care Services continued to expand its services in 2016 through the creation of two new programs—the Neighbors Escort Aide Program for the nuns at the Maryknoll Convent in Ossining, and the Neighbors Assisted Living Aide Program.

Our free Home Health Training Program was also expanded through a partnership with the city of White Plains which enabled us to offer classes at the new White Plains Education & Training Center. In addition to access to a modern, fully equipped classroom, the partnership helped us to obtain increased funding which in turn allowed us to increase the number of classes offered from three to five.

The entire home care industry was impacted by ongoing changes in State and Federal regulations. While many of these changes, which we support, will benefit our employees they have made operating a home care agency more challenging since none of the initiatives are funded by increased home care rates. LUW’s fiscal and home care leadership is exploring ways to improve the efficiency and cost effectiveness of our operations in order to cover increased costs without sacrificing our high quality standards.

Through our Rainbow Drop-In Program, developmentally disabled adults from economically disadvantaged families met weekly to participate in recreational activities designed to give them a sense of belonging and help them acquire social skills. An adjunct to this program, Rainbow Outreach, provided networking opportunities for parents of developmentally disabled children and helped them connect with available social services.
53 students graduated from our HHA classes and are now helping to fill the critical shortage of HHAs in Westchester. 70% accepted jobs at Neighbors.

Neighbors’ 180 aides and nurses helped almost 300 elderly individuals fulfill their desire to age in the comfort of their own homes. They also provided assistance to seniors in assisted living facilities and in hospices.

Developmentally disabled children and adults developed social skills and increased self-esteem by participating in recreational and therapeutic activities in our Rainbow Programs. Parents had an opportunity to network with other parents and learn about local resources.

Patients in hard to reach locations benefited from Neighbors’ unique employee shuttle van service.
Meet Our New Executive Director

On behalf of the Board of Directors, it is our sincere pleasure to announce that Anahaita N. Kotval has been selected as the new Executive Director of Lifting Up Westchester.

Anahaita is a life-long resident of Westchester County – she grew up in Hartsdale, her husband is from Dobbs Ferry, and they raised their children in Tarrytown. After graduating from Harvard Law School, Anahaita began her career as a prosecutor for the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission before establishing herself as an industry leader in securities regulation, ultimately as General Counsel for RBS. In 2011, she followed her heart back to the non-profit and public sector, taking the role of Chief Operating Officer and General Counsel at Inspirica Inc., a Stamford, CT based non-profit that focuses on breaking the cycle of homelessness. She is thrilled to be returning home to serve the Westchester community.

Anahaita has served on the board of My Sisters Place, The Pro Bono Partnership, the Westchester Community Foundation, the Fairfield County Community Foundation, the Women’s Bond Club of New York and the Legal and Compliance Division of the Securities Industry Financial Markets Association.

She will bring the vision and energy necessary to ensure Lifting Up Westchester remains a powerful force for good in increasingly uncertain times. She looks forward to collaborating with the rich and diverse set of leaders, organizations, and community members in Westchester.

Helen Hamlyn
Board President

Rev. Richard Kunz
Board Chairman
I believe that having a safe, stable, and affordable place to call home is the foundation on which all other economic and social advancement can be built. I was drawn to Lifting Up Westchester because its programs are centered around helping clients to achieve this housing stability and the self-sufficiency that follows.

With a little help from our friends

Volunteers are the backbone of our agency. We couldn’t continue our work without their assistance. Each year, more than 1400 individuals serve meals, donate goods, organize drives, hold fundraising activities, volunteer their time and show their generosity and kindness in countless other ways. We are extremely grateful to them for all they do.

Grace Church volunteers hosted a Labor Day picnic at Grace’s Kitchen. They also served meals on most other holidays.

Students from Pace University held a Harvest Festival for our Rainbow Program.

Helping Hands filled and donated hundreds of backpacks for our Brighter Futures Mentoring Program.

Cambria Suites staff ran food drives and served meals at Open Arms.

Souper Bowl Sunday organized by Stepinac High School students provided two bus loads of canned goods for our meal programs.
With a little help from our friends

4th Graders at Ridge Street School made Valentine cards and treat bags for our Brighter Futures Mentoring participants.

Students at H.C. Crittenden Middle School ran Gotta Have Sole Day to provide sneakers for our campers.

The Westpoint Basketball Team volunteered at Grace’s Kitchen.

On #GivingTuesday, volunteers from York International painted the halls at Samaritan House.

Employees from the Southern District of New York Probation Officers organized a field day for Brighter Futures campers.

Three generations donated Thanksgiving treats for Pie Day.

Hundreds of volunteers helped serve Christmas, Thanksgiving and New Year’s meals and prepare takeaway food bags.
Thank You!

Your donations are helping to create better lives for Westchester County’s men, women and children in need.

We mourn the loss of a dear friend and colleague

A man who was uncommonly good

On May 23rd while running with his dog Java as he did every evening, Charlie Bevier, our Director of Shelter and Homeless Outreach Services passed away suddenly. Charlie, who was the heart and soul of our homeless programs, was only 58.

Charlie first joined Lifting Up Westchester in 1989 and was one of the original staff members of our Open Arms Men’s Shelter. In 2011 he became the Director of Shelter and Homeless Outreach Services where he set a very high bar for his staff, never tolerating treatment of our shelter guests with anything but dignity and respect.

Charlie was a man of compassion, kindness and warmth who could both light up and calm down a room just by walking in. He was genuinely loved by all whose lives he touched… and he touched and saved thousands of lives during his 30 year career. He treated every individual who walked through the doors of Open Arms, Samaritan House and Grace’s Kitchen with kindness, patience and a sincere belief in their potential, working passionately to help them turn their lives around. Often he demonstrated his belief in the men and women he helped by offering them jobs in our shelters once their lives had stabilized.

In spite of the pain and recidivism he saw, he was never critical or discouraged. He believed in making people take responsibility for their lives and actions, but never condemned them or gave up on them. With Charlie you always had another chance to get it right.

He gave everyone he spoke to his undivided attention, not because it was his job, but because he was genuinely interested in what they had to say. He always tried to understand every person’s point of view even while challenging their behavior and trying to get them to move in a different direction.

It seemed that everyone in White Plains knew Charlie. He couldn’t walk down the street without being stopped multiple times by people greeting him or thanking him for saving their lives. And if they didn’t approach him, he would approach them, always asking how they were doing and remembering personal details about their lives… not about their problems but about their interests or their families.

Charlie was an avid runner. He began running competitively when he was 13 years old and his athletic ability secured him a full scholarship at Syracuse University where he was an All-American for four years. Post-college he was nationally ranked as one of the ten top runners in the U.S. and qualified for the Olympic trials in 1984, 1988 and 1992. His calm demeanor and personal strength seemed to be rejuvenated by his daily runs. In the end, Charlie passed away doing what he loved most.

Charlie influenced every aspect of Lifting Up Westchester as a dedicated employee, committed supervisor, loyal colleague, mentor and friend. Our grief over his loss knows no bounds.
