ARTICLE 9

Consultations and Dispute Settlement

1. If one or more Parties considers a measure taken by one or more Parties to be inconsistent with this Agreement, that Complaining Party or Parties (the Complainant) may request in writing consultations with the other Party or Parties (the Respondent). The Parties to the dispute shall, within 20 days of receipt of the request, consult with each other with a view to resolving the issue.
2. If the issue has not been resolved through consultations within 45 days of receipt of the request for consultations, and imports have been prohibited or restricted, any of the Parties to the dispute may request, in writing, to the other Party to the dispute and the Chairman of the Council that a Committee of Experts be established to consider the issue in accordance with procedures set out in the Annex. Any conclusions adopted by the Committee shall be by consensus.
3. After the request for a Committee of Experts has been made and the Committee formed to hear the dispute, the Complainant shall submit its views in writing (the complaint) to the Chairman of the Council and the Respondent. Within 30 days of receiving the complaint, the Respondent shall forward its reply to the Chairman of the Council and the Complainant, together with its supporting evidence and documentation.
4. The Committee of Experts shall forward its conclusions to the Parties to the dispute within 60 days of the date on which the Committee of Experts received the Respondent's submission provided for in paragraph 3 of this Article or the expiration of the period in which such submission is to be made in accordance with paragraph 3 of this Article.
5. Where the Committee of Experts finds that the Respondent has breached this Agreement, the Committee shall provide in its decision a reasonable period of time for the Respondent to rectify its breach. The period established shall be the shortest reasonable time period feasible. If the Parties to the dispute have not agreed by the expiry of that period that the breach has been rectified, the Complainant may set forth in writing, to the presiding expert and the Respondent evidence of non-compliance and request the Committee to decide whether the breach has been rectified. The Respondent shall have 21 days from the date of receipt of the Complainant's request to the presiding expert to respond to the Complainant's allegations. The Committee shall issue its decision within 15 days after the expiration of the deadline for the Respondent's response.
6. If the Committee finds that the Respondent has failed to rectify such breach within the designated period of time, the Complainant may suspend its obligations in relation to the Respondent under paragraphs 1 to 4 of Article 5 of this Agreement.
7. The Parties to the dispute may agree for purposes of a specific dispute under this Article to follow different procedures than those set out in this Article for the purpose of expediting, enhancing, or facilitating the resolution of the specific dispute.
8. Paragraphs 2 to 6 of this Article shall not apply to matters arising under Article 3(2) of this Agreement or to any matters under this Agreement that also raise issues of WTO consistency. Nothing in this Article shall be interpreted as implying any change in the rights and obligations of a Party under the WTO Agreement, including the dispute settlement provisions of that Agreement.
