Why do we need an AT Providers Network?

Today, 2.5 billion people globally need to use at least one type of assistive technology. In low-income countries only 10% of people have the AT they need, in stark contrast to 90% of people in need in high-income countries who do.

Today, there is no a convening platform that brings together all domains of Assistive Technology. ATscale aims to build healthier markets for AT in low- and middle-income countries.

ATscale, the Global Partnership for Assistive Technology invites you to join the Assistive Technology Providers Network. A dynamic hub where private sector companies can connect and interact with each other, share ideas and resources, towards market shaping and market development in low-and-middle income countries.

We can’t do it alone. Let’s start the conversation.

About us

ATscale, the Global Partnership for Assistive Technology (AT), is a cross-sector global partnership with a mission to transform people’s lives through AT. It catalyzes action to ensure that, by 2030, an additional 500 million people in low- and middle-income countries get the life-changing AT they need.

Today, 2.5 billion people globally need to use at least one type of AT, such as wheelchairs, hearing aids, prostheses, eyeglasses or digital services. In low-income countries only 10% of people have the AT they need, in stark contrast to 90% of people in need in high-income countries who do.

ATscale works with governments, AT users, NGOs, bilateral donors, the private sector and multilateral organizations to increase awareness and political will, and support innovation and investment in AT markets, systems and services.
