Socio-Economic Lens on Israel: the OECD View

A Conversation with Ambassador Eli Lev, OECD Permanent Representative

Hosted by Eran Broshy, Chairman of AFOUI

A conversation on Israel’s socio-economic successes and challenges, short and long-term, through the lens of the OECD, the “exclusive club” of the world’s 37 richest nations

Tuesday, September 1 @ 3:00pm EST / 12:00pm PST

Ambassador Eli Lev is Israel’s Permanent Representative to the Paris-based OECD, representing the State of Israel to the world’s leading international economic organization focused on stimulating economic progress and world trade. The 37 OECD member countries collectively comprise over 60% of global GDP. A career diplomat who has worked across a wide range of Israel’s economic diplomatic issues, Lev previously was head of Israel-EU economic relations and director of policy planning at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Lev has also been posted in Istanbul, Brussels, New York and Paris.

Eran Broshy is actively involved with non-profit educational and Jewish organizations, serving as chairman of the American Friends of the Open University of Israel, a member of the Corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and on the board of governors of the American Jewish Committee. Broshy is also a strategically focused senior business executive, serving as chairman of multiple private-equity backed healthcare companies, and previously was CEO and chairman of inVentiv Health, a leading global pharmaceutical services company. Earlier in his career Broshy was a managing partner at Boston Consulting Group, the global strategy consulting firm.

The Open University of Israel is the largest university in Israel, educating over 48,000 students at its 70 campuses and online higher education learning platform. Among Israel’s most vital institutions, the Open University’s core values are based on academic excellence, an open admissions policy, social justice and the inclusion of all citizens of Israel. Since its inception (1976), the Open University has graduated tens of thousands of students, nearly one third of whom were scholarship recipients. Today, a large percentage of Open University alumni are productive contributing members of Israeli society. The tremendous positive impact of the Open University on Israeli society is immeasurable. Indeed, the Open University waves not only the largest academic justice and social justice flags in Israel but also the flag of the path to excellence.

American Friends of the Open University of Israel is a registered 501c3 organization that provides critical support to the Open University of Israel. For more information, visit our website www.afoui.org or contact us at info@afoui.org.
