Dear Friends and Neighbors,

Once upon a time, I lived in Houston. My apartment was in the Galleria district which meant I had to travel 30 minutes east (9 miles) to get to my graduate classes at U of H. Late at night, there wasn't much traffic on the streets heading to home, so it was usually a relaxing drive where I could unwind and reflect on the events of my day. One evening, I was running late. My routine interrupted, I found myself hurrying along those streets and not paying very close attention to my driving. As I pulled up to a four-way intersection, I slowed as there was a car stopped directly in front of me. As if in slow motion, I observed as they pulled into what seemed to be a clear intersection, only to see them get t-boned by someone who had thought they didn't need to stop. After making sure no one was hurt and after the police had arrived on the scene, I continued on my way. All I could think was, "Thank God for the interruption. If I had been on time, just a few seconds earlier, that might have been me."

Our Bible Study groups this Lenten season will be reading and discussing a devotional called "Interruptions" which uses Scripture, story and prayer to examine the ways that interruptions can change our lives. "Life is full of interruptions. Some are life-changing (and) may cause us to wonder, 'Where is God?' Other interruptions are minor, but they can frustrate us or leave us feeling out of control." This study invites us to look again at the interruptions in our days with curiosity. Jacob Armstrong writes, "Today will hold interruptions. We can count on it. Let's ask God to give us eyes to see these interruptions as opportunities the way Jesus did. The diversion could be an opportunity to stop and be present with someone else. The unwelcome intrusion might be an opening to experience life rather than rush through it. The interruption may be a chance to hear from God."

As we travel through this season of Lent together, preparing for the death and Resurrection of Jesus our Christ, may we give up some of the illusion of control we have over our lives and embrace the "random" opportunities for connection with God and with one another that disguise themselves as interruptions.

With gratitude for you and this community,

Rev. Angela

P.S. If you would like to join our study, all are welcome. You can choose to join one group on Tuesday evenings at 6:30 or the other on Thursday afternoons at 1:00, beginning March 3 & 5.

Little things can  make a BIG difference

The Outreach and Mission Committees have teamed up with the United Methodist Economic Ministry to help them fulfill some dreams! With prom season fast approaching, there are many youths in our part of the state whose families cannot afford the dresses and accessories that many young men and women wish to have to make their prom memorable. In March, we will be collecting prom accessories (costume jewelry, bow ties, new makeup, etc.) to be delivered to UMEM in Salem. Thank you for your ministry!

LOCAL EVENTS & ANNOUNCEMENTS

AAH Newsletter March 2020

We are past midway in the winter. Happy longer days are here!

Elders and the Cold

Elders may have an extreme reaction to cool or cold temperatures. Lower temperatures can reduce body heat and constrict blood vessels, making them more susceptible to hypothermia. On very cold days, check on your elder neighbors to make sure they are staying warm. Call or visit. Your checking may be essential for them.

The other day an elder told me that after the snow came off her roof in a rush she was suddenly shut in and couldn't open her door. She was able to call for help from her son. But some may not be ABLE to call for help. Check on your elder friends and neighbors to see that they are safe. Thank you.

Living Alone after Living Together, our support group for Widows and Widowers will meet Tuesdays March 10 and March 24 at the Williams House from 10:30 to 11:30. Anyone is invited, no matter how long ago they were widowed.

Coffee and Conversation will be Mondays March 9 and March 23 from 10AM to 12 Noon at the Ladd Center. Everyone is invited for coffee and sweet bread/muffins, games and visiting.

Nancy Martin's Chair Yoga will be held March 3, March 17th and March 31st, 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. at the Ladd Center.

Our next luncheon, also for EVERYONE, is Wednesday March 11 at the Cary Library at 12 Noon. Come and catch up with your friends and neighbors while enjoying pizza, salad and homemade cookies.
