MISSION

Our community-centred approach and our commitment to reflecting the world around us deepen the sense of belonging for our communities.

VISION

As the heart of our community, our dynamic energy is the spark for curiosity, compassion and connection.

VALUES

- Working with our communities, we steward and share stories.
- We believe trust is at the foundation of strong, positive relationships, with each other and with our communities.
- We work in service of our communities, listening and being accountable for our actions.
- We approach our work with courage, embracing innovation and adaptability.
- We continually work toward sustainability and holistically consider our practices from cultural, health, financial, environmental and social perspectives.

COMMUNITY IMPACT STATEMENTS

- Redefining Museum: Meaning is created from challenging our traditional ways of working.
- Reconciliation: Actively standing in reconciliation, truth is heard and acknowledged, and respectful and healthy relationships are nurtured.
- Gathering Place: A beautiful, safe and comfortable space where everyone feels welcome.
- Platform for Inclusion: Diverse voices are elevated.
MESSAGE FROM THE BOARD CHAIR

It was an honour and pleasure to serve as Board Chair for Galt Museum & Archives and Fort Whoop-Up in 2023, and to build on the great work that the Board of Directors had undertaken before I joined. The past year marked a period of continued change, renewal, and regrowth for the museum, as we continued to navigate the arts and culture landscape in Southern Alberta post-COVID. I take great pride in observing the numerous accomplishments made by the staff at the Galt and the fort this year, and the substantial progress achieved on various crucial priorities for the institution.

In 2023, at the Board level, we diligently advanced key initiatives such as updating and formalizing policies and processes, continued to advocate for the role of the Board in governing the museum, engaging in active recruitment for new Board members and attending events and exhibition openings. One of the Board’s major initiatives this year was the organization of the Community Connections event in late November. The event was an opportunity for the community to (re)connect with the Galt, learn about goings on at the museum over the past few years post-pandemic, enjoy some refreshments and play a fun historical engagement activity. We hope this becomes an annual event that continues to see the doors of the Galt flung open for new and returning supporters of the institution. In addition, the Board provided steadfast support to the CEO/Executive Director, Darrin Martens, as he continued to lead the organization forward with his team, growing memberships, public and school programming, and advancing timely and critical exhibitions.

As a key cultural institution in Lethbridge and the Southern Alberta region, the Galt persevered through the lingering challenges posed by the pandemic but did so by continuing to forge strong relationships with the varied communities and publics that make up our wonderful city and region. The museum experienced positive growth in visitor numbers, both for the museum and the fort visitation, as well as an increase in memberships. Additionally, the Galt welcomed more K-12 students in 2023, as well as increasing the number of community programs on offer, all encouraging indications of regrowth at the museum.

As the outgoing Board Chair, my sincere hope is that I am leaving the Board and organization in a stronger position than when I first assumed the role. As I reflect on the efforts undertaken during my tenure as Chair, I have unwavering confidence that the Board and the museum are in a better place and will only continue to grow and develop. In one of my final responsibilities as Chair, I wish to express sincere gratitude on behalf of the Board of Directors to the skilled and indispensable staff, members, volunteers, donors, and sponsors who contribute to the ongoing success of the museum. It has been an immense pleasure to be associated with such a passionate group dedicated to redefining the museum, advancing reconciliation, and creating a gathering place where a diversity of communities are welcome.

Devon Smither, Board Chair
MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

“The Only Constant in Life Is Change.” - Heraclitus.

Oki. Welcome to 2024! This year is full of immense potential and opportunities for the Galt Museum & Archives and Fort Whoop-Up. Before we delve into the future, let’s take a moment to reflect on 2023, which was an exceptional year for our organization marked by tremendous achievements, growth, and transformation.

In this report, our team members have shared texts and images that showcase the remarkable innovation, risk-taking, reflection, and experimentation that took place last year. At the core of our enterprise remains our unwavering commitment to our strategic plan and community impact statements. Our priorities include redefining the museum, promoting reconciliation, creating a gathering place, and establishing a platform for inclusion. These four pillars are responsible for the ongoing evolution of the Museum and Fort and how we work with the community to better serve our ever-changing constituency.

Our visitorship is growing, our engagements with tourists and program participants are deepening, our education programs are connecting with a greater number of classrooms, and our exhibition program are expanding to reach new audiences. I am incredibly proud of our team and what they have accomplished during my brief tenure at the Galt. They are an inspiration to me, epitomizing quality community service and dedication to their respective craft.

They are all innovators and true professionals, always questioning, always changing, and always receptive to developing new solutions to complex problems.

Leading this team out of the COVID-19 pandemic and charting a new course is one of the greatest achievements of my 30+ year career in this industry. Setting a course for our organization to flourish in a new, different world was challenging. Wrestling with the unknown and projecting a vision for a community-centred organization takes courage. I am confident that we can achieve our goals. The Board of Directors’ unequivocal support of me, my leadership, and the programs and services provided by team members has been a true gift. I could not ask for a better way to end my career as CEO/Executive Director of the Galt Museum & Archives and Fort Whoop-Up – a remarkable institution with gifted team members and an exceptionally bright future.

As we secure a new leader for our organization, I am confident that the wheels of change will continue to roll on. While there may be challenges and setbacks along the way, the resiliency of our team members and their dedication to excellence will continue under the watchful eyes of our committed Board of Directors.

Thank you all for the opportunity to serve this institution and community over the past four years. I am confident that the Galt and Fort will continue to achieve great things in the years to come.

BUFFALO HARVEST

Harvesting a Buffalo is something that is very sacred and significant and has always been a community event because it takes a lot of planning and organizing. We are grateful to the Elders, Knowledge Keepers, and community members who assisted us with a successful Buffalo harvest in July of 2023. It was important to us that proper ceremonial protocol was followed and that every part of the Buffalo was used. Harvesting a Buffalo is an empowering event because it not only provides food security to those involved, but it also provides spiritual and ceremonial security as well.

The meat, organs and bones were shared in the Kainai community and distributed in camp during Ako’kaatsin. Blackfoot heritage is a lived experience, it is the songs, language, and ceremonies; Blackfoot heritage is living. In order to protect, and preserve, that heritage we must practice it. Harvesting a Buffalo is one way to protect and preserve that heritage.

The Buffalo harvest that took place in July unknowingly started us off on the path of Buffalo consciousness. Shortly thereafter, we were introduced to the International Buffalo Relations Institute (IBRI), an entity whose sole purpose is introducing and implementing the Buffalo Treaty. The Galt Museum and Archives has been working with members of IBRI to create an exhibit for Spring 2024 titled, Buffalo Treaty: Keystone to Wellness. In working with the IBRI team it became apparent that the Museum is already undertaking initiatives which align with and support articles of the Buffalo Treaty. With this realization, the Galt Museum has been working diligently to incorporate articles of the Treaty into the museum’s strategic planning goals.

Strength is required for the Buffalo harvest.
INDIVIDUAL BLACKFOOT NAMES

In 2023, one of the Galt team members was gifted with Blackfoot name from Niitsitapi Elders. This followed a similar honour in 2022 for other team members. Each name is unique. The names come from the heart of the Elders and signify the spirit of the individual.

CURATORIAL

THE CURATORIAL TEAM

➢ Is responsible for researching, exhibiting, and preserving the museum’s collection of materials and information.
➢ They centre traditional and modern Indigenous and Métis knowledge, stories, experiences, and voices as they bring the diverse stories of southwestern Alberta to life through inclusive exhibitions and programs.
➢ They build respectful relationships with people and groups across our region to gather, conserve, and reflect a broad range of stories, objects, and perspectives.

PROJECTS OF NOTE

➢ Updates in Discovery Hall included the installation of the large-scale artwork Sikoohkotok by Marjie Crop Eared Wolf, to better acknowledge Blackfoot Territory within the gallery space.
➢ The redeveloped Niitsitapii Gallery at Fort Whoop-Up opened in May for school visits, seeing a total of 2422 visitors with the public grand opening on June 21 (National Indigenous Peoples Day).
➢ Fort Whoop-Up hosted -tzintlan “the world’s first postcolonial theme park,” by artist Dr. Migueltztina Solis, which also featured artworks by 10 students from the University of Lethbridge LandMarks course.
➢ The first phase of the Battle of the Belly River project was completed, with a two-day group engagement of Elders in conversation at Fort Whoop-Up.
➢ The curatorial team hosted three Museums Studies interns in 2023, all of whom were involved in planning and development for both temporary and permanent exhibit projects.
➢ The museum hosted its first buffalo harvest in August, which has led to an ongoing partnership with the International Buffalo Relations Institute.

COLLECTIONS

THE COLLECTIONS TEAM

- Is responsible for receiving, processing, researching, and sustainably caring for donations of material culture and the crucial perspectives, stories, and communities those objects represent.
- Their community-centred approach deepens the feeling of connection within our communities by making donors the official voices of the objects in the collection.
- They work with diverse groups and communities to solicit objects that tell important stories about the ongoing history of the people in our region.

PROJECTS OF NOTE

- For a second year running, the Galt’s Collections partnered with the University of Lethbridge’s Museum Studies program in 2023 to offer a Person of Colour (POC) internship position. Intern, Dinah Gaston was selected to undertake this internship in the Fall of 2023.
- The ICOM-affiliated ‘Best in Heritage’ conference honored 27 award-winning cultural sites, including the Galt, as “Projects of Influence”; Collections Technician Kevin MacLean served as a competition jury member, interviewing representatives from seven sites ranging from Egypt and China to Glasgow and Portugal, and offering valuable support in selecting top programs.
- The Galt’s Collections Management policy was substantially revised to address harmful colonial practices and systemic racism; special recognition is given to Museum Curator, Camina Weasel Moccasin, and former Galt Collections Assistant, Kirstan Schamuhn, for their dedicated work in policy generation.
- The Galt’s Collections management staff actively engaged with the Blackfoot community, hosting Kainai Elder Niina Piiksii’s class, participating in cultural ceremonies like Ako-katssinn and Iniskim Harvest Ceremony, and attending events to strengthen relationships.
- In 2023, annual projects like the re-housing, deaccession, and cataloguing initiatives did not secure grant support or funding, leading to a decline in accomplishments compared to prior years.
