Crosswalk of NB Report Card SEL Skills and LCCA Themes, Values, and Practices
Giving Back

Encourage giving back by helping one another in every subject area & class at NBMS.

GIVING BACK MEANS:
- Helping people who have helped you be successful this year.

IN COURSEWORK,
- Reflect on ways that groups of people in history have helped others, or live in cultures that value communities supporting each other’s’ needs.
- Consider how giving to others could alleviate some of the issues seen in current events internationally.
- Look for examples of giving back in reading assignments and reflect on how it impacts a person’s relationships.
- Help classmates who are having difficulty with a challenging problem in school (or in life)!

To better serve the whole child, look at the whole report card.

Students are more than their academic grades—you know it and their parents know it. The progress they make in social-emotional learning and character development is essential to their success in school and in life. But while educators have made great strides in improving grading for academic achievement, we've left too many teachers still guessing when it comes to outdated behavior ratings and comment sections.

That's where this book comes in. Grounded in research and in the author's work with teachers and administrators, it offers guidance on retooling report cards to better reflect the whole child, integrating SEL and CD into any school- or district-wide grading system. Resources include

- Guided exercises for analyzing existing report cards
- Samples and suggested report card designs
- Tips on improving communication with parents
- Case studies highlighting common challenges
- Testimonials from teachers and students

"When you take report cards to the next level, you make sure that communication reflects all of the important characteristics of success—and ensure that students develop the skills they need for the future. This book brilliantly illuminates the key role played by social-emotional learning in each student’s development and it challenges the tradition of relegating the SEL/EQ observations to the back of the report card. If we want to develop better communities, this book shows the way."

Dr. Neil MacNeill PhD, EdD - Head Master
Ellenbrook Independent Primary School

"The ultimate goal of misbehavior is attention. When children don’t get the attention they need through the proper behavior, they will get it any way they can. Children want to be loved and cared about. SEL will help them to learn the proper ways to get attention. It will also help teachers better understand the misbehaviors and redirect students toward positive behavior."

Pamela L. Opel - Teacher, Intervention Specialist
Gulfport School District

Every professional working in schools should possess all the skills and attitudes needed to promote the social-emotional and character development of all children— all meaning all— in those schools, and should be prepared to make positive, constructive contributions to school climate and adult communities of learners in schools.

Every child needs competencies for success beyond the test score—skills for the tests of life, a life of college, career, contribution, and caring. How do we strengthen these competencies, basic skills, increase higher-order thinking, and warn about the dangers of substance abuse and violence, all while promoting appreciation and respect for diversity?

In response to these challenges, the Academy for Social-Emotional Learning in Schools is now offering its Certificate in Instruction for Social-Emotional Learning and Character Development (SECD). The certificate program prepares educational professionals to help prepare their students for college, career, and life success, and to prepare for the tests of life, as well as their required tests. In so doing, educators help their schools become more positive places for children to learn, adults to teach, and all to thrive.

Program Participants Include:
✓ Current or aspiring teachers,
✓ Counselors, school psychologists, social workers
✓ After-school program providers

Program Highlights
✓ Online, convenient, affordable program with focus on applicable skills
✓ Three courses: Foundations of SECD (101), Pedagogy and Practice (102) and an online Supervised Implementation Practicum (103)
✓ Can be completed in one academic year or calendar year
✓ Adds value to your qualifications as an education professional

“The real core of education is the relationship between the teacher and the student, and the extent to which that relationship nurtures the longing of the child to matter in the world… To the extent to which we strengthen SEL (social-emotional learning), we increase the likelihood that students will learn to the best of their ability.”

Tim Shriver (Chairman, International Special Olympics and CASEL) and Jennifer Buffett (Co-President, NoVo Foundation)

“Teaching the mind and encouraging the heart for success beyond the test score.”

This is a special certificate program for educators who have experience implementing social-emotional learning, character education, social skills, and related prevention and youth development program in schools or in after-school settings. The Academy for Social-Emotional Learning in Schools is now offering its Certificate in Instruction for Social-Emotional Learning and Character Development (SECD) in an accelerated format.

The certificate program updates participants on the latest in SECD theory, research, pedagogy, and practice, confers a credential that formally acknowledges your competencies, and connects you to a virtual Professional Learning Community for ongoing support and professional development.

Be a leader among educational professionals dedicated to helping prepare students for college, career, and community success, and for the tests of life, as well as their required tests.

Program Highlights
✓ Online, convenient program with focus on applicable skills
✓ Affordable tuition for a two-course program, including supervised practicum
✓ Designed specifically for teachers, counselors, school psychologists, social workers, and after-school program providers experienced in SECD

Courses Schedule
✓ SEL 201 – Foundations of SECD, Pedagogy, and Practice in SECD
✓ SEL 202 – Accelerated Practicum in Direct SECD Implementation
