YUBA

KUMIAGE YUBA (NO. 1)

The earliest harvested yuba - unctuous, rich and creamy with a smooth texture similar to burrata. So delicate it's notoriously difficult to harvest and can only be gathered with a scoop. Rich flavor & luscious texture for savory and sweet applications.

Food Service Case: 3 x 1 lb.
UPC: 850565007033
Shelf Life: 10 days

HIKIAGE YUBA (NO. 3)

These toothsome, milky sheets are prized for their alluring, sweet, mild flavor, and how they hold their shape. Because of the way it slides off your tongue, this yuba is often used as a sashimi of tofu.

Food Service Case: 3 x 1 lb.
UPC: 850565007057
Shelf Life: 10 days

SPICY YUBA NOODLES

A delectable meal of seasoned yuba strips. We first marinate Hodo Yuba, then sear to bring out its amazing natural flavors. Next, we hand cut the yuba into ribbons, like fresh pasta, and glaze them with our house-made sauces.

Food Service Case: 2 x 2.5 lbs.
UPC: 853404002275

TSUMAMI YUBA (NO. 2)

Sheer and smooth, this luscious ultra-tender yuba provides an ambrosia sensory experience first, followed by a buttery sweetness.

Food Service Case: 3 x 1 lb.
UPC: 850565007040
Shelf Life: 10 days

YUBA SHEETS (NO. 4)

Fully formed, mature soymilk skin. With the same creamy, nutty and sweet flavors of the other young yubas, it has a distinctive bite that is firm yet somewhat chewy. Favored for its pliable texture, and its extreme versatility in the kitchen. It can be crisped, or turned into gluten-free pastas. Or used as a papillote, a roulade base or thin ribbons in soups.

Food Service Case: 2 x 2.5 lbs.
UPC: 853404002350
Shelf Life: 21 days

What is yuba?

Yuba is the top-layer goodness that we hand skim after we warm our super creamy organic soy milk. Not to be confused with tofu, yuba is a protein marvel on its own - a versatile ingredient for soups, pastas, wraps, omelets, and more.
