Caux Scholars Program
Asia Plateau
Building global leaders as innovators of conflict transformation, trauma healing, restorative justice and peacebuilding
CAUX SCHOLARS PROGRAM - ASIA PLATEAU

This three-week course explores multidisciplinary, integrated methods in peacebuilding, human rights, sustainable development, conflict transformation, trauma healing and restorative justice. Through theory and experiential learning, scholars identify the mechanisms of violence, conflict and trauma and share innovative strategies of resilience and solidarity with one another from their personal and professional contexts. Scholars build practical skills in negotiation, introspection, critical compassion, interfaith and intercultural dialogue, policy, and nonviolent action.

Since 1991, the Caux Scholars Program in Switzerland and India have graduated over 600 alumni in 109 countries. Scholars are leading change through NGOs, academia, media agencies, the private sector, government, private philanthropic institutions, and intergovernmental organizations.

Academic Directors:

Led by renowned experts - Dr. Ashok Xavier, Dr. Florina Xavier and Dr. David Anderson Hooker - scholars receive an intensive study of lectures, simulations, group exercises, dialogue, debate, field visits, theatre seminars, art workshops, mindfulness meditations, healing circles, and course presentations.

CSP at Asia Plateau:

Created in 1967, Asia Plateau (AP) is an Initiatives of Change international conference center in Panchgani, India. A space for deep introspection, facilitation and dialogue, AP organizes trainings and course programs throughout the year for students, NGOs, community groups, universities, corporations, and the armed forces. The focus areas of Asia Plateau are trustbuilding, peacebuilding, ethical leadership and integrity, sustainable environmentalism and economic justice.

We’re looking for applicants with the following:

- A high level of academic achievement
- Leadership qualities and a commitment to public or community service
- Passion for the ethical dimensions of world relations
- An openness to a multicultural learning experience
- 2 letters of recommendation
- A 500 word essay detailing why you are applying to this program

Contact the Caux Scholars Program Director for more information:
JITKA HROMEK-VAITLA
cauxscholars@iofc.org

APPLICATION INFORMATION

Language of Instruction: English
Program Cost (tuition, meals & lodging): USD 1,000
Dates: December 20, 2019 - January 10, 2020
Class Size: 20 students
Application Fee: USD 15
Application Deadline: August 23, 2019

Apply here: us.iofc.org