Request to Use Material in a Publication

Permission to use material in a publication is granted by GLBTHS in accordance with copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code). GLBT Historical Society does not hold copyright to all of the materials in the collections. Further copyright clearance may be needed in order to use material in publications. For copyrighted material, users must obtain written permission from the copyright owner and from the GLBT Historical Society as the owners of the physical material to use material in a publication. Permission to use material from GLBT Historical Society does not constitute copyright clearance. The user assumes full responsibility for use of the material and agrees to hold harmless the GLBT Historical Society against all claims, demands, costs, and expense incurred by copyright infringement or any other legal or regulatory cause of action arising from the use of the archives materials. GLBT Historical Society reserves the right to refuse to accept a request to use material in a publication if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the request would involve violation of copyright law, GLBTHS policy, or donor agreements. The user is solely responsible for determining the copyright status of materials and obtaining permission to use material from the copyright holder.

Permission to use material in print media or presentations is granted for one-time use for one edition, one language. Permission for another edition or use must be made in writing.

Permission to use material in a film/documentary or television production is granted for all media, worldwide, for the life of the production. These rights are nonexclusive, and the GLBT Historical Society may grant them to others or use the same materials for our own purposes.

All material must be credited. The credit line should read:
