

PAPER PLATE FANS

Lesson of the Day:

When it's hot outside, a fan can help you cool down. What about when you're angry? What helps you cool down then? Come up with ways to make yourself feel better when you're having a hard time. That way you won't stay angry or upset as long, and you won't say or do something you don't mean out of anger.

Materials:

- Paper plates
- Craft sticks
- Paint
- Paintbrushes
- Hot glue

Instructions:

1. Discuss the lesson of the day with your students. Talk about what it means to them.
2. Have students cut the paper plates in half and share them.
3. Have students paint the plates with multi-cultural designs. Dragons or flowers, or whatever animal is the animal of the year on the lunar calendar. They can even just paint a pattern.
4. Once the painted plates are dry, hot glue the plates to two craft sticks.
