Appendix ACODE OF CONDUCT FOR ZOOM PARTICIPATION (FOR LIVE ONLINE PROGRAMS)

The dance is a ceremonial and devotional invocation. A casual attitude is disrespectful to the dance and is strictly not permitted.

It is a privilege to be able to receive this teaching and wisdom in the convenience of one's home. At the same time, this privilege must be honoured with respectful and attentive participation as you would in an in-person studio setting.

Helpful tips to ensure you respect the invocation

- You must have a room or space where you can be private without being disturbed for the duration of the class.
- Please make this space ceremonial for each session by lighting a candle, having flowers or incense or any other simple things that are safe for you and make the space feel sacred.
- You must have enough light in your room for the tutor to see you and to be able to guide you.
- Please try to have at least five minutes of quiet time before the session and about an hour after the session for the dance consciousness to fully unfold.
- The framing of your camera must allow the tutor to see most of your body, ideally including your feet, or at least until your knees.

This small attention to detail makes all the difference to the quality of your attention for the invocation.

What will not be accommodated

- Joining the sessions from vehicles or public spaces
- Having children, partners, or other people in the room or people walking around the room where you are dancing
- Writing notes, journaling, typing on the computer, recording the session or any similar behaviours
- Answering phones, checking emails and social media, walking in and out of the session
- Walking around with your device during the class
- Turning off video in the middle of the class (unless there is a technical problem, in which case please let the tutor know via your audio)

We reserve the right to remove people from the session should any of the above circumstances arise. If they are persistent, you will be removed from the course and the balance of payment refunded to you.

Video etiquette

- You are required to use a desktop or a laptop computer or tablet with at least 14-15 inch screen. Attending the session on a phone is not permitted as a regular practice as it is impossible for the tutor to see you clearly and to guide you effectively.
- Participant audios are unmuted at the beginning and whenever there are feedback sessions. Otherwise please have the audio on mute.
- The tutor's image may be "pinned" for the session. You can do this by clicking on the 3 dots at the upper right hand of her image on your screen.
- To make the virtual session safe and transparent, all participants are required to have their videos turned on for the duration of the sessions. Non-video participants will be removed from the meeting.
 - Videos must be turned on at the beginning of the scheduled class time.
 - Please do not start the video if you are not ready to start the class—that is, the session is not to be started in a car or on your way to the class.
 - Participants can see each other on the screen, so please be aware of this when you are in class and when you choose a space.
 - Please avoid the use of Zoom backgrounds as they distort your movement for the tutor.

Attendance

- The session will open 10 minutes before the start time. You must be on time to not miss introductory information and preparation that will help you be safe and informed during that session.
- You must stay for full session as it is safer for you to close with cool down and reflection time.
- Regular latecoming and dropping out mid-sessions will not be accommodated.
- In the event an emergency arises in your home that you need to attend to, please let the tutor know and leave the remainder of class for that day.

General

- Please note you are participating in these sessions at your own risk.
- Please note that the classes, dance, practice notes and videos provided are not meant to be therapeutic, spiritual, or health-related advice. You must exercise your own discretion regarding how you receive and use this information for your personal purposes only.
- Please avoid activities if you have or suspect you may have any current physical or mental health concerns.
- Please avoid the use of blades, weapons, or sharp instruments of any description.
- Please ensure you have a suitable, non-slip floor and that any potential obstructions in the vicinity are removed before you participate. We will modify the class to accommodate the fact that you will not be dancing on a sprung floor—so please avoid strong stamping, etc. However, you need to decide if the floor situation is suitable for your body and seek professional advice if you have pre-existing injuries that may be affected.
- Participants are not allowed to record the classes in any format.

What to wear

As each session is approached as a ceremonial invocation, you may wish to wear something that supports this approach. In general, clothes must permit free and comfortable movement. We do not use footwear when we dance.
